Army Planes By Hundreds Gather For Aerial Drive

Largest Aerial Force Ever Gathered Awaits Signal To Begin Maneuvers

PLANES LAND AT DAYTON AIRPORT

By Nightfall 672 Planes From All Parts Of Country Will Join Armada

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

AIR DEPOT, FAIRFIELD, O., May 15.—Uncle Sam mobilized his armies of the skies here today for Spring maneuvers which will call in virtually every airplane at his command.

Into a city of tents, temporary quarters and rolling acres of staked planes, machines winged their way from every quarter.

The place took on the air of a giant wartime training camp, with its bustle and excitement. Wartime operation regulations were rigidly maintained as Fairfield Depot and Wright Field staffs made ready to house, feed and care for 672 planes and their accompanying personnel.

Early, incoming "ships" filled the sky, and all day long the drone of high speed motors told of the assemblage of the largest aerial force ever gathered.

Planes Are Gassed

On the ground, a red line of nearly a hundred motored gasoline tanks moved snakelike through the formations gassing airplanes for the maneuvers that will start when the big formation takes off for Chicago Tuesday morning.

About 200 planes were here and before nightfall nearly everyone of the 672 machines will be on the ground, either here or at Wright Field just over the hill.

Commanding officers completed the tremendous task of assigning all ships their place in a complicated scheme of ground formation late today, and when the new arrivals check in they will each be assigned a little fifty-foot square plot. No hangar space is available for planes.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Harry Carter, Jr., of R. D. 6, reports the record dandelion it appears. He told Pa Newc that he found a stem in the field nearby his home that carried eight full-sized dandelions. Another he found had three.

And—by the way—the straw hats! It's 'official' to wear them beginning today.

Rounding off the Croton avenue corner at East Washington was certainly a benefit. The pedestrians at that place will just have to be a little bit more on the alert, Pa Newc thinks.

Local golfers who were at the municipal links yeterday, found the grass had grown pretty high during the rainy spell of the early part of the week. Playing was not permitted on the greens on the first nine holes, but the caretakers of the links are working hard to get the entire course in shape for play today.

The grading and paving of Laurel Boulevard has been a big benefit to residents along Park avenue, whose lots are being filled with the dirt hauled away from the street.

Pilot Saves Passengers, Landing Plane Safely Despite Broken Wheel

(International News Service)

BETTIS FIELD AIRPORT, McKEESPORT, Pa., May 15.—Three girl passengers in a Pittsburgh-Buffalo airline narrowly escaped injury today when the plane, with its landing gear disabled, made a successful landing here after an hour of circling over the airport.

Shortly after the airplane took off, observers at the airport spotted the broken wheel and immediately took steps to warn the pilot, Charles Weyblan, of the impending danger. A plane sped up with the warning message written on its side.

Preparations were made in case a crash occurred as the plane was brought to land. Doctors and ambulances were on hand, while 200 persons, awaiting the arrival of the army air squadron, witnessed the skilful landing.

Pilot Weyblan, as soon as the danger signal was given him by the second plane, began circling the field until everything was in readiness for the hazardous landing. He finally brought the plane down safely on the runway of the ariport.

The girl passengers, all Pittsburghers were Miss Faith Smith, Miss Verne Phillips, and Miss Elizabeth Wilson.

The landing such as Weyblan made has been seldom equalled, easing his plane down to earth at a speed of 40 miles an hour, Pilot Weyblan mallowed it to settle on its unharmed left wheel. As it taxied to a stop the plane eased over upon its right wheel and was swung into a ground loop, coming to rest on a wing tip.

Pinchot Arrives In District For Speeches Today

Governor Pinchot Continuing Campaign For Fair Rate Bills

SPOKE IN BUTLER AT NOON TODAY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—Governor Gifford Pinchot was enroute to Butler today for a speech at noon, leaving in his wake a backwash of comment and conjecture concerning selection of a new Public Service Commissioner to replace the recently resigned James S. Benn.

Local political dopesters were inclined to the view that Former Mayor William A. Magee, of Pittsburgh, a former member of the commission, or Harold M. Evans, who directed the House Utilities probe, probably would get the call. All such guesses, however, were conceded to be nothing more than conjecture.

Confers With Magee

The Magee possibility was heightened when it was learned that Governor Pinchot's first conference on reaching here yesterday was with the former commissioner, one of the best posted men in Pennsylvania on public utilities in general and utilities in general and utilities dealing with transportation in particular.

In other quarters, however, it was pointed out that Magee's support of the candidacy of Francis Shunk Brown for the governorship in the 1930 primaries probably would mitigate against his selection.

Before swinging into Northwest Pennsylvania on his Anti-Public Service Commission stumping tour, Governor Pinchot delivered two

Local Man Learns Of Cousin's Death In Nicaragua Quake

James Dickey, Cousin Of J. H. Throop, Among Earthquake Victims

While attending the funeral service of a relative at Sandy Lake on Thursday, J. H. Throop of this city was informed of the death of James Dickey, a cousin, who had been killed in the recent earthquake at Managua, Nicaragua. Mr. Dickey was a sergeant in the U. S. Marine Corps and had gone to Nicaraugua only last winter.

According to the details received by Mr. Throop, Sgt. Dickey, in company with four other Marines had stepped into the jail to escape the intense heat, and had no more than entered the building when the quake began. The whole structure toppled down upon them, killing them instantly. There were 600 prisoners in the jail, most of whom also met death.

Sgt. Dickey had been in the Marine Corps since around 1890, and had but a few more months to serve, before he would have been retired. He was a native of Hartstown, Crawford county, but had been making his home at Vallejo, Calif., where he had been stationed. He left a wife and several children.

Canton Citizens Demand Action

Political Battle Raging Between Police Force And City Administration

VICE WARFARE CAUSES TROUBLE

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., May 15.—Canton's recently instituted war against vice today gave way to a tangling political battle between the police department and the city administration when five citizen petitioners demanded from Mayor Herman R. Witter that he immediately dismiss Safety Director George F. Schoner and suspend Police Captain Ira Manderbaugh.

The petition informed the mayor that unless the demands were granted, action would be sought through the State Prohibition Director and through the offices of Gov. George White or the common pleas court.

The mayor replied with a verbal broadside in which he declared that he had procured affidavits from two of the local signers of the petition, repudiating their action and asking that their names be erased from the document because the contents of the petition were not fully revealed to them when they signed.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Earl W. Hexamer, suspended by the mayor for 30 days without pay because of his alleged failure to suppress vice properly, gave out a statement in which he disputed assertions that the vice squads now engaged in "cleaning up" the city were "handpicked" by the mayor. Hexamer said he selected the men himself and organized the squads but was prevented from carrying out his intended crusade by the hasty action of the mayor.

Demonstration In New York Halted

Woman Innocent Bystander Cut On Head By Stick Wielded By Officer

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Police, wielding night sticks and fists on Communists and innocent bystanders alike, today broke up a demonstration at the Battery.

Hundreds of women and girl workers, leaving their offices during the noon-hour, were caught as a flying wedge of reserves dived into the crowd. Several women were knocked down during the scrimmage and one woman's head was cut by a policeman's club.

YOUNG MEN ARE ORDERED TO LEAVE

George Andrews and John Barasda of Duquesne, Pa., held here on suspicion charges, were ordered to leave the city this morning by Mayor William H. Gillespie and were taken out of the city in the police car and started on their way. The investigation made here failed to implicate them in any depredations here but word from their home town indicated that they might have been mixed up in shady affairs there.

PRINCIPALS IN MAY QUEEN FIGHT

Akron (O.) university students will be a long time in forgetting the 1931 election for May Queen which has resulted in the indefinite suspension of Ray Bliss, above, campus "politician," and the penalizing of Ellen Palmer, left, May Queen candidate and a senior, and Agnes McGowan, right, a sophomore. Faculty action was taken because of alleged "ballot stuffing." Bliss attempted to shoulder all the blame for the affair, although he declared his action was no confession of wrongdoing. Both girls will be requested to do eight hours extra work before they are graduated.

Rose Avenue School And Lincoln-Garfield Win Singing Contest

Ben Franklin High Auditorium Packed For Songfest Last Night

Four Hundred School Children Compete—Awards Are Announced

Now and then some department of the public schools presents a piece of work that stands out in bold relief against the skyline of every day routine. It may be in athletics, or it may be in language. Last night it was music, and if you were one of the fortunate ones who managed to get a seat in the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, you probably are agreed that it was such a piece of work as convinces schoolman and layman alike of its quality.

A Song Singing Contest it was billed, but the idea is an old one. Centuries ago in the Grampain hills of old Wales, the ancient Druids held such contests, but they called them eisteddfods. Call them what you will and the answer still is that the Song Singing Contest of the New Castle Public Schools of Thursday evening was a sparkling thing, interesting, entertaining, and a revelation as to what is being done in the local schools by the music supervisor, Miss Gladys Rich.

Two Divisions

There were two divisions in the contest, that of the primary choruses, and that of the intermediate choruses. First, second and third grades competed in the primary division, with the fourth, fifth and sixth grades competing in the intermediate division.

The schools selected their own numbers from a list of acceptable numbers, with Prof. Alan B. Davis, of Westminster College, Prof. Robert B. Duff of Union Township and David Rees of Sharon as the adjudicators. The primary youngsters sang three numbers each and the intermediates sang two each. In addition, the Boys Glee Club of George Washington Junior High and the combined junior High School chorus sang special numbers, the first chorus unde rthe direction of Miss Elizabeth Owens and the second under the direction of Miss Rich.

Winners Named

Detroit Gunman Surrenders Self

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 15.—A desire to avenge a hi-jacking before his death from an incurable disease he was suffering today had put Paul Muller, 50, under arrest charged with killing Louis Kovascis, 35.

Kovascis, Muller told police, mulcted him out of $24,000 when they were partners in a speakeasy here two years ago and that he had planned to get him for it.

"I haven't long to live because of ulcers in my stomach and I decided to get Kovascis before I died," Muller told assistant prosecutor Stephen J. J. Carey in his confession." Last night I took a couple of drinks and drove to Kovascis' saloon."

Muller called his ex-partner from the blind pig and fired three bullets into him. A half-hour later he walked into Dearborn police station and surrendered. He readily admitted the killing and told Carey he had planned it, even to the surrendering afterward.

ADDRESS OF POPE PIUS BROADCAST IN NATION

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The voice of Pope Pius XI, addressing thousands of labor pilgrims gathered in Vatican City to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the famous labor encyclical of Pope Leo XIII, was received in this country today and re-broadcast over the National networks.

His Holiness spoke in three languages, French, German and Italian in greeting the labor pilgrims.

He spoke from a throne, established in St. Damasus court yard, in Vatican City and his address was directed into a gold microphone. He started to speak at 12:29 p. m. (EDT).

Thousands Honor Slain Trooper In Chambersburg, Pa.

Impressive Military Funeral Scheduled Today For Late Tim McCarthy

DEMENTED SLAYER HEAVILY GUARDED

(International News Service)

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 15.—Tim McCarthy, Irish adventurer who ranged the world, fought in two armies, and came through a world war unscathed only to meet death in the uniform of a Pennsylvania State Trooper last Tuesday in the mountains of southern Pennsylvania, will be buried here this afternoon.

With full military honors, the body of the State Police Sergeant, cut down by a bullet from the gun of Marshall Lodge, mad mountaineer whom McCarthy and other state troopers sought to arrest near McConnellsburg, will be laid to rest in Lincoln Lawn cemetery here.

On a draped gun caisson, escorted by state troopers, a troop of cavalry, fellow members of the American Legion post here, and Harrisburg city policemen, the body will be carried through the streets in a public funeral procession after services at the American Legion Post headquarters. At the grave, a farewell volley will be fired by the slain sergeant's fellow troopers.

Thousands Pay Tribute.

The body lay in state in the American Legion Post here last evening, while nearly 2,000 person paid their respects to the trooper. Only one relative, Robert Ferris, of Brighton, Mass., an uncle of McCarthy, was here for the funeral.

Lodge, who was captured by state police after a gun battle in which his arm was shattered, remained in Chambersburg hospital here under guard. The shattered right arm was amputated shortly after he was brought here. Physicians today reported his condition improved. Murder charges will be placed against Lodge in Fulton county within the next day or two, state police indicated.

Constable Shot Probing Matters At Big Roadhouse

Roadhouse Owner Fires Bullet At Constable And Deputy —No Arrests Made

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., May 15.—Frank De Coma, a constable from Monongahela, Pa., was shot in the forehead today when he said he and a deputy attempted to conduct an investigation at the Green Lantern roadhouse, near here.

The bullet grazed the constable's head inflicting only a slight injury. De Coma said he and Graham Ward, a son of justice of the peace Thomas ward, of Monongahela, went to the roadhouse to investigate conidtions there. They did not have a warrant, he said.

Charles Clegg, proprietor of the roadhouse, said he fired at the two men after the constable and Ward, deputized by De Coma, had attempted to attack him at his filling station operated in connection with the roadhouse.

None of the three men was under arrest today. Police said.

Class Hatred Is Condemned By Pope Pius

Socialism And Communism Are Both Scored In Encyclical

POPE ALSO SPEAKS OVER RADIO HOOK-UP

All Phases Of Capital And Labor Relations Are Reviewed

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VATICAN CITY, May 15.—A vigorous condemnation of all class hatred or friction as embodied in Communism, and likewise of the concentration of wealth and economic power in the hands of a few, as exampled by present capitalism, was contained in a new encyclical on the relations of labor and capital issued today by Pope Pius XI.

The Encyclical, of which only the resume was released for publication, was issued shortly before the Holy Father was scheduled to speak over a world-wide radio hook-up on the same subject. The full text of the Encyclical will be issued in a few days.

Reviews Conditions

In it Pope Pius, after paying glowing tribute to the famous Encyclical "Rerum Novarum" issued by Pope Leo XIII, 40 years ago, which his holiness characterized as the "Magna Charta of all Catholic activities in the social sphere" reviewed all phases of relations between capital and labor 'forty years after."

This was, in fact, the title of the Encyclical: 'Quad Dragesimo Anno 1931."

Pope Pius discerned the growth of undesirable, if not dangerous trends of thought and practices in the ranks of both labor and capital and called for a 'reconstruction of the whole economic system of the world." He declared it is necessary

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 15.—Today ought to be a day of consolation to folks that have made bad investments.

Here George F. Baker who was supposed to have not less than a half billion, winds up with one-eighth of that. And he was supposed to be the smartest financial man we had. The thing busted right in his face, so what chance did anybody else have.

I tell you, and I believe it as strong as I ever believed anything in my life, Calvin Coolidge was the only man in America that saw this whole thing coming, and got from under. He just says to himself:

"Folks have bought everything in the world, for a dollar down, under me, now let 'em pay for 'em under Herbert. I will see you again when things pick up, so long."

Name me another man in America that saw it coming unless it was Al Capone. I hate to class a fine, upstanding citizen like Mr. Coolidge with Capone, but facts is facts, and Cal and Al are the only two out of 120 millions.

Yours,

Will Rogers.

Theatre World Mourns Belasco

Grand Old Man Of American Stage Dies Of Heart Illness In New York City

FUNERAL SERVICES PLANNED SUNDAY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Broadway paused today to bow in tribute to David Belasco, one of the great figures of the American stage.

He died yesterday afternoon in his hotel apartment of a clot in one of the arteries near the heart.

He had planned to celebrate his seventy-seven birthday in July by producing another play.

Weakened by a protracted illness through the winter, Belasco died a power to the end, which came while a large matinee audience was enjoying a performance of his latest play. The play was presented again last night, while tributes from the leading producers, actors and critics marked his passing.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday at the Central Synagogue. Rabbi Jonah B. Wise will officiate and Edwin Milton Royle, playwright, will deliver the eulogy.

His body will be placed in the Belasco mausoleum at Linden Hills cemetery, Brooklyn, besides the body of his wife, who died in 1926 and his daughter, Mrs. William Elliott, who died in 1911.

Smith Finishes Play In Tourney

Horton Smith, American Golfer Shoots 290 For 72 Holes

(International News Service)

SOUTHPORT, Eng., May 15—Horton Smith, American star in the Dunlop Southport professional golf tournament here today shot a 72 in the final round for a total of 290.

Henry Cotton, British star, who shot a brilliant 63 in the semi-final round, for a total of 215, was still out when Smith finished. Cotton took 36 strokes to the turn and was assured of a win if he shot under 75 for the round.

Joe Kirkwood, third of the American quartet in the tournament, would have to shoot a 69 or lower in the final round to win. He shot a 79 in the semi-final for a total of 231.

When the winds are howling wildly and the frost is on the pump, and the temperature is down where you are kept upon the jump feeding coal into the furnace, warming dining room and hall, seems as though the pile of ashes doesn't bother you at all. But when spring is in her hey day, and the cellar needs some work, then the ashes seem like mountains and the view begins to irk. When its time to haul them somewhere they get larger every day, but they have to be sent somewhere, weather's sixty eight today.

Ascension Day Program Success

Many Congregations From Nearby Cities Participate On Thursday Night

Rev. Dr. R. K. Yerkes Gives Eloquent Message On "What Is Worship"

The annual Ascension Day Festival Service, of the Shenango and Mahoning Clericus, in Trinity church last evening, exceeded all expectations. It was wonderful that so many singers, some of whom had only rehearsed together for fifteen minutes, could have rendered the elaborate and difficult settings to the Magnificat & Nunc Dimittis, by Stamford in B flat, with such beautiful expression and unanimity of attack. The best rendered number of all was the anthem "O Lord our Govenour" by Henry Gadsby, sung with precision and much spirit.

It was evident to all sitting in the congregation, that Frank E. Fuller, organist and choirmaster of St. John's church, Youngstown, is a very able director, and that he imparted expression, devotional spirit and life to the music.

Although the organ manual is so situated, in Trinity church, that Mr. Patterson was facing away from the conductor, it was evident that there was close understanding between him and Mr. Fuller. It is not necessary, in this city, to call attention further to the work that has been done for the musical advancement of our community by Paul Browne Patterson.

The minister's part of the service was intoned or sung with real understanding and religious feeling by The Reverend L. W. S. Stryker, Rector of St. John's church, Youngstown. The scripture lessons were read by The Reverend F. B. Atkinson, Rector of St. John's church, Sharon. The local Episcopal minister expressed, for the people of Trinity church, a hearty welcome to the singers, congregation, clergy and especially the preacher of the evening. Mr. Pearson said "That we in New Castle are honored by the occasion and by the distinguished guests."

Beginning with quiet tones and manner which bespeak reserve power, Dr. Royden K. Yerkes, developed his subject, "What is Worship?", with increasing persuasiveness and depth of spiritual insight, to a climax of great eloquence and power.

The Reverend C. A. Roth, Rector of the Church of Our Savior, Salem, and this year, president of the Clericus, spoke very graciously of the hospitality that had been extended by the rector and people of the Episcopal church of New Castle. It was evident that his were not fulsome words of compliment, but were from the heart, and voiced a sincere conviction.

Not the least inspiring was the singing of the beautiful, familiar hymns, "Crown Him With Many Crowns", "Alleluia, Sing to Jesus", and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name". The closing prayers and benediction were by The Reverend C. A. Roth, after which, unaccompanied, the uplifting 'Seven Fold Amen" by Sir John Stainer, gave the service a concluding devotional touch.

The large nave was filled to capacity. 189 were counted in procession. Praise was heard on every side, after the service, from the lips of visitors, for the hospitality that had been shown, not only by the people of the church, but by the city officials and others who cooperated.

The Fairflax Milling company wanted to build a grain elevator on the right of way of the L., Q. & T. railroad. The milling company representative approached the L., Q. & T. officials on the matter, and the officers agreed to permit the milling company to erect the elevator, and the contract was made. In the contract the railroad officials inserted a provision to the effect that the Fairflax Milling company would protect the railroad company from any liability on account of loss or damage by fire communicated from any locomotive, engine or car of the company to the elevator. And work on the elevator was begun.

The elevator had hardly been erected when it was destroyed by fire started from sparks from several railroad locomotives. The Fairflax company immediately sued the railroad company for damages. At the trial the railroad company cited the contract which protected it from that very contingency, but the milling company answered that the contract in that respect was again public policy and therefore was void.

that both capital and labor share in the fruits of their mutual collaboration: called for an adequate wage for labor to enable the proletariat to obtain some of the advantages enjoyed by capital, and a surcease of present class friction.

Class Opposition Must Cease

The Pope, viewing the actual state of the modern economic world, did not condemn it as evil in itself, but said 'we can not fail to recognize it is seriously warped and burdened with grave abuses."

"All opposition between classes must cease," he declared in the third part of the Encyclical. "Harmonious collaboration must be established between the various trade groups. Work is not a saleable commodity of any kind, but one of human dignity by which the working man must always be respected."

The pope declared emphatically that 'the teaching of communism can not be reconciled with the doctrines of the church."

"The free and unbridled competition is being succeeded by an exaggerated concentration in the hands of a few, of the whole economic power, not only of single nations, but of the entire world. This concentration of these powers has degenerated into tyrannical despotism.

"The only efficacious remedy for this disorder is to return to the sane principles of Christian social philosophy and their prudent application to capital and labor, and the relations between the two.

Scores Socialism

"Socialism, which boasted of applying a radical remedy to the same ill is a remedy which was worse than the disease itself. It has split into communism and has mitigated socialism.

"The teaching of communism can not be reconciled with the doctrines of the church. Socialism, even when it approaches close to Catholic principles, we don't hesitate to declare solemnly, even though on many points its teachings themselves are comfortable to justice and are admitted so by the church. Socialism, so long as it remains socialism, nevertheless has fundamental conceptions of human sociology so different from the true concept given us by the gospels that any agreement of doctrines remains absolutely impossible.

'It is not possible to be a good Catholic and at the same time a good Socialist. Those erring souls who have been deceived by false hopes and have swollen the ranks of Socialism should return without delay to the bosom of the church.

Root of Disorder

"The root of disorder, both in the modern economic world in general and Socialism, lies in man fixing his eyes on earthly goods without heed to God and things eternal. The remedy must be applied to the root itself by raising up men's hearts to God and filling them with nobler, purer aspirations.

"All men of good will ought to concur in the renovation of society on the basis of the gospel of Christ and charity.

"We rejoice to see the initiative and zeal with which not only the clergy but laymen in large numbers including many young men, are filled with the spirit of Catholic action, and working in several countries.

"For, if the condition of affairs diametrically opposed to the church should prevail, as many insist, the disaster would be terrible."

James Mason of Albany, N. Y., was sent to prison for seven and one-half to 15 years because he stole 10 cents from James Gilmore.

Plan Extradition Of Alleged Evader Of Gasoline Tax

Jacob Troy, Charged With Defrauding State Of $63,000 Held In New York

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 15—Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue announced today that New York state authorities have agreed to the extradition of Jacob Troy, of Syracuse and Wilkes-Barre, charged with having defrauded Pennsylvania of $63,000 in gasoline taxes.

The Troy case is the first extradition growing out of the department's crusade against tax dodging gasoline dealers.

Troy is president of the Hi-Test gas and oil company which operated ten gasoline stations in Luzerne county. The stations were closed on April 1 after an investigation by the department. Troy and Sol Krohn, Wilkes-Barre, were indicted by a Luzerne county grand jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud the commonwealth. Troy then left the state.

"Tax dodging gasoline dealers throughout Pennsylvania can take this case as additional notice that the Department of Revenue intends to go the limit against them," Secretary King said today. The department is out to get every dealer guilty of stealing gasoline tax funds We will use every legal means to return to this state any dealer who seeks safety in other states. We are going to rid Pennsylvania of bootleg gasoline rings."

Tie a string to the stem of an apple and whirl the apple around your hand by the string in a horizontal plane. The apple will make one rotation during each revolution around your hand just as it would if you stuck a needle through the apple and rotated the apple on the needle. With each revolution around your hand the apple stem has faced all points of the compass. That is all the apple does when rotated upon the needle. Let the earth represent your hand, gravitation the string, and the moon the apple, and you see the moon makes one rotation while revolving around the earth.

SWIFT, GIANT AIR BOAT TO ANSWER S O S

(International News Service)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 15.—Keeping apace with the government's protective measures for aviation progress, an aircraft company here turned over to the United States Coast Guard a giant aerial lifeboat designed to render aid to aircraft and ships in distress at sea.

Commander Norman B. Hall came from Washington D. C., to make final tests of the giant amphibian.

The plane is equipped to take off on water or on land, and is powered with twin 300-horsepower Wright Whirlwind motors which develop a speed of 140 miles an hour. It can rise from rough water in 19 seconds and from land in a fraction of that time, according to the builders.

The new addition is expected to prove a valuable help in aiding Coast Guard stations in locating not only airplanes but other seafaring craft in distress. In an emergency the ship might aid in sighting and capturing rum-runners and smugglers.

Commenting on the addition of the aerial lifeboat to the Coast Guard service, Commander Hall said:

"Air transportation has developed so tremendously that government prepardness in keeping a protective eye on all aircraft has had to grow accordingly. Just as shore life-saving stations watch ships at sea, the Coast Guard service must now watch ships of the air.

"During the last year nearly 2000 planes flew out of Sandy Hook bound on long trips, and the coastal air traffic between New York, Miami and other points has grown tremendoulsy. Therefore, we are equipping the Coast Guard properly to handle these new conditions."

Following tests of the unique ship, Commander Hall is scheduled to fly it to Cape May, N. J.

On the sides of the craft is the Coast Guard insignia bearing the date of the Coast Guards' founding, 1790.

If tests and further plans prove satisfactory the government probably will be supplied with more of this type of airplane, it was said.

MONEY UNCLAIMED

CLEVELAND—Despite the depression, unclaimed wages of part-time and odd-job employes of Cleveland jumped $2,013.64 during 1930, City Treasurer Russell V. Johnson reported. The total amount unclaimed in the treasury is $10,558. After five years, the money reverts back to the general fund.

Capone Appeals For Aid, Claims Kapovitch "Fake"

Al Capone, Famous Racketeer Discredits Story Roumanian Is His Father

ALLEGED "FAKER" COMING TO CHICAGO

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15.—"Of course, the story is absurd and a poor attempt on the part of someone to annoy my mother," Al Capone told International News Service today when informed that a story from Berlin, Germany, stated that Ladislaus Kapovitch, a Roumanian, who claims to be the gang leader's father, was on his way to America.

Capone dropped his usual jovial manner and, taking the story seriously, revealed details of his family life never before made public.

"My father's name was Gabriel," he said. "He died in Brooklyn, N. Y., on November 4, 1920. His body was first buried in a Brooklyn cemetery, but when my mother came here some years ago to live with me I had his body removed here.

Father-Brother Dead

"Anyone who wants to investigate will find the family burial lot in Mount Olivet cemetery here. My father is buried there with my brother Frank".

"Why doesn't the government take charge of this faker?" asked the gang czar, who himself is being harassed by the government and has appealed a year's sentence for contempt of federal court. "He is either a confidence man or insane. Why let him get into the country?

"Of course, I won't even see the man when he comes to Chicago. I have several brothers, though, who are capable of protecting their mother from the insults of some stranger who is trying to use the Capone family to get himself attention.

"I don't care what they say about me. They've said everything and done everything they can. I'm not asking consideration from anyone—in other words, I'm not crying about myself. But it does hurt my mother."

CLEAN CATHEDRAL

(International News Service)

ROUEN.—Normandy's celebrated gothic cathedral, Notre Dame de Rouen, has had a thorough spring cleaning in preparation for the Jeanne d'Arc fetes which will take place the latter part of May. Newest modern methods with the vacuum-cleaner will be used and all of the sculpture will be washed. The cathedral has not been cleaned since 1789, when some Italian housepainters whitewashed it and really did a bit more harm than good.

Pallbearers were Norman A. Minner, William H. Shaner, Emerson M. Davies, Edward P. Filban, Louis W. Brady and Edward E. Cross.

Funeral Changed.

The funeral of John L. Herbold, 369 East Washington street, will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday from the First Christian church, instead of from the residence, as formerly announced.

Services will be held on daylight savings time.

W. J. Greer.

Word has been received in the city of the sudden death of W. J. Greer, aged 73, at his home in Erie.

Mr. Greer was a former well known resident of the Seventh ward, being employed as a passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad, before he was placed on the pension list.

Mr. Greer was apparently in splendid health Thursday, when he was stricken with paralysis and as evening approached he became worse until death resulted in the early evening.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Greer, a son, R. J. Greer of Erie, and a daughter, Mrs. C. H. Woods, of 216 Meyer avenue, this city.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. from the Burton Funeral Home, Erie, and interment will be made there.

H. H. Hartsuff Funeral.

Funeral services for Harry H. Hartsuff, were held Thursday afternoon from the home of his niece, Mrs. John Wilkins, Wilmington road, with Rev. Ross M. Haverfield officiating, assisted by Rev. Howard Hartsuff of Beaver.

Interment was made in Graceland cemetery, with Mark McKee, C. C. Carr, Will Hartsuff, Howard Hartsuff, Earl Hartsuff and J. B. Carr as the pallbearers.

Robert M. Shafer.

Robert M. Shafer, well known and highly respected resident of the city, died at his home, 408 East North street, at nine o'clock last night, as a result of complications, that followed a stroke, which he suffered on last Wednesday. He had been in poor health for the past two years.

Mr. Shafer was born May 26, 1877 and was in his 54 year. He was born in this city and had spent his entire life in this city or the immediate vicinity. He was employed at the New Castle Works of the Carnegie Steel Company for thirty years.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church. He leaves his wife, Martha Mehard Veazey Shafer and one sister, Mrs. J. H. Lewis of New Wilmington.

Friends may view the body at his late home, 408 East North street until noon Saturday, at which time his body will be taken to the Book-Leyde Mortuary, 337-9 Neshannock avenue, where funeral services will be held Saturday, May 16, 1931 at 3 p. m. D. L. S. time with Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in charge. Interment will be made in Fair Oaks cemetery.

Louise Van Alen Marries Prince

Louise Astor Van Alen, Descendant Of John Jacob Astor, Weds Prince Mdivani

(International News Service)

NEWPORT, R. I., May 15.—With a quiet ceremony, attended by only a dozen members of her immediate family, Louise Astor Van Alen, a direct descendant of John Jacob Astor, was married today to Prince Alexis Z. Mdivani, of Transcaucasia, the former kingdom absorbed a century ago by Russia.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride, Wakehurst, by Rev. Stanley Carnaghan Hughes, Rector of Trinity church. No representative of the Prince's family was present.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple left for Providence. From there they go to New York to take a steamship this afternoon for a honeymoon in Europe.

Prince Mdivani is the son of Zakhari Mdivani, who was an aide-de-camp and General at the court of the late Czar Nicholas.

Prince Alexis' brother Serge is reported at present making plans to become the husband of Mary McCormick, noted diva, as soon as Pola Negri accepts the divorce she sought in Paris. Serge is at present in Hollywood, visiting at the home of a third brother, Prince David, the husband of Mae Murray, of stage and screen fame.

PINCHOT ARRIVES IN DISTRICT FOR SPEECHES TODAY

speeches, one a radio broadcast, here last night. Both speeches were condemnatory of the Public Service Commission and the Utilities, with special emphasis paid to the "write-ups" of capital values of the Utilities.

Such write-ups, Governor Pinchot said, constitute a form of "parasitic wealth—wealth that is created by the stroke of the pen rather than wealth given by providence or built up through actual labor."

Asks for Support

Likening the utilities to a cancer feeding on healthy flesh, and terming the Public Service Commission the root of the cancer, Governor Pinchot declared:

"I am here to ask for your support to the proposition that it is time to apply the knife of legislative action to the cancerous growth in order to save the healthy flesh.

"I ask for the authority of the people of Pennsylvania through the General Assembly to apply the knife to the Public Service Commission and to restore healthy growth to the public utilities of the state, weakened by parasitic cells, and make them free to perform their normal functioning in the service of the people."

OLD FASHIONED PARTY PROVES ENTERTAINING

Original and entertaining was the meeting of the Kokonut-Klub members held at the home of Miss Bertha Leonhardt Thursday evening in her home on Cunningham avenue. The affair was in the form of an "old fashioned party", each guest being given a wig representing the "olden days" as soon as they entered. With the long full dresses that grandma used to wear, held out with whoops, the girls made a striking appearance. Mrs. Fred Weinschenk was awarded the prize for having the most complete costume.

Later, games and contests of various sorts were played, with favors being won by Anne Nueghbaugh, Helen Reynolds and Therest Figuly. Following the entertainment, the guests were served a tasty collation in the dining room at a table beautifully appointed in keeping with the occasion. The hostess had as her aide with the menu, her mother, Mrs. Martin Leonhardt.

On May 28 the club will meet with Hettie Neughbaugh, Highland avenue.

Ten Ivory Club

Mrs. John Mastrangelo, of Cunningham avenue, was hostess to the Ten Ivory Club members Thursday evening when they met for regular session. Cards were featured, the prize for honors being won by Mary Maciariello. Mrs. George Ross was presented with a beautiful gift from the club, in memory of her birthday anniversary.

Following the business period when plans for a theatre party were discussed, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Carl Scungio.

Special guests included Mary Deblino of Youngstown, O., and Mrs. Frederick Scungio.

L. O. A. Club

Mrs. John Evans, Temple avenue, entertained the L. O. A. Club in her home Wednesday evening. Business matters were discussed followed by a social hour. Cards formed the chief diversion, the prizes being awarded to Doris Hanna, Mrs. J. F. Titus and Mrs. W. H. Gilkey. Refreshments were served at a suitable time by the hostess, at the tables nicely appointed in the seasons tones.

Special guests were the Misses Margaret and Doris Hanna.

SHOWER HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Margaret Reed entertained at a delightful party in her home on Fairfield avenue last evening in honor of Miss Jean Laurell, a bride-elect of the summer. The affair was in the form of a kitchen shower, when the guest of honor was cleverly presented with a collection of many serviceable gifts, from her friends gathered there.

The social period was whiled away with bridge and lovely prizes for honors were given to Lucy Daubenspeck and Ruth Wilson. Later, lunch was served at small tables. Black vases with pink rosebuds formed the attractive centerpieces. Aides in serving were Mrs. Josephine Reed and Mrs. J. W. Burry.

King's Daughters Meet

Thursday evening the Highland King's Daughters met in the home of Virginia Wimer, Park avenue, with Georgia Parker as associate hostess.

Lucille Kison was leader for the evening, and after the opening devotionals she introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. W. S. Cook of Beaver Falls, Home secretary of the Woman's Mission Board, who told how the board was formed; how later the alien and social work was added; then explained how the mountaineer work had become a part of their project. The work among the mountaineers is based upon the words of the older generation, who told the workers "Do Not Do Anything for Me But Help My Children". The center of the United Presbyterian work in the mountains at Frenchburg, Ky.

The social period was given over to Hokum and prizes were won by Mrs. R. F. Conway, Lois Rodgers and Mildred Campbell.

The hostesses served refreshments and the girls adjourned to meet in June, when the meeting will be in the form of a picnic.

Good Time Club.

Radio music and cards were pastimes enjoyed by members of the Good Time club Thursday evening when they met with Mrs. Helen Weller on the old Pittsburgh road in regular session. Prizes were presented to Mrs. Ethel Boyd and Mrs. Mary Bishop, winning honors.

Toward the close of the evening a tempting menu was served by the hostess at the small tables. Green and white tones were used throughout in the decorations.

Mrs. Grace Hoch of Wilmington avenue will be club hostess in two weeks.

CLUB MEMBERS HONOR BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Oliver Fleeger charmingly received members of the M. and D. Club in her home on Neshannock avenue Thursday evening when she entertained in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. A. E. Mariacher. During the social period, which was featured with bingo, Mrs. Edward Filban, Mrs. Howard Walker and Mrs. Roy Smith were given prizes. The club favor was presented to Mrs. Robert Clark, while the guest of honor was also the recipient of many lovely tokens to remind her of the day.

Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Filban, Mrs. Clem Mack and Mrs. Mary Oberleitner.

Lunch was served by the hostess at a later hour, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Boalick. Green and white appointments prevailed throughout.

In two weeks, the regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Mariacher's on Neshannock boulevard.

Upstreamers Banquet

The members of the Upstreamers' class of the Epworth Methodist church banqueted their mothers Thursday evening in the dining room of the church. This class is taught by Helen Drumm.

Places were arranged for eighteen at a long table, tastefully appointed in pink and white. Miss Rheda Edwards gave the toast to the mothers; Mrs. Harry Marshall responded with the toast to the daughters after which the girls of the class sang a song to their mothers. Edna Roberts gave a reading and piano numbers were played by Irene Campbell.

T. A. C. Club Notes.

The home of Mrs. Mary Fulmer proved an ideal meeting place for the T. A. C. club members when they met Thursday evening. "Hokum" and other pastimes were in vogue as entertainment, the prizes being won by Mrs. Homer Johnston and Mrs. Tim Haley.

At an appropriate hour the hostess served an appetizing lunch at the dining room table, which was an array of beauty in its spring decorations.

Special guests present were Mrs. William Billig of Greenville, Mrs. Edna Marks of Johnstown and Mrs. Dorothy Eardley, the hostess' daughter.

On May 28 the club will be received at the home of Mrs. William Crea, Franklin avenue.

B. Y. C. Club

Mrs. Walter Gross of Richelieu avenue was hostess to the B. Y. C. Club members in her home Thursday evening when she entertained at cards. Bridge was selected, and prizes were won by Mrs. William Fox and Mrs. Martin Mills.

As a special guest, the ladies had Mrs. Frances Drake.

Mrs. Fox assisted the hostess in serving a tasty collation at the close of the entertainment.

Members of the O. U. Girls Missionary Society of the Central Presbyterian church met Thursday evening in the church parlors with Miss Josephine Shuler as the hostess.

Miss Ada Carpenter led the devotional opening after which the missionary lesson was taken up, with Mrs. Harold Shelatree giving the home topic, "Spanish People" and Margaret Pringle gave an interesting talk on "Latin America."

Reports from the Shenango Presbyterial were made by Margaret McKee and Mrs. Lester Miller.

The brief business meeting was followed by refreshments, served by the hostess, assisted by Ada Carpenter.

June 11, Mrs. Lester Miller will be hostess to the society.

Form New Class

A group of women of the Bethany Lutheran church met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Edna Kirkwood, Huron avenue, for the purpose of organizing a new Bible class.

The class was formed; chose the "Earnest Workers" as their name and elected officers, with Mrs. Kirkwood as the president and teacher; Mrs. Sherman Kitson, vice president; Mrs. Helen Hatfield, treasurer and Mrs. Ruth Garbett as secretary. The class will hold monthly meetings at the homes of the members, choosing the second Thursday of the month as the meeting date.

1919 Kensington

Mrs. Roy Mears entertained in her home Thursday evening, members of the 1919 Kensington at their regular social session. Radio music and sewing were pastimes of the leisure hours. Before departing for home, the guests were served a tasty lunch in the dining room. The table was cleverly arranged with place cards dangling on streamers hanging from the chandelier, with a glass bowl of imitation flowers being brilliantly lighted, shining through. This made a most striking setting.

In two weeks Mrs. Charles McClelland of Croton avenue will receive the club at her home.

Merry Maidens

Members of the Merry Maidens were entertained at the home of Miss Martha Jenkins of Adams street, Wednesday evening, when two tables of bridge were in play.

The home was prettily decorated for the occasion in a color scheme of pink and green, pink rose buds in green vases forming the center piece for the luncheon table.

Miss Jenkins was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by her mother, Mrs. Jesse Jenkins.

High score honors during the evening went to Miss Harriett Vickery and Mrs. Ruth Hamilton. The date of the next meeting will be announced later.

DRIVING OUT THE RACKETEER AND GANGSTER

MILWAUKEE enjoys a reputation of being freer of the racketeer and gangster than any other large city in the nation.

It is apparent that when a city is so minded, the gangster and racketeer can be eliminated.

The statement of Mayor Daniel Webster Hoan, of Milwaukee, in New York, yesterday, as he was enroute for Paris, is an editorial in itself. It can be read with profit by all who are interested in this problem of the day, eliminating the gangster and the racketeer.

Here is what Mayor Hoan said, and his method of eliminating the undesirables:

"Milwaukee routed the racketeer and the gangster. Other American cities can do it, too."

"Just how can our cities clean out the gangsters," Mayor Hoan was asked.

"By breaking the partnership between politicians and the criminal element," he replied, promptly. "Organized crime cannot exist in any city unless there is a connection between the underworld and the politicians."

When the police of any important city fails to stop the organized racketeer, he said, the explanation lies in the existence of this "partnership."

"The first job of any city that sincerely wants to clean out the criminals is to break this partnership," asserted Mayor Hoan.

"When we catch a criminal in Milwaukee it is just too bad for him," continued Mayor Hoan. "They have learned by sad experience that Milwaukee is a good town for them to steer clear of. That's just what they do."

MEMORIAL TO PRESIDENT TAFT

Spring pilgrimages to Washington to see the Japanese cherry trees in blossom bring a reminder that Ameraican sentiment for Japanese friendship is increasing. They recall the days when the trees were first set out under Mrs. Taft's direction and they recall the president's efforts for international peace with special relation to the Orient because of his understanding of Pacific problems.

A suggestion has come that the tidal basin on whose banks these trees flourish in Potomic River Park should be designated a memorial to the president. Later he became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the only man ever serving in both these branches of government. Fancy might like to dwell on the allegorical appropriateness of the idea, but probably the most obvious thought will prove the most significant one. The placid surface of the water is singularly expressive of the most genial character who ever graced the white house.

NEW USE FOR OLD CARS

The teacher in charge of a nursery school needed something to interest the children in the playground. An automobile dealer had an old car he had taken in trade, which he was willing to sell at junk price, and the teacher took it. Immediately that playground jumped about 500 per cent in interest and fascination.

How the kids loved that old wreck! It was perfectly safe. The engine had been removed and some of the tires were missing. For their purpose it was as good as ever. They had a glorious time climbing all over it and taking imaginary rides in it.

Here is so brilliant an idea that it makes a sensitive person shudder. Think of all the school playgrounds and private yards being cluttered up with broken-down autos. They may be, if the movement spreads. It would be great for the kids and great for the motor industry. But alas for neatness and order! Suppose every home in town had its private junkyard.

IT WILL NEVER BE

Making a mother of father will be the next step in human progress, according to Miss Anita Jones, national field representative of a maternity center association. She foresees a generation of fathers bathing baby and putting him to bed.

This astonishing feminist doesn't let society in on the grounds for her deductions, but it is safe to assume that they have some connection with the larger part her sex is taking in the business and political life in those countries where emancipation is a fact.

The fallacy in her line of reasoning lies in the fact that, although womanhood has become less womanly, manhood has not become less manly. Fathers will, on occasion, bathe the baby, but that is a little domestic chore fathers have always performed when mother's hands were occupied elsewhere. Gags about the henpecked husband are no more apt today than they were in days when a heavy beard was the mark of manhood.

Someone may counter with the point that in grandfather's time it was not the movies or bridge, or a political meeting, that induced mothers to leave the tender brood in father's care. True enough, but did the literary societies, ladies kensingtons and quilting parties of grandfather's time offer more legitimate excuses than their modern substitutes?

Feminists have been making these dire predictions since their sex first laid claim to all the real or imagined advantages of the other sex without forfeiting their own special privileges and prerogatives. Fabulous visions!

COMMONPLACE INTERESTS

It has been said that there is nothing quite so intriguing as the commonplace things of life. One need only act natural in vaudeville to win applause. Books that discuss the everyday things of life are always in favor. Humanity prefers the mirror to the telescope.

Several publications in this country and England recently took up with considerable success, both in supplying interesting information to their readers and in attracting the interest of the public, the discussion of the origin and evolution of the gentelemanly act of shaving. The history of shaving was pieced together from many sources.

Samuel Pepys was quoted as describing shaving with a pumice-stone as "very easy, speedy and cleanly."

In the works of the younger Pliny someone found reference to a dandy of his day who was both shaved and pumice-stoned—"rasus atque etiam pumicatus."

When Martial was writing his epigrams the gilded youth of Rome were having their beards treated in all the then modern modes—tonsa, clipped with scissors; rasa, shaved; vulsa, plucked.

All of those who contributed to this symposium on the gentle art of shaving agreed that there have been shaven faces since the time of Nero or before but only one supplied any evidence that razors of steel were in use as early as the time of the Roman Empire.

It is a duty imposed upon the writers of today that they leave to posterity an accurate and minute history of those commonplace things which have originated in this day and age, such as five-and-ten-cent stores, baseballs, jazz music, automobile petting parties, blocs, knickers for men, highway soft-drink stands, roadside tea rooms, good roads and many others which future generations will no doubt be curious about.

The Spirit of Nessus
Not Just a Story
Anger and Fear and Jealousy

By MARSHALL MASLIN

We wear, in various styles, at various times, the Shirt of Nessus.

We wear it and we suffer agony beyond description.

It's years since I first read of the Shirt of Nessus, and then I did not know it could ever have any meaning for me. Then it was just a story out of the classic myths of the ancient myths; it means far more than that to me now.

Nessus was a centaur, half man and half horse, who tried to steal the wife of Hercules. The hero drew his mighty bow and shot an arrow into the centaur's heart. Dying, Nessus gave some of his blood to Dejanira, the wife of Hercules, and told her she might use it as a charm to keep the love of her husband. . . . She spun wool, wove cloth, made a garment for Hercules and dyed it in the blood of centaur.

* * *

But the blood was poisonous, and when Hercules wore the Shirt of Nessus, the poison struck in. He groaned and struggled, and in his frenzy tore at the shirt; but it clung to his flesh and he tore pieces of his body away. And so great Hercules died and his wife, in grieving remorse, hanged herself.

Just a fanciful story, believed by the ancient Greeks nad Romans? Perhaps, but much more, too. The Shirt of Nessus was not destroyed by Hercules. It endures forever and is worn by many men, many women.

Jealousy wears a poisen shirt that drives its wearer to sleepless, tossing madness.

Envy trades with Nessus, too, and wears a witch-made shirt that eats the heart to shreds.

Self-Pity has an evil shirt that shrinks and scratches and is unenduring torture.

* * *

All the unhappy, all the miserable, all the angry ones of the earth are customers of Nessus. They buy his poisonous shirts, they wear them above their hearts. They wear them with pride, but they wear them in itching, clutching agony while they boast of the enduring, never-fading qualities of the shirts that bear the name of Nessus.

Pity Hercules, pity his wife, pity even the grevengeful centaur—but pity, most of all, us when we wear the Shirt of Nessus and know not why we live in frenzied pain.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HE ALSO THINKS.

The small boy is always a great delight. He is the ever present problem of the household and they are wise parents who bring to manhood a worthwhile citizen. Here are two examples:

"Freddie," said teacher, "give me a sentence using the word 'diadem.'"

Freddie had overheard certain remarks at home and out of his subconscious store of wordly wisdom he drew this reply:

"People who hurry across railroad crossings diadem sight quicker than people who stop, look and listen."

A small boy asked his father how wars begin.

"Well," said his father, "suppose that England quarreled with France—"

"But," interrupted the mother, "England mustn't quarrel with France."

"I know," he answered, "but I am taking a hypothetical instance."

"You are misleading the child," said the mother.

"No, I am not," he answered.

"Yes, you are."

"No, I am not."

"Yes."

"All right, Dad," said the small boy. "I think I know how wars begin."

LUCKY DOG

"Lucky dog!" the tramp remarked
Unto the little fyste which barked
About his feet and wagged his tail,
"For you can neither win nor fail,
Nor feel too bitterly the scorn
Of creatures similarly born.
No one expects from you a deed
Or think a code of laws to write
To regulate your appetite.
You eat and sleep whene'er you choose
And alcohol you never use."

The little dog in turn replied:
"The room is small where I abide,
And I've but narrow space to move.
My fortunes I cannot improve
I am forever bound to be
What birth and instinct made of me
I cannot laugh, I cannot sing,
I cannot do one useful thing.
The kindliest priest or pedagogue
Could ever make me more thon dog.
Not so with you, when life began
You had the chance to be a man!"

Mom: "Yes you will. I don't intend to have you miss school any more than I can help."

Silence on Willie's part.

Willie (whose head is still buried a la ostrich): "Ub dub careb dew."

Mom: "All right. I'll call your father and he'll attend to you in a way that you'll likely remember." Calls to Pop, and in a few minutes Pop enters to take charge.

Pop: "Young man, you're going to take this syrup if I have to push it down your throat. Open your mouth."

Symposium of Editorial Views By Newspapers of Nations on Important Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press Association

Baker Called Potent Factor In Financial Life Of America

Death Of New York Banker Brings Tributes To His Quiet Influence, Exerted With Purpose To Give Effective Service In Many Spheres

Eulogies of George F. Baker, world-famous financier, are found throughout the American press, following his recent death. The man's character as well as his achievements, his philanthropies as well as his amassing of wealth, are subjects of approving comment.

"In the death of Mr. Baker, the First National Bank, of New York, has lost the chairman of its board, and forty or more other corporations and organizations have lost a director. Also the world has lost its third richest man, according to estimates. And America has lost a large philanthropist, its grand old man of finance, whose genius, labors and influence have contributed much to its upbuilding." This is the tribute of the CHATTANOOGA TIMES. And the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE, speaking for New England, says: "New England may gaze upon the career of George F. Baker, just ended, with something of the same sensations it feels in gazing upon its own rugged hills of home. Steadfastness and integrity are the outstanding features of both, and the character of the 'Sphinx of Wall Street' seems to have been molded by the same silent forces that set the Berkshires solidly in their place. Granitic was this man of unbounded financial vision, and lifted above the levels of ordinary life; but the firmness and vigor of his mind were softened by a generous opulence of charity, a noble patriotism, as the Berkshires are softened by the forests of pines and maples and white birches, that, in autumn, paint on the landscape a second and more intimate sunset. Baker, too, stemmed from New England stock that traced to Boston in 1625. Though identified with New York City, he was part of our inheritance."

Impressed by the length of Mr. Baker's active participation in affairs, the NEW YORK SUN says: "The span of George Fisher Baker's active career was one of the most remarkable in the whole history of business and finance. That a man should aid Secretary Chase in the sale of securities in the Civil War and nearly seventy years later, rule a great bank like the First National is almost incredible. He was one of the most modest of men," continues The Sun, "yet he must have been proud, with the finest kind of pride, that he never wronged a rival or deserted a friend in need."

The KANSAS CITY TIMES calls him "one of the real builders of the America of today." Says the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM: "Mr. Baker's career embraced practically the whole of modern American industrial and financial history. In the various panics and money stringencies which afflicted commerce in the latter half of the eighteenth century, it was to Mr. Baker that many of the empire builders of the country turned for support. James J. Hill was one of these and he testified in later years that Mr. Baker saved his Northwest Railroad." The PROVIDENCE BULLETIN says: "George F. Baker was one of the group of Americans who, in the bustling period after the Civil War, applied their energy and brains to transforming a virtually virgin country into the greatest industrial nation the world has ever seen."

Length of service did not mean antiquated methods or outlook for Mr. Baker. He "marched with the times, without ever for a moment allowing either the excitement of prosperity or the discouragement of depression to take possession of his mind," says the WALL STREET JOURNAL, which further remarks: "He adjusted himself easily to the changing economic and social conditions surrounding his unusually long, active career, but without undergoing any alteration of his simple and direct more of thought." The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION credits his business success "to his astute handling of money, his foresight in banking development, and knowing when to buy and sell in the stock market." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH calls him "a Horatio Alger boy in real life, multiplied several hundred times over. The creator of these myths of heroic mould never dared in his wildest flight of imagination to take one of his heroes of fiction from the lowly position of a $2-a-week errand boy to the possession of a half-billion dollers," asserts this paper.

Concerning his generosity, the ALTOONA MIRROR says: "It is reported of George Baker—many times a millionaire—that he enjoyed life and leisure and rejoiced in his abundant resources because of the splendid privileges presented him by way of doing good to his less fortunate brothers and sisters."

The PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, enumerating some of his philanthropies, says: "Mr. Baker's work of philanthropy were notable, his gifts running in the aggregate into many millions. One of them, to Harvard for the establishment of the School of Business, was $5,000,000. To each of the great Red Cross drives in the World War he gave $1,000,000. To Columbia he gave thirty acres on the Upper end of Manhattan island for an athletic field, and he made many large gifts and contributions to art institutions."

"He will be remembered," according to the CLEVELAND NEWS, "as a man who made substantial use of those advanced years in which his effectiveness seemed enhanced rather than dimmed." The WALLA WALLA DAILY BULLETIN pays the tribute: "In speaking of Mr. Baker, Andrew Mellon once said that his bank had subscribed $3,364,000,000 in government securities. 'We know in Washington that on every issue on the day the books are opened we will receive a subscription for $25,000,000 from the First National bank of New York. It is comforting to feel that we always have one friend who backs the treasury, whatever its judgment of market conditions. It gives us confidence.' Mr. Baker will be missed in U. S. financial circles. His confidence in the country was based on long experience. His was one of the guiding hands of financial affairs which must be replaced."

"He represented much which reflecting Americans," declares the DETROIT FREE PRESS, "like to feel is typical of the best in their business and professional life. There was about him none of that flamboyant egotism and self-advertisement so often found in men too small for the jobs fortune has brought them. There was tremendous efficiency in his brain and a deep well of charity in his heart. The same intelligence he displayed in accumulating the wealth that enabled him to die the third richest man in the country, was equally shown in the direction which his benefactions took. They were largely to universities and hospitals. American individualism is ornamented and mellowed by the qualities that made George F. Baker, at one and the same time, a financier and a philanthropist."

DO YOU LITTER THE FLOOR?

How about it, old man, don't you add a lot of work to your household by throwing your things about?

Coat on a chair, hat on another chair, newspapers on the floor to say nothing of ashes and evil-smelling cigar and cigarette stubs most anywhere.

This means that someone has to put these articles in their proper place if your home is to present a neat appearance.

Your arrival at home is the signal of disorder, no matter how carefully things have been cleared and cleaned up during the day.

Suppose you do pay a maid to help keep things orderly, it is selfish and thoughtless of you to distribute your wearing apparel and other articles around.

It is easy enough to get into the habit of hanging your coat and hat in their place when you get in, and teaches the children something also.

It is not necessary to throw papers on the floor when you finish them.

Why leave parcels on tables to be removed by someone else?

Legion Advocates Calling Session For Unemployment

Would Have President Hoover Call Non-Political Conference

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 15—Calling a non-political conference of business and labor leaders by President Hoover to investigate the economic depression and unemployment was advocated today by the American Legion.

A resolution instructing Ralph T. O'Neill, national commander, to ask the president to call the meeting was adopted last night by the executive committee, which had been studying a report submitted by the American Legion national employment commission. The commission's report estimated that 6,000,000 are now unemployed, including 750,000 ex-service men.

The inquiry asked by the resolution would look into the effects of congressional legislation on business conditions. The resolution also asks the proposed conference to ascertain whether financial leaders of the country could have issued a warning prior to the collapse of the stock market the fall of 1929.

Large Plane Lands At Bradford Field

"Bird" Monoplane Is Off Course During Trip From Erie To Butler

Having travelled off his direct course from Erie to Butler, D. H. Wallace, owner and pilot of a large "Bird" four-passenger biplane, landed at Bradford field Thursday afternoon.

Judgement Of Scout Displays

Edwina Connery Exhibits Best Scrapbooks At Girl Scout Convention

Announcemnet is made this morning from Girl Scout headquarters that the scrapbooks made by Edwina Connery of Troop 2, Highland U. P. church, were judged the best at the annual regional convention.

Scrapbooks made by New Castle Girl Scout troops were on display in the lounge room of The Castleton during the three days of convention last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Two of Edwina Connery's exhibits were judged the best in every respect.

Honorable mention was given the books exhibited by Martha Nell Shaeffer of Troop 2, Highland U. P. church; Rosena Hagan of Troop 14, St. Mary's; Marian Conner and Anna Mae Loy of Troop 10.

Judges of the exhibits were the Misses Helena Burckart, Elizabeth Reis, Florence Davis and Nance Pugh.

Extend Time On Ohio State Bonus

Several Local Residents Now Eligible To Receive Benefits By Ruling

Information has been received by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, the limit for filing claims for the Ohio State Bonus by World War veterans has been extended until 1932.

Several veterans from Ohio who are now making their residence in New Castle, recently filed claim for their bonus, but were denied the money because the time limit had expired.

The recent session of the Ohio State Legislature extended the time limit for making application until 1932, and Ohio State veterans, who are now living here may re-apply under the new ruling.

Did tree sitting discourage further effort, or are the lunatics just slow in getting started this year?

Pittsburgh Man Swindle Victim

Old "Aspirin Game" Results In Pittsburgher Losing Exactly $600.18

TWO SWINDLERS PULL GOOD ONE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—A box of aspirin tablets, combined with the old "badger" game, Thursday cost Joseph Kasselsteiner, 27, of the north side, exactly $600.18.

Joseph's car halted at a traffic light while he was driving to work Thursday morning. Two men stepped from the curb and asked him to recommend a good bank in which they told him they were going to deposit $5,000. The victim was offered $300 if he would drive the men to the bank. He did with alacrity. As they were driving along, one of his passengers showed him $1,300, a small part of the money they were to deposit.

Kasselsteiner took the two men to the Ohio Valley bank where he told them he had $600 in deposit. When one of the men became skeptical of the bank's sound financial condition, with an eye on the $300 driver's fee, offered to prove that he had $600 on deposit and drew out the amount as a sign of good faith.

Goes For Aspirin.

After a hurried conference on the sidewalk outside the bank, Kasselsteiner agreed to take a check for $900, covering the $600 which he had withdrawn and his fee of $300 for driving the men to the bank. The speaker walked into the bank to deposit the $5,000 and write the $900 check for Kasselsteiner.

His companion turned to "Joe". They were on familiar terms now.

"I've got a terrible headache, Joe. Will you run across the street and get me a box of aspirin at the drug store?"

Obligingly Joe did. He returned with the soothing aspirins.

He had a "terrible headache" too when he found the two kind men had fled.

Isabella Lost Money By Staking Columbus

(International News Service)

ASHTABULA, O., May 15.—"Go ahead and discover America. Here are some jewels to buy some ships and hire some men."

When Queen Isabella looked down at Christopher Columbus, on bended knee before her, and uttered the above words or something to that effect, she pulled a "faux pas" financially, according to C. J. Starkey, an attorney here, who has taken the time and trouble to figure out the interest and such.

The jewels, history says, were worth $6,000 but other more critical historians have written this amount down to $2,115, Starkey said he has learned.

Anyhow, Columbus had a neat amount to start his conquest over the uncharted seas, and even with the smaller amount the deductions reached by Starkey's figuring are somewhat startling.

If the money had been placed at five per cent interest and compounded semi-annually, Starkey says, it would have reached the enormous sum of more than four and one half trillion dollars.

"This would be eleven and one-half times the total value of the United States and possessions," the attorney revealed. "The interest itself would be $112,000,000,000, due every six months. The total accumulation would be $4,608,581,032,963.46."

FARMERS PROTEST

(International News Service)

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 15.—Protest has been lodged with the legislature by Franklin county farmers against two bills now pending. One reduces idemnity paid to owners of cattle condemned after tuberculin tests; the other gives agents of the State Livestock Sanitary Board power to enter on property and test animals without consent of the owner.

Plain Grove School News

GRADES DEPART

The halls of the building no longer resound with childish voices nor the tramping of youthful feet, because the grades left us on April 29. While they hailed the time with delight, we are lonesome without them, but we look forward to the time when we, too, depart for a vacation. Some very good marks were turned in, and the majority of the pupils were made happy by the word, Promoted, on their report cards.

HONOR ROLL

Freshmen: Leora McCommons, Grace Hogue,.

Sophomores: Florence Jenkins, John McNulty, Eleanor Rodgers.

Juniors: Ruth Bingham.

Seniors: Lillian Patterson, Elva Hohmann, Alex Brown, Harold Connell, Edwin Gardner and James Stevenson.

PLAYS

The faculty of Plain Grove School presented their play "The Jade Necklace" to a large audience on Monday evening May 4. The play was a mystery built around the jade necklace of Miss Doris Lee, a butterfly type of girl who was portrayed by Miss Twila Kimes. Her girl friend, Margery Moreland, who tried to keep her and a childhood boy friend together, was played by Miss Mildred Battley. Julietta Banks, the girl who got a thrill out of every thing was well shown in Miss Mae McFerrin. She furnished a number of laughs to the audience. The most comic player was Hetty, The Maid. Poor Hetty was so absent minded, she kept the audience in gales of laughter every time she made her appearance. Miss Mary Bingham played this part. The nervous mother of Doris Lee was played to an advantage by Miss Dorothy Allen. Hers was one of the most difficult parts in the play. Dick Sylvester, from Oklahoma and a boyhood friend of Doris was played by Mr. W. L. Rainey. Bertram Hawtrey, a cousin of Mrs. Lee, and the villian of the play, was well filled by Mr. Clair Smith. "Biff" Moreland, Julietta's boy friend, who tried to capture the thief with almost bad results, was portrayed by Mr. Clair Brown. The jade necklace caused a lot of excitement and worry and showed up the character of some people.

The Senior Class will present their play, "Dust Of The Earth," Friday evening, May 22nd., at 8 o'clock. Though not a mystery play like "The Jade Necklace," it will be very interesting and entertaining. The Seniors lacked three to complete the cast and the three extra parts will be played quite well by three Juniors. The story of the play centers around a young girl, Nell, an orphant, played by Lillian Patterson, who is adopted by an uncle David Moore, James Stevenson and aunt, Susan Moore, played by Elva Hohmann. Nell has a very hard life, but she has two friends who help to make it bearable. Wandering Tom and Mose, played by Harold Connell and Edwin Gardner respectively. Miss Arabella, a village gossip and Dr. Templeton, a young minister are acted by Ruth Bingham and William McCune. Elizabeth Moore, played by Anna Studebaker, bears a hatred of Nell which is almost inceivable, because John Ryder, played by Alex Brown shows an interest in Nell, which she has coveted a long time. Jerry, the young boy whose only object in life seems to be fishing and getting into trouble, is played quite ably by Harold Rodgers.

Music will be furnished by the Plain Grove School orchestra and an evening of delightful entertainment is promised to all those who come.

SENIORS TO VISIT WASHINGTON

The Seniors of the High School, accompanied by Prof. Rainey, Charles Masters, and Mr. and Mrs. Miles left Wednesday morning for a motor trip to Washington. They plan to stop at Gettysburg, Fredericksburgh, Mount Vernon and other historic points of interest on their way. While in Washington they will visit the National Capital Building, Building of Arts and Engraving, Arlington Memorial and Ampitheater, etc. They will return Saturday evening and will, no doubt, have many interesting sights to talk about.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

The orchestra and several players will motor to Union High on Tuesday evening, May 19, to participate in a county wide musical festival. Several members will be presented by our school. All music will be under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Allen, our musical instructor.

We are sure everyone is going to do his best and a pleasant evening is anticipated.

School Reporters: Eleanor Rodgers and Elva Hohmann.

Sparks From New Castle Motor Club

EARLY WARNING OF CAUTION DURING THE SCHOOL VACATION PERIOD

With the final school bell sounding soon throughout the city and thousands of children rushing out to enjoy their new found freedom, they should be given timely warnings by parents on the subject of safety, according to Ralph W. Bolsinger, President of the New Castle Motor Club.

Mr. Bolsinger bases his statement on the action of the A. A. A. Safety Department in broadcasting this advice to parents. The A. A. A. club executive said that the youngsters should be warned to:

1. Confine their play to playgrounds in their own yards or on sidewalks. They should be taught that the street is a dangerous zone.
2. Look both ways in crossing a thoroughfare and then cross only at intersections.
3. Never enter that portion of the street used by vehicular traffic while on skates.
4. Stay close to the right side of the road, as near the curb as possible, when approaching traffic.

Mr. Bolsinger declares that the majority of motorists are in the class of careful drivers who watch out for youngsters on the streets and highways, but the small minority of reckless drivers are the greatest source of danger.

He said that children should also be taught to be careful in playing with balls or other toys that may fall in the front of traffic, as the heedless rush is one of the greatest causes of fatalities among children

THE ROADSIDE IS NO PLACE FOR RUBBISH

The wizzing motorist, musing, wise cracks "Ain't nature grand?" as he scatters his waste and garbage all over roads and land.

OIL IN THE CRANK CASE

I'd like to pass along the suggestion that you avoid sudden slowing down from high speed if your engine is starting to pump oil. That sort of thing causes a vacuum in the cylinders and serves to suck oil up from the crankcase.

c

Cape Charles, Norfolk. Motorists driving South will save time and mileage by using this ferry and the Atlantic Coastal Highway.

THINGS WE DON'T LIKE

The motorist who races his car across the street a split second after the red light has flashed on.

Holes left in the street by persons in making connections for water, gas and sewers.

Railroad Grade Crossings

Trucks that race the streets as if they were motorized fire apparatus.

Any talk of increased gas tax.

Buses taking up three-quarters of the road.

Did you ever stop to think that one of the trust tests of friendship is the good things we are willing to share with our fellow men? You're a member of the A. A. A. and the New Castle Motor Club, able to reap the service benefits of your Club whenever you wish. Are you passing the good word along as to the value of this organization to a friend?

SAFETY LANES

LIGHTS

Yes, you are required to carry an extra set of lights for your automobile. You should have your lights tested frequently, thus, eliminating glare and always having them in proper focus.

NARROW ROAD

Motorists headed South will be interested to know that the shortest and narrowest paved road in existence is the road on Smiths Island in the lower Chesapeake Bay, near Crisfield, Maryland. It is less than a mile long and just wide enough to permit the passage of one motor car at a time.

The newest badge of honor is the Gold A. A. A. radiator emblem, awarded to motorists who interest others in the organization.

THE RIGHT OF WAY OR THE COURTESY WAY

The American Automobile Association leads the world as a travel organization. Its members should, by precept and example, lead the motorists of the world in highway courtesy. Courtesy promotes safety.

Many motorists believe that the autoist on the main traveled street or street car route has the right-of-way at intersections. As far as the letter of the law is concerned, he may have. In the interest of accident prevention, it is always wise to be sure that the driver of the other car knows and intends to do what is proper before you exercise your right-of-way.

If it is safe and sane to give him half the road or street, give him half if it takes more to avoid an accident, give it to him. It is better to give him all the right-of-way, stop still or even back up, than have an accident. In other words, half the road is yours until the other fellow contends for it, then, for the sake of safety, it is his.

Get a copy of the traffic laws of your State and City and study them. People who know the traffic laws and ordinances are usually careful drivers.

It is a good rule to treat people with as much courtesy and consideration on the streets as we would in their homes. Courtesy is courtesy and people are people wherever found. Apply the Golden Rule in driving and your manners will be perfect. Let the A. A. A. emblem on your car be a constant silent reminder that you are to drive carefully, courteously and with due regard for the rights of others. Help build your Club.

OUR WATCH WORD WILL BE

Here's a good thing to do—why not.

Legislation is afoot to eliminate nearly a hundred of the most dangerous grade crossings in Wisconsin This State could well follow the example.

Speaking of "Pioneer Hardships" remember way back when every well dressed motorist wore goggles and it took hours to get the smell of acetylene gas out of your clothes.

No motorist is killed who takes two seconds time to stop before he ventures upon a railroad crossing.

NEW MEMBERS

Eric Bennett, W. J. Chapman, Castle Motor Club, Castle Hill Mission, C. W. Covert, Melda Davenport, Edythe Davidson, Elizabeth K. Fowle, Frank N. Johnston, Dr. C. W. Jones, Rev. S. A. Kirkbride, Alisan Leslie.

COURTSEY THUS IF YOU'D VISIT HER MAJESTY

Miss Phyllis Lintott illustrating deportment.

Are you one of those fortunate ones who are "going to London to visit the queen," this season? If so you'd better learn the correct way to curtsey and back gracefully from her presence. Miss Phyllis Lintott, English girl, whose mother has gone through the ceremony of presentation to their majesties, demonstrates the phases of the formality. Reading from left to right: Entering the reception room; preparing to curtsey; making the obeisance; backing away from the throne.

Faculty Changes Rushing Season

Westminster Fraternity Rushing Season To Take Place Earlier

(Special to The News.)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15.—Fraternity and sorority rushing season at Westminster college will be earleir in the first semester starting next year following action by the faculty of the college. Presidents of the five fraternities and the seven sororities sent a petition to the college faculty which was considered and granted this week.

This past year the sororities pledged members just before the Christmas recess, while the fraternities were not allowed to pledge new members until just previous to the Easter recess. Under the new plan, both the fraternities and the sororities will "rush" and pledge new members after the first nine weeks of the first semester.

Legislation on the part of the college faculty three years ago made it impossible for fraternities and sororities to initiate students until the sophomore year. This action was later modified so that first-year students were not allowed to be initiated until the end of the freshman year. The new rushing and pledging season will not, however, alter the rule on formal initiation.

Still, Brooklyn isn't the only place where the robins would be downcast if they had to roost in the cellar.

The landlord's policy has some merit. If there were no children, there could be no future landlords.

HADASSAH TO HOLD SALAMAGUNDI PARTY

New Castle section, Junior Hadassah will hold a Salamagundi party at the Beth Shalom center, 205 Boyles avenue, on May 24. The Agenda Club of this city has been invited to attend the affair.

One nice thing about daylight saving time—the ball games are over in time for you to hold a post-mortem before dinner.—The Madison, Wisconsin, State Journal.

TASTE OF FOOD IS IMPORTANT FACTOR

According to a well known director of the psychological laboratory of Colgate University, the taste of food is more important in determining digestibility than its appearance, and sweet tastes, especially, are by far the great stimulators of gastric juices. We also are told that taste is just as important as vitamins and calories.

It is only natural that when you prepare a meal that you expect your food to be tasty. And, too, its appearance means a lot to you. If you visit our market we can serve you meats, vegetables and other food-stuffs of the finest quality. Our meat is a tasty, delicious meat with the savory flavor—and our displays always appear inviting. You need not be ashamed to serve our meat at your next dinner. Come in tomorrow. For your convenience we list our Saturday specialties.

Alumni Banquet Of Harlansburg High Held Next Friday

Banquet, Homecoming Of Graduates Will Be At Liberty Grange Hall

For some years past it has been the custom to hold a banquet and home coming of all graduates of the Harlansburg high school, so that they may have the opportunity to renew friendships and recount experiences of former days.

This year it has been decided to hold the banquet at the Liberty Grange Hall on the New Castle-Harlansburg road at 6:30 Eastern Standard Time. All graduates, their husbands or wives or immediate friends are cordially invited.

Those who completed the short course which existed for several years lately are also included as graduates and invited to attend. Any one who is a graduate or completed the short course and did not receive a special invitation due to any errors in the alumni records or on account of changes in address will notify the secretary, Mrs. Willard Harlan, New Castle, R. D. 4., or F. E. Potter, Ellwood City, Pa.

It will be necessary that any reservations be in not later than May 20th.

A short business meeting will be held when officers for the following year will be elected after which a program of entertainment and social time will be enjoyed by all.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

That was the strangest display of royalty the world ever saw that wended its way over the duty hills from Bethany to Jerusalem that first Palm Sunday in what is generally called Jesus' "triumphal entry" into the capital city of Judaea. A Galilean carpenter, who has lately turned from His carpenter's bench to teach religion, sits astride an awkward donkey colt and rides at the head of a noisy procession of Galilean peasants armed with palm branches and shouting "Hosanna to the Son of David, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord. Hosanna in the highest."

A King—Oh, Yes?

Imagine the proud Roman governor Pontius Pilate or King Herod of Galilee out for an early morning drive in their chariots confronted with this strange pageant of royalty. What a joke either of these personages of royalty would have made of the Galilean pageant! How they would have sneered at the idea of royalty combined with simplicity and humility! With what sneering contempt they might have laughed and shouted, "A King—Oh, Yes?" A successor to King David, Oh Yes?" This was exactly the contempt with which the King was met as He entered His capital city and proceeded to exercise His authority in cleansing the temple of those who had changed it from a house of prayer to a place of merchandise and a den of thieves. But the glory that was Pilate's and Herod's and the Caesars' has long since betrayed its tinsel nature, while the glory of the humble Nazarene has waxed brighter and brighter through 19 centuries as succeeding generations have proclaimed him "King of Kings and Lord of Lords."

Enthroned in Heaven.

Last Thursday the Christian world celebrated again the ascension of this King into the heavenly Jerusalem, which was His real "triumphal entry," not marked by His own tears or the fickle plaudits of His attendants or the carping criticism of His enemies as was that first triumphal entry into the earthly Jerusalem. "Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord; peace in heaven and glory in the highest." Thus the hosts of heaven took up the psalms of the first Palm Sunday at His ascension and continue His praise continually.

Withered Palms.

Five days after the "triumphal entry" one might have found the palm leaves withered and torn in the duty road from Bethany to Jerusalem. But their withering would only have been a symbol of the short-lived "Hosannas" of many who on Good Friday were shouting "Crucify" as lustily as they had shouted "Hosanna." How is it with our praise of this "Lord of lords and King of kings", as our Golden Text calls Him? Do our coldness and indifference replace the hostility He met in His capital city and mock the idea of His Kingship? Or with lives as well as lips do we proclaim Him "Lord of lords and King of kinds?"

(The international uniform lesson for May 17 is Luke 19:29-42, 45-48, the subject being "Jesus Enters Jerusalem as King", and the Golden Text, "Lord of Lords, and King of Kings," Rev. 17:14.)

Hall Returns From Convention

Also Attends Hearing On Garnishee Bill Before Senate Committee

Ray F. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange, has returned from York, Pa., where he attended the sessions of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Pennsylvania.

The sessions were extremely interesting and a great amount of business was crammed into the first two days of the convention in order that a majority of the managers of the various credits bureaus comprising the association, could go to Harrisburg to attend the hearing on the Garnishee Bill, now before the state legislature.

This bill, which would enable merchants to garnishee the wages of workers in the state for legitimate purchases, is strongly backed by the Associated Credit Bureaus, as well as various merchants' organizations.

In addition to Mr. Hall, those from New Castle who were in attendance at the hearing before the Senate committee, were Frank Hill, Matt Honkonen, Mike Crisci, Clem Crisci, John Wasilewski, Everette Anderson, and John McKenzie.

Unemployed Are Operating Mine

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 15.—A group of previously unemployed miners are now independently operating the Franklin P. Gowan mine, a pioneer operation of the mining industry in this section.

The miners leased the old workings under the royalty plan and are obtaining a fine grade of coal, which is sold as "run of the mine" product.

The mine is located on the Marshall tract and was named in honor of the former president of the Reading Railroad and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, at that time operated jointly.

The property extends from the west bank of the Shamokin Creek 250 yards back into the hills through a "buggy" gangway equipped with air holes for ventilation.

Nuremberg To Show Paintings And Altar

(International News Service)

NUREMBERG, Germany, May 15.—The Germanic museum will hold during June, July and August an exhibition of Nuremberg painting of the period from 1350 to 1450, down to the epoch of Wilhelm Pleydenwurff, Albrecht Duerer's great predecessor.

The chief exhibit will be the altar of St. James, dating from the period between 1350 and 1400, which has been freed by a lengthy and delicate operation from two pictures that had been painted over the original.

The half century from 1400 to 1450 will be presented by a number of altars from the district around Nuremberg which are known to only a very limited number of expert researchers.

All of them were painted in Nuremberg, where a large number of studios devoted themselves almost exclusively to painting altars and pictures of saints for the churches in and around the city. The famous Tucher altar in the Church of Our Lady in Nuremberg is one of the last works of the period before Pleydenwurff.

Second Attempt, And Wedding Is Legal

(International News Service)

BUCHANAN, Mich., May 15.—Grouped in the parsonage of Rev. A. Watkins, of Dowagiac, near here, friends of Miss Helen Rose and Lyle Rice witnessed the marriage ceremony of the young couple.

Congratulations were in order—but were hushed by a statement from the minister that "you are not married. The wedding is null and void."

Explained, Rev. Watkins pointed out that the marriage license was issued in South Bend by the clerk of St. Joseph county, Indiana.

Undaunted, the young couple, Rev. Watkins, and the witnesses autoed to a point just over the Michigan line into Indiana and the second wedding of the day took place under a large oak tree.

Memorial Day Plans Completed

Will Announce Speakers For The Various Schools In Few Days

Plans for Memorial Day are fast being completed by the committees in charge, but little remaining to arrange.

The plans for the program on Memorial Day, have already been completed as was announced last week. The various units which will decorate the cemeteries have been assigned, and all that remains in connection with the observance of the occasion is the assigning of speakers to the different schools of the city.

The veterans organizations are naming their representatives for this purpose, and they will be assigned to the different schools. An announcement of the program for the schools is expected to be made within the next few days.

Present plans call for a Memorial service on the Sunday before Memorial Day, which will be preceded by a water service at the North street bridge.

On Memorial Day, there will be a parade, forming at the Legion Home Association Building, which will march to the Opera House, where exercises will be held. The orator of the day will be Rev. Reese T. Williams.

Following the exercises at the Opera House the parade will reform and march to Greenwood cemetery, where exercises will be carried out at the Soldiers' plot. Transportation will be provided for the Civil War veterans, their wives and widows, and disabled veterans of the later wars.

CONNECTICUT'S SHORT
(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn.—Connecticut will fall short of her estimated income by almost $5,000,000 in the next two years, according to an opinion by the state board of finance. In making up the state budget for 1932-34, the board of finance has estimated corporations would pay $4,800,000 in taxes but now the board is compelled to revise the amount to $2,600,000. That is the heaviest single cut in income.

Fiction Is Wanted For Y. M. C. A. Camp

Directors of the Fred L. Rentz Y. M. C. A. Camp on the Slippery Rock creek are seeking books for campers this year. Books of adventure and outdoor life are needed. Books that are donated to the boys will be used in the boys' work department of the "Y" during the winter, and at the camp during the camp season.

Boys' Work Director W. A. Thomas said today that a new room has been reserved for a boys' library in the boys' department.

Knickerbocker Degree Staff Team In Charge

New Castle P. H. C. Members Are Entertained By Staff On Wednesday

No social event could have been more delightfully arranged than when on Wednesday night following the business meeting held by New Castle Circle No. 5 Protected Home Circle, the famous Knickerbocker degree staff members were hostesses to the members and friends who filled the Circle chamber for the card party which closed with a dainty lunch served by a splendid committee. While the business session was brief many important matters were disposed of and an excellent address was given by State Deputy M. M. Henlein who with his wife were special guests from Erie. The feature of the evening with cards and bingo brought many compliments for the degree team known as royal entertainers upon such occasions and their hospitality has won for them countless friends both in and out of the Circle Chamber. Truly their captain, L. E. Dandy, has every reason to feel proud of his wonderful team.

With 20 tables in play for cards, and 12 for bingo beautiful prizes were won with the door prize awarded Past President Helen Hurst.

The first ladies prize for 500 went to Mrs. Gladys Drain and the 2nd to Mrs. Mae Hawkey. Ray Finnegan carried off the 1st gents prize and Harry Mehlman the 2nd. For bingo Mrs. Flo Hunter received the 1st ladies prize and Mrs. Kate Cowles the 2nd; 1st gents prize Wm. Ickes, 2nd Jame Ickes.

Arrangements are now in progress for an unusual program to be presented by a troupe of thirty recognized artists at the next regular session of the Circle May 27th. There will be no admission charged and an open meeting is announced.

LILLIE B. JONES, Secretary.

Scalding Bladder Passages Checked Or Costs Nothing

Simply because you are middle-aged or older is no reason why you should suffer the tortures of painful, scalding urinations and sleepless nights.

Even if you've tried treatments and medicines without securing relief, you can check the worst pain and discomfort with Wildunger Tee, a simple herb preparation from Germany in which is combined valuable mineral salts from the famous Wildunger Bad. What is more, unless you are positively delighted with the relief you get from Wildunger Tee, return the empty box and get your money back.

A well-known New York doctor while traveling in Germany was so impressed by the results obtained by kidney and bladder sufferers that he brought Wildunger Tee to this country. Now you can get it right here.

You owe it to your loved ones as well as yourself to grow strong as quickly as possible. Wildunger Tee is the first step, and it costs you nothing unless it succeeds. Get it today at New Castle Drug Co., 31 East Washington St. and 11 North Mill St.

— WHEN WE EAT —

Meat, baked goods, fresh fruits, vegetables, canned fruits and and other provisions, some thought should be given as to quality, method of handling, and how they are prepared. Two months ago we opened our market with the thought of handling the best products obtainable and also handle them under sanitary methods and to be careful to buy from dealers who likewise employ sanitary methods. Our experience in the provision business has taught us that one cannot be to careful and we also realize full well the responsibility and confidence our patrons place in us just as soon as they step inside of our store. We handle nothing but branded meat, your protection thru government inspection against inferior quality and your assurance that our meat was in real healthy condition when slaughtered.

For tomorrow we are going to give away several pounds of Swifts Brookfield butter and ballons for the kiddies. You may be the lucky fellow.

Don't forget our sanitary poultry department where our chickens are housed in sanitary coops and fed on oatmeal and buttermilk feed and where you can see your chicken in full health, pep, vim and vigor before it is slaughtered. Come in pick your chicken out and we'll dress it for you while you wait. . This method is your assurance that you are getting a real healthy bird, and you can see that it is prepared the way you like it.

Orders More Seeds For Local Gardens

Many Applications Received After Supply Is Exhausted Wednesday

More seeds were ordered yesterday by the committee in charge of the local gardening project, after the supply of 400 packets containing a veriety of seeds, had been exhausted.

In addition, 25 more bushels of potatoes were ordered for those desiring to plant spuds, making 75 bushels in all.

The demand for seeds has exceeded the expectations of the committee, who felt that the 400 boxes would be sufficient. There are still quite a lot of more beans available for those who wish to plant them, the committee states.

These seeds are being given out from the office of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, the committee which is cooperating including the Red Cross, Associated Charities, Garden Club, and city and county welfare departments.

Tom-Toms Beat As Young Bucks Try Old Dances

TAHOLA, Wash., May 15.—While tom-toms beat and campfires flicker, young bucks of the Queets and Quilayute tribes practice the ritualistic dances of their fathers in this Indian village.

Chief Howeattle of the Quilayutes and Bill Sams, chief of the Queets, are the dancing masters.

And it is all because the whites in August will celebrate completion of a highway looping the wild Olympic peninsula of Washington. Settled only on the fringes, and much of it unexplored, the peninsula is the last great area where Indians live as they did in past centuries.

But, Chief Howeattle sorrowfully admitted, the young men of his tribe have never learned the ritualistic dances of the elk hunt and the whale hunt.

"Many of the dances have never been performed in the presence of whites," Chief Sams said. "It will be necessary for us to name interpreters to explain the historical facts in connection with every feature of the celebration."

Thiel College Campaign Rouses Local Interest

Rev. Frederick E. Stough, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, district chairman for the Thiel College campaign, which is now being promoted by the Pittsburgh Synod of the Lutheran church, states today that great interest is being maintained in the series of twenty five district rallies throughout the territory of the Synod. These rallies began on May 1 at Rochester, and will continue until May 22, closing at Wheeling.

The rally for the local district will be held Tuesday, May 19, in St. John's Lutheran church, of which Rev. F. E. Stough is pastor. Rev. Henry H. Bagger, president of the Pittsburgh Synod and Dr. E. Clyde Xander, president of Thiel college will be the speakers.

This district includes on the committee, Rev. F. E. Stough, Rev. J. L. Miller, and Rev. L. A. Fritsch of Youngstown, Ohio, and L. A. Haug, Jr., and Dr. W. C. Burchfield of this city.

Use Traffic Light In Boiling Eggs

BOSTON, May 15.—Mark Twain might have written it thusly:

Two red lights for a soft-boiled egg.

Cook to the taste of the customaire.

John F. Hurley, municipal traffic engineer, reported today that he had discovered a chef in a lunch room who was using one of the city's newly installed automatic traffic lights to cook eggs by. According to the chef, the intervals between flashes of the light outside of the restaurant coincide with the degrees of boiling required by his patrons.

Fines Brother In Traffic Court

(International News Service)

VAN NUYS, Calif., May 15.—The age-old law of brotherly love has no place in Judge Clifford Thompson's court. The judge's brother, Dr. R. L. Thompson, was cited into court for speeding. The traffic tag also said the doctor's car was without a tail light.

Ordinarily Judge Thompson suspended tail light tags.

"Five dollars for speeding and $2 for the absence of tail light," the judge ordered.

"And now doctor, the last time I was ill do you remember what you prescribed for me?" Judge Thompson asked.

"Sure I do. I made you take a dose of castor oil," Dr. Thompson declared.

"Yes, I can taste it yet," the judge grimaced. "Next case."

Mine Tradition Upseld In Hunt

CARBONDALE, Pa., May 15.—An old tradition of anthracite mining was sustained here recently in the recovery of the body of a mine accident victim a month after death.

The Hudson Coal company, owner of the Powderly mine where the accident occurred, kept a double shift of men steadily employed in removing the debris from the tunnel to reach the body of the missing miner.

Exactly one month to the day after the fatal accident, in which two others were killed, the workmen recovered the body.

Anthracite producing companies spend thousands of dollars annually in upholding the tradition that has become a cardinal rule of the industry—the principle of recovering the bodies of all mine dead.

While in some cases, such clearing away of debris to reach a body has its practical as well as its sentimental basis, the companies have maintained their tradition even in cases where the wrecked section of the mine will no longer be used, according to miners.

Driving Judge Ruined Chances

HAVERHILL, Mass., May 15.—Fred Paradis, taxi-cab driver, was arraigned before Judge John J. Winn, charged with speeding.

"I was traveling no faster than when I took you down here this morning," the defendant told the judge.

"Are you the driver who took me to court?" the judge asked.

"I am," the defendant assured him.

"Guilty. Ten dollars," said the judge.

CHARLES M. KNOWLES TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

While attending the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Knowles Thursday afternoon in the First Baptist church, Charles Knowles of 511 East Main street, was overcome by a nervous attack and was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Reports from the hospital this morning show him to be in fairly good condition today.

Educator Urges Use Of Talkies In Classroom

By JOHN GOETTE

PEKING, May 15.—From a Chinese educator just returned from Harvard comes the sweeping suggestion that the college and university of the future should abolish the lecture system and install the "talkies" in their stead.

Dr. William Hung of the American founded Yenching University here, who is himself a graduate of American institutes of learning, declares that "the lecture system is unsatisfactory for it cuts in on the time of the professors for research or individual conferences with students and for the latter it is an evil since sometimes the lecture is good and the lecturing poor, the lecture poor and the lecturing good or sometimes both are poor."

"Let us propose that colleges begin to avail themselves of the mechanical development in the art of the talking screen," urges Dr. Hung. "Let the educators begin to study how the talkies might be substituted for classroom lectures."

The picture "With Byrd at the South Pole" was cited as an example by Dr. Hung in that less than two hours' time it was possible to see and hear what the reading of several articles and the listening to several lectures could not give.

"I should like to imagine my self to be a sophomore in one of future college where the talkie had displaced the classroom lecture," continued the Chinese educator. "On Tuesday morning, while I am shaving, I would notice that it is Shakespeare day. While I am eating my breakfast I would begin reading Hamlet. I would find that Hamlet doesn't taste half as well as my omelette. Nevertheless, as I have been told that Hamlet is better for my education than omelet is for my health, I would struggle to read it through.

"From ten to twelve I am in the talkie-hall with comfortable seats, perfect ventilation and perfect acoustics and I meet the world's best Shakespearean players on the screen playing Hamlet. While I eat my lunch I would reserve my opinion of the morning; for now my ham isn't half as good as Hamlet. I read the play again with understanding and appreciation and then go to the professor's discussion on it where I would not act like a dumbell or talk like a fool.

"Ungrudgingly I will call off a game of five hundred and spend my evening in writing a paper on Hamlet as ordered by my professor. "Unless I aspire to be an authority on Shakespeare, I shall not need to work any more on Hamlet except perhaps a few days later to ask the professor a few questions on the criticism he makes of my paper."

Scientist Nets Rare Fish Eggs For Brain Study

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., May 15.—Possession of the only known collection of embryos representing to medical research the lowest construction from which the human brain has been evolved, is the claim of Dr. J. Leroy Conel, member of the medical faculty at Boston university.

Approximately 100 specimens of bdellostoma (seal eel) eggs, each about the size of a kidney bean, constitute this invaluable collection used in the study of the development of the internal structure of the brain.

Dr. Conel spent an entire summer trawling every day with 1200 hooks, about two miles off the coast of Monterey, Cal., to obtain the embryos, which he claims to be the only ones in existence.

The eggs with their embryos represent the lowest living vertebrates in working out the evolution of the human brain. To date the development of the internal structure of the brain of bdellostoma has yet to be fully described.

The only other possessor of a similar collection was the late Dr. Bashford Dean, curator of fishes in the Natural History museum, New York City. This collection contained only fifty embryos collected by a Chinese fisherman thirty years ago, and these are now in the possession of Dr. Conel who is engaged in research on this subject.

Dr. Conel is planning a trip to Nova Scotia to search for the eggs of myxine, bdellostoma's first cousin found only in Atlantic waters. During the past century, according to Dr. Conel, European scientists have sought the eggs of this species unsuccessfully and with expenditure of huge sums of money. A prize to the discoverer of these eggs, issued by the Academy of Science in Copenhagen in 1862, is unclaimed.

New Magnetic Discovery Made

PARIS, May 15.—Dr. Jean Charcot, a French Arctic and marine explorer, recently read a paper before the Academy of Sciences embodying findings which would indicate a complete reversal of magnetic inclination and declination.

Dr. Charcot's paper was based upon observations, made with his expeditions by Professor Chevalier of the University of Nancy and Professor Mercanten of the University of Lausanne.

These scientists studied lava formations in Iceland and the Faroe Islands dating from the Tertiary Period. As is well known, the magnetic elements in lava are preserved as of the time of the eruptions which produce the lava, and the scientists have deducted that in the Tertiary Period magnetic inclination was precisely the opposite of what it is today.

TAILORED SUITS ARE FEMININE

There is nothing hard and fast about the new tailored suits, declares Lucien Lelong, famous Paris dressmaker. They are 100 per cent feminine. They have slightly flaring or pleated skirts. Their packets are semi-fitted and often cut away. Two of his creations are sketched here. Left, a tailleur of fancy navy and white woolen; right, a white pique waistcoat and matching flower worn to freshen up one of the tailored suits.

Will Complete Pennsy Track Job In 15 Days

Schedule Calls For Placing Six More Miles Of E. & P. Rails

OFFICIALS INSPECT NEW IMPROVEMENTS

Approximately six more miles of rails must be laid by the Pennsylvania's giant rail-laying crew along the northern end of the New Castle-Erie branch before their month and more of service on E. & A. division territory ends, officials at division headquarters here today said.

The right-of-way improvement work commenced near the Harbor bridge several weeks ago and has continued five days a week since that time, a week or so having having been taken up by replacing rails along the E. & A. low-grade branch from Wampum to New Brighton.

Officials See Job.

General Superintendent P. L. Grove of the Lake Grand division, from Cleveland, here chiefly for general inspection purposes, visited the scene of repair operations just outside of Linesville this morning. He was accompanied by Superintendent H. T. Frushour, Division Engineer J. S. Gillum and others.

On Thursday the track work was inspected by a former division engineer of the E. &. A., W. R. Hillary, now associated with an engineering firm in New Jersey. G. W. Gray, supervisor of roadway machinery from the Pennsy's chief engineer's office at Pittsburgh, accompanied him.

Division officers said today the work was progressing in rapid order with few delays so far. The work has steadily proceeded and the entire division job, once completed will not have consumed more than the anticipated time.

Employs Near 100.

The crew of nearly 100, together with a crew for cooking and maintaining the camp headquarters, represents the central region and operates as a distinct unit from the division on which they work. Supervisors of tracks for the division, however, are in charge of work while they remain in their sub-districts.

The workmen are replacing 100-pound rails with a heavier 130-pound rail designed to support steadily increasing freight loads and passenger movements.

It is expected the work will be completed within the next 15 days.

Only One Battle Flag Flown In War

Colors Of Sixth Field Artillery Occupied Prominent Place In History

There was only one flag flown in battle on either side in the World war . That flag was the colors of the sixth field artillery, the first combat regiment from the United States on the western front.

In other wars every regiment carried its colors into battle. Colors from Civil war regiments in museums are torn by shell fire, but during this last war only the flag of the sixth field artillery was flown on the battlefield.

The flag was first displayed on the front January 12, 1918, at Sanzey, France. It was next flown in the battle of Cantigny, and its third appearance on the front was during the fourth German drive at Bonvilliers. Its last appearance was on July 18, 1918, after the tide had turned for the Allies. The flag is now in the possession of Col. Thomas J. Dickson of Washington, who was chaplain of the regiment.

Although other regiments displayed no colors during engagements each unit had its flag, and when a regiment was decorated, the medals were pinned to the regiment colors —Detroit News.

Plans To Increase Game Birds Studied

U. S. Biological Survey Cooperates With Sportsmen In Movement

The Bilogical Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture has joined forces with several State Universities and with the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute of New York City to find means whereby some of America's most popular upland game birds may be perpetuated and increased in numbers.

Problems connected with the ruffed grouse, which formerly evisted in great numbers through the Northeast and as far west as the Pacific coast; are being studied in Maine and in Minnesota. The University of Michigan is studying the Hungarian partridge. The University of Wisconsin is studying the bobwhite quail and has found that winter feeding is the best way to protect it from winter killing. The University of Arizona is studying Gambel's quail and that of New Mexico the scaled quail. The Biological Survey is co-operating in the study of all these birds, including their feeding and breeding habits, their food supplies, and their parasites and other natural enemies.

Mill, 219 Years Old Turns Out Product

CONSHOHOCKON, Pa., May 15.—An old grist mill whose ancient water wheel has turned continuously for the past 219 years stands sheltered by a group of massive willows a mile west of town.

Back in 1930 the early settlers requested the council of the province to construct a more direct road to the mill. The petition was favorably received and the road, still in use after 200 years, was constructed.

TITLED PERSON IS LAST TO PAY SAY CREDIT MEN

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 15.—The titled person is the worst debt payer, according to a list prepared by credit men of a prominent London store with the idea of ilustrating the trustworthiness of various classes of society.

Of fourteen professions listed, bank clerks and insurance company employes are given as the best payers, indicating that tradesmen generally and the London stores in particular would sooner have bank clerks and insurance men as customers than titled people or retired professional men, both of which groups come at the tail end of the list.

The reason is said to be that the clerk or stenographer who is in receipt of a stabilized income and a pension to follow is the best and most regular payer.

The full list:

Bank clerks, insurance company employes, civil servants, accountants, teachers, commission agents, architects, dentists, traveling salesmen, newspapermen, lawyers, doctors, clergymen, retired professional men, retired Army and Navy officers, titled persons.

"Bank clerks, employes of insurance offices, and civil servants never ask for more than a month's credit," said the store in explaining the list, "and when they get their accounts payment is always prompt.

"' Superior people' want three, six and even twelve months' credit and then let months go by before they settle up.

"Titled people are the worst in this respect, and next on the list you get the retired professional men and Army and Navy officers who get their pensions or dividends half-yearly or yearly."

Tube Of Chemical Match Substitute

German Company Has Paste Substance Supplied In Collapsible Containers

The first chemical substitutute in many years to be proposed for the ordinary match has been perfected, it is announced by a German dye and chemical company.

Instead of a substance to coat a match head or to be placed on the side of the box for a safety match, the new material is supplied in a collapsible tube, like toothpaste.

So long as this material is in the tube nothing happens. When the user wants a flame the cap is removed from the tube and a tiny droplet of clear liquid is forced out by squeezing the tube in the usual manner. This droplet catches fire as it falls and may be used to light a cigar or a gas stove or the fire in a fireplace or anything else for which matches now are used.

The advantages over ordinary matches are said to be that the new fire paste will provide its droplet of fire in even the strongest wind or when the tube is wet or under many other conditions when matches are useless.

The tube of fire paste is said to cost substantially less than an equivalent quantity of matches and to be more reliable than a pocket lighter. The only criticism is the possible danger of unwanted fires in case the tube leaks or bursts, but even this danger the inventors claim to be able to overcome.

Oldest 'Lifer' Unaffected By 25-Year Limit

Will Serve Remainder Of Sentence In Hos-

WETHERSFIELD, Conn., May 15.—A recently enacted law limiting "life" terms to 25 years will not mean freedom to Connecticut's oldest "lifer," George Rassett of Bridgeport—only a change of home.

Fifty-two years ago, the iron gates of Wethersfield State's prison closed behind Bassett, then 24, after he and Mrs. Lorena E. Alexander had been convicted of killing "Stuttering Jack" Weinbecker, Bridgeport town character, in order to sell his body to Yale medical school. Mrs. Alexander died at an insane asylum.

Today Bassett, a broken, harmless old man, bowed by the weight of 76 years and more than two-thirds of a lifetime in prison, wanders unhindered through the prison. He calls it "home".

The 25-year law will not bring Bassett's release, Warden Charles S. Reed said. Instead another law enacted by the general assembly this year will enable prison authorities to realize a long-felt desire to send him away to a hospital for insane convicts, where his eccentricities can be humored with less interference with prison routine.

Transfer to the hospital will put an end to a long series of appeals by Bassett to the pardon board. He has petitioned for freedom 25 times, but always the board has refused him, more in kindness than in desire to keep in bondage.

As far as prison officials know, Bassett has only one living relative, a sister living in Chicago, but she never has communicated with him. Many years ago she sent a request that her brother's body be sent to W. L. Ward of Seymour when he dies.

Twice during the first 30 years of his incarceration, Bassett was sent to the Middletown State hospital for the Insane, but both times he was returned as "normal". Finally he was placed in the small insane ward of the prison and relieved of all normal duties of a convict.

Good Will Program At Senior High

City Wide Good Will Day Will Be Observed Monday With Program At 8:30

The various organizations of the city and all those interested on World Peace will assemble in the Senior High School Monday evening, May 13, at 8:30 p. m. for the observance of World Good Will Day.

This day commemorates the beginning of the First Hague Peace Conference and is expressive of the efforts of the people throughout the world to promote a feeling of confidence and understanding.

The essential feature will be the presentation of a model assembly of the Eleventh Session of the League of Nations by the students in Miss Elsie Calvin's Democracy classes of senior High School.

Local Women Named To Office

Mrs. Frank Fischer, Park avenue, president of the Randolph Circle of King's Daughters, was named vice-president of the Pennsylvania State Organization of King's Daughters, when they held their annual meeting this week in the Presbyterian church of Franklin.

Mrs. Ira Fulkerson, Edgewood avenue, was re-elected to the state board.

The local delegates were Mrs. Ira Campbell, Mrs. Andrew Reider, Mrs. Frank Street, Mrs. Charles Long, and a number of other members from New Castle attended.

Mrs. Fred Derby of Narbeth presided at the three day session and Mrs. Morris Leibert, the international president, was the guest speaker.

The next annual meeting will be held at Chambersburg, in May, 1932.

Beulah Beach Night At People's Mission

This evening will be observed as Beulah Beach night at the People's Mission on Sampson street, when Kenneth Johnston, a student at the Beulah Beach Bible school will be the speaker.

The Gospel Trio, from the school, will have charge of the musical program, and the four students will demonstrate the splendid work that is carried on in the school.

Thursday evening Miss Margaret Owrey, daughter of Superintendent Owrey of the Mission, brought a splendid message on "Excuses" and the trio sang, with a saxophone solo by Alma Rickle, as a feature of the program.

PLEADS GUILTY TO SERIOUS CHARGE

S. E. Brenneman of Blacktown, Volant R. D. No. 1, was arrested last night following a collision with the machine of Charles Tribby, 929 Warren avenue, at Lutton street and Cunningham avenue, when it was found that he was under the influence of liquor and had two bottles of wine in his possession. He was taken before Alderman Walter T. Hamilton this morning, where he entered a plea of guilty to the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor made against him by Chief of Police C. C. Horner. He was held for the June term of court.

Features Fail To Identify Criminal

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—You can't tell a criminal by his features, Dr. Leo L. Stanley, San Quentin prison physician recently informed members of the Alturian club here.

Dr Stanley produced photographs of 25 prisoners who had entered San Quentin consecutively, and pointed out that a majority in no way resembled so-called "criminal types." The pictures were made in an effort to check certain widely accepted theories concerning this matter through a "psychological study of physiognomy," Dr. Stanely said.

Most convicts are average looking men he maintained.

Bicycle Accident Prompts Scout To Render First Aid

An alert Boy Scout, Herbert Christman, 1309 Albert street, employed his knowledge of first aid to advantage when a brother scout suffered a severe fracture of the arm in a bicycle fall on Sheridan avenue this week.

Scout David Gatrall of 428 Meyer avenue, who sustained the broken arm, was improving today although the fracture was a painful one.

Scout Christman saw the accident and responded to help his friend without delay. He utilized his emergency splints and then hurried to a phone and summoned a doctor.

But when the physician arrived the scout was also on the job, assisting him just as ably as he could. He remained with the doctor until the fractured bone had been re-set.

Gatrall's parents were appreciative of Scout Christman's resourcefulness and pointed out that it's just another case where the Boy Scout movement in general merits commendation.

City Ready To Exchange Library For Post Office

Council met today in the city building and adopted Councilman Genkinger's resolution which extended the authority to the library board to negotiate with the government for an exchange of the library site for the post office site. Council had already promised the board that the city would "go along on a fair exchange."

The resolution was passed following the appearance of Frank Hoyt and James Foster.

Hoyt asked if the library board had received permission to proceed and if it could do so legally.

He was answered in the affirmative and Foster told council that it would be an economic move for the city if an exchange could be made.

DOG BITES MAN; ORDERED TIED UP

C. Charlebois of 514 Young street, reported to the police last evening that while walking along at Albert street and Sumner avenue, that the dog of A. T. Building Of Big Dam, Brings Desert To Life

Boulder Canyon Is Lively Place As Plans Progress For Starting Of Dam Work

Highest Dam In World Is Planned — Engineers Have Air Of Confidence

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The desert has come to life at Boulder canyon on the Colorado river in the far west, where the federal government is undertaking the building of the highest dam in the world.

Bronzed engineers, who have built dams in nearly every part of the globe, are rolling into the camp being laid out on the Nevada side of the river, with Arizona just across the deep canyon.

Again the spirit of adventure is abroad, as laborers who have gone from job to job in the mountains or the desert are flocking there for another chance to pioneer.

This is the picture brought back to Washington today by Louis C. Cramton, former Michigan congressman, who is special attorney for the interior department, charged with the legal phases of the new Boulder City town site.

Monumental Work.

Cramton warned there is a plentiful labor supply, but he also returned enthusiastic over the monumental work being undertaken.

Already the Union Pacific has built a railroad across the desert from Las Vegas, Nevada, 25 miles to Boulder City. A railroad is being constructed down the steep slopes to the dam site. A cement highway is being built from Las Vegas.

Engineers of the Six Companies, Inc., which has contracted to build the dam in seven years for $49,000,000, are preparing an office building, dormitory and mess hall. Materials are being gathered for the dam.

The dam itself will be 582 feet above bed rock, and will go 153 feet into bed rock. Canyon walls rise hundreds of feet above the river.

"Engineers believe the dam is entirely feasible and are not worried at all about it," said Cramton.

The Colorado river, he said, is quiet at the dam site. When the dam is completed, a lake 115 miles miles long will be created.

French Women Aid In American Hospital

(International News Service)

PARIS, May 15.—Pleasant proof of French-American cooperation comes by way of four hard-working French women who are collaborating in the laboratories of the American Hospital at Neuilly.

They are helping to make all kinds of tests and experiments together with American and French doctors and aiding in the most recently discovered appliances, blood chemistry, bacteriology and seriology.

Special yellow-fever experiments are under way. For these the organs of the animals are procured at the Pasteur Institute.

Attached to the laboratory is a room containing two-score rabbits and guinea-pigs, inoculated in various ways. One of the latest experiments has been the injection of a streptococcus culture from an infected tooth root into a rabbit. Soon the symptoms of a sick human appear in the animal. He develops rheumatism in the knee or arthritis, or perhaps dies. An autopsy is performed and perhaps a cure for human beings found.

Writer Says Duels Still Being Fought

(International News Service)

PARIS, May 15.—The duel is not dead in France in spite of what some of the papers say. On the contrary, it was never more alive than at the present time according to a writer in "Candide." He reports no less than four important duels during the past week end even goes as far as to print the names of the opposing parties.

The duel still endures, the writer reports, although now the fashionable gentlemen do not come to the meets in tall silk hats and black redingote. Photographers are no longer convoked but all this takes away nothing from the seriousness of the duel today.

The causes are generally small bar-quarrels which cannot be brought the courts, lovetiffs caused by jealousy, misinterpretations of one's talents, or lack of them—all of which merit at least two or three bullets lost in space.

Policemen Usually Right, Says Official

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., May 15.—Connecticut has been investigating complaints that police of other states discriminate against Connecticut motorists.

"In experiments conducted to see whether such discrimination exists, none has been found" says Robbins B. Stoeckel, state commissioner of motor vehicles.

"Many years of experience and evidence brought forward by many friends convinces me the policeman is justified in ninety-nine percent of all cases," the commissioner said, and added:

"The police especially motorcycle officers, are consistently long suffering and kind. A tour of five states recently confirmed this, the courtesy of all officers being a matter of comment."

BISHOP WOULD TRY NEW GOVERNING PLAN

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 15.—A board of 20 members serving full time could govern the state of Colorado more efficiently and economically than the present legislature of 100 members which meets once in two years, according to Bishop Irving P. Johnson. The bishop is a member of the state board of corrections which has charge of the state penitentiary. "I think it would be a good idea," he said, "to replace the legislature by a board of 20, paid an adequate salary, so they can give their whole time to work."

Washington And Jefferson Plans For Commencement

Entire Program This Year Will Be Carried Out On College Campus

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 15—Present plans calls for the entire commencement program of Washington and Jefferson College here to be held on the College Campus. The first exercise of the commencement schedule will be the baccalaureate services on Sunday, June 7, at 11 a. m. in the college chapel. The Rev. John Brooks McIlroy, pastor of the North Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, will deliver the sermon.

On Monday, June 8, class reunions will be held on the campus. Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Baker will be on hand to receive the alumni and an informal dance in the gymnasium has been practically assured.

Commencement exercises proper will take place on Tuesday, June 9, at 10 a. m. Professor Alexander P. Kelso, of Southwestern College, Memphis, Tennessee, will deliver the principal address. Invocation will be pronounced by Rev. G. P. Rowland, whose son is a member of the graduating class. Each of these three theologians will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Circulation High At Public Library

Books Circulate 24,194 Times In Month Of April, Librarian's Report Shows

Books of the New Castle free public library made 24,194 trips in April, Miss Alice Sterling, reported to the board of trustees at their meeting this week.

As per usual, fiction proved itself more popular than the non-fiction and in that one month 11,807 books of adult fiction, 1,965 books of adult non-fiction and 39 foreign books circulated among New Castle readers, making a total of 13,811 adult books circulating.

For the juvenile department, the circulation report is as follows: juvenile fiction, 6,811: juvenile non-fiction 3,573, total juvenile, 10,384.

Librarian Reports Branch Circulation

The following report is submitted by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, on the book circulation of the five branches of the New Castle free public library during April, 1931.

Branch circulation (total)—12,399
Mahoningtown—2,866.
Jameson hospital—365
South Side—4,372.
East Side—4,350.
New Castle hospital—446.

Books Added To Public Library

By purchase, gift and subscription, 378 books were added to the New Castle free public library during the month of April, according to the report of Miss Alice Sterling, the librarian.

Sixty were donated, 316 were purchased and 2 were secured by subscription. During the month 587 books were catalogued and 265 were discarded.

OVER TWO HUNDRED NEW BORROWERS IN LOCAL PUBLIC LIBRARY

Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, announces that there are 239 new borrowers to the New Castle free public library, added during the month of April, 1931. Of this number, 120 are adults, 119 are juvenile, making a total of 13,040 borrowers to the New Castle library.

There are now a total of 7,478 adult borrowers in the public library now, and 5,562 borrowers from the juvenile department.

Rheumatism Goes

Swollen Joints Vanish

How To End Rheumatism In Less Than A Week

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff inflammed joints, it's because your system is full of the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless. What you need is RU-MA, and need it right now.

RU-MA acts on the blood, kidneys and liver, and helps drive the dangerous rheumatic poisons from the system through the natural channels of elimination—it eases pain the first day.

You must use an internal medicine to free the joints and muscles of crippling stiffness, soreness and torturing pain. That's why RU-MA succeeds while external remedies and pain deadening drugs give only temporary relief.

Eckerd's, New Castle Drug Co. says no matter what kind of rheumatism you have, or how long you have suffered, try RU-MA—it must completely end all rheumatic agony or you get your money back.

Predicts Roumanians Want Republic, Carol Should Give Up Throne

Konrad Bercovici, Arch-Critic Of King Carol And Queen Marie, Speaks

Says Country Seething With Unrest Since Spanish Revolution

(International News Service)
By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 15—If King Carol does not get off the throne of Roumania very soon—look out for another great European War.

In picturing Roumania as the touch-stone of a huge international conflagration, Konrad Bercovici, arch-critic of Queen Marie and her son Carol, predicted a revolution in his native land before the end of 1931.

Carol Should Quit

"If Carol has enough sense—and I doubt it—he will proclaim a Republic immediately and make himself president," said the noted Roumanian author in an interview on Thursday.

"If he does not—then will come the revolution. The establishment of a Spanish Republic is having a strong effect on the masses of the Roumanian people who hate Carol.

"And when the Revolution occurs in Roumania—anything may happen. Russia is hungry to get back Bessarabia which was awarded to Roumania for her part in the world war. Roumania also got one-third of Hungary and the Hungarians are watching their chance.

Carol Is Greedy

"In fact, King Carol may throw his country into a war just to save his throne. He isn't concerned about anything other than that."

Bercovici listed the cause which will lead to the revolution as follows:

1. Dissatisfaction throughout Roumania with the monarchy because it has made the country ridiculous in the eyes of the world through its family intrigues and scandals.

2. Royal extravagance which has put a heavy burden on the shoulders of the people.

3. The selling of monopolies on the industrial and agricultural resources of Roumania.

Revolution Forseen

Bercovici said that King George, of England, forseeing the possible international complications of a Roumanian revolution, had been bringing pressure to bear to keep Carol on the throne.

The Roumanian author was amplfying statements contained in his latest volume "that royal lover" to be published tomorrow. He was attacked and severely injured in a park here not so long ago. He claims it was by emissaries of the Roumanian royal family.

Bercovici is wearing a steel-corset and is having his home guarded. He said that when his book is published he would be "put on the spot." If he dared to return to Roumania—before the predicted revolution.

Marie hasn't regained her power over Carol as yet but she may—because she and her clique control the finances of the land," he said.

King Ferdinand was dead for two weeks before it was officially announced, asserted the author.

"It gave Queen Marie time to make the proper arrangements to prevent the return of Carol," said Bercovici.

Runaway Teams Still Cause Deaths

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kas., May 15.—Motor transportation is not the sole cause of traffic deaths, according to a report issued here. Last year there were fourteen deaths in Kansas in vehicular accidents not including autos, railroads or airplanes.

Six persons were killed by runaway teams. Four met death when vehicles were overturned. One man received fatal injuries when the wheel of his wagon struck a rut and threw him out. One was killed when he was caught by a clothesline and jerked from a wagon. Another met death when he was crushed between a load of hay and the side of a barn.

Liberty Grange To Meet Tuesday

Program Will Be Carried Out In Connection With Meeting

Members of Liberty Grange will hold their next regular meeting in their hall on Tuesday evening, May 19. The topic for discussion during the evening will be 'Farm Management."

During the lecture hour, the following program will be carried out:

Roll Call—Women, One Trick or scheme to save labor in the kitchen: Men—One thing to do to save time and labor with the chores.

Discussion—Methods of eradicating the obnoxious weeds, the use of chemicals in the extermination of weeds, Clarence Boyles

Talk—Housing and caring for the farm tools, C. N. Emery

Question—Which is the more economical, tractor or horse power, R. E. Spear

Talk by County Agent—Essentials in farm management

Is it best to save our flowers and vegetable seed—Mrs. Livingston

The juvenile members are busy practicing for an entertainment they hope to be ready to put on some night soon.

There will be a memorial service held at the grange hall on Sunday evening, May 17 at 8 o'clock. This will be conducted by Rev. St. Clair.

Child Feared He Was Adopted Son

Morbid Fear Is Assuaged When His Mother Produces Birth Certificate

Many excellent reasons why parents should make sure that their children's births are properly recorded have been advanced, but it remained for a Capital district mother to find a new and very important use for her son's birth certificate.

The nine-year-old lad, the youngest of three children, had always stood high in his classes and was unusually bright for his age. Suddenly he became morose, apthetic and dull. He was treated by several neurologists but without apparent benefit. The mother, believing the trouble lay in some suppressed emotion, questioned her son closely for several days.

At last, after much coaxing, he broke down and said he had been reading about adopted children and was sure he was one. He was heartbroken and would not believe his mother's statement that he was her own son. In desperation she finally got his assurance that he would believe the facts stated on his birth certificate signed by the family physician. A copy was obtained from the state department of health and the boy soon after retained his normal condition—From Health News.

GUM STRANGLES FEED LINES

why TYDOL Gasolines are 99 28/100% Gum-Free

1. SELECTED CRUDES
Crudes selected for their cleanliness are "multi-fractionated" by super-refining equipment costing millions.

2. "GUM-TAPPED"
In towering fractionation stills of the most advanced type, the gum-carrying gasoline is drawn off for re-distillation long before the refining process is completed.

3. GUM-FREE BLENDING

SCIENTIFIC TESTS EXPOSE HIGH GUM CONTENT

- 3 ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "X."
- 2 7/8 ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "Y."
- 1 3/4 ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "Z."
- 1 1/8 ounces of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "W."
- 1 ounce of GUM in 10 gallons of Gasoline "Q."

...but TYDOL Gasolines are 99 98/100% Gum-Free

GUM . . . black death to motors . . . rides in every gallon of improperly refined gasoline that you buy . . . Strangling feed lines. Fouling and sticking valves. Stealing power . . . Upsetting performance and inviting repair bills.

You may run into gummy gasolines any time . . . and where you least expect them. Just because a gasoline is clear doesn't mean that it's also gum-free . . . Make sure you're playing safe. Side step the dangers of gum. Use Hi-test TYDOL.

For Hi-test TYDOL Gasoline is 99 28/100% GUM-FREE.

QUERY.

A machine manufacturing company engaged in making heavy-hauling pulleys for shipment to teak and mahogany forests in Tasmania, received an order recently for heavy logging machinery from a Tasmanian concern. To the order was attached the query:

"How many elephant power in your largest pulley?"

WHY HUSBANDS AGE.

I was telling that to The Duchess and when I got finished she said, dipping her zwieback in her pea soup:

"Where is Tasmania, darling?"

If I ever slay that woman I'm going to call upon the tens of millions of readers of this column to testify in my behalf.

Be ready. The call may come any day.

WAZZAMATTA WITH JAVA?

Do you like cawffee?

Does old Doc. Burkhart say it's bad for you?

(A sneer should be inserted in this place.)

What does Doc Burkhart know about cawffee?

I don't care how long he's been rollin' pills for the family. I don't care what he did for Aunt Emma or Uncle Parker. He'll never know as much as Doc. John A. Killian, director of the department of biochemistry at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital.

If Doc. Killian wasn't a right smart feller, you don't think, do you, he'd of been asked to speak at the third annual meeting of the American Gastroenterological Association?

Why, Doc. Burkhart couldn't even pronounce the name of the association that Doc. Killan spoke before.

What did Doc. Killian say? I'll tell you what he said. He said that freshly roasted, percolated cawffee is not harmful to the digestive organs of the normal person. That the aromatic, volatile substances in fresh cawffee stimulate gastric secretions.

I'll quote the Doc. Listen:

"It makes little difference whether coffee is taken before, during or after the meal, except in the case of really heavy meals. Then, coffee taken at the end of the meal is found to be slightly more beneficial to the digestion."

Perkins, get me a pot of hot cowffee—and step on it, please!

CHEERS FOR CHURCHES.

Twice as much time and money were spent in the motion picture theatres as in church during 1930.

The number of churches still greatly exceeds the number of motion picture houses, 232,000 being spread among 212 denominations, while the number of motion picture houses last year was 21,284.

Sunday motion pictures, baseball, golf, radio and motoring are largely responsible for the falling off in the gains in church membership.

When you stop to think of the odds the churches are facing in this day and generation, you have to doff your lid in acknowledgment of the magnificent battle they're putting up.

UNIQUE AUTHORESS.

Susan Glaspell, who was awarded $1,000 by the Pulitzer Prize Committee for "Allison's House," the "best play of the year," sat the other day gazing out of her hotel window at the swirling traffic. She covered her face with hands.

"I hope never to see a city more than once a year for a few hours," she declared. "I want to get away from people. I live simply and quietly with my husband on a little farm where no one comes. All I ask of the world is peace to write what I choose. I don't want money."

THOSE TOILING DEBS.

The startling discovery has just been made that society girls don't go to work because they are bored with the social whirl.

The Junior Leaguers are lured into punching the time clock because they need the money.

Moreover, it is said, they pinch and scrape to make both ends meet, just like Sadie Ginsburg or Mary Smith.

"I know a lot of girls," said one of these Laborin' Debs who holds down a job in a Fifth Avenue department store, "who buy $18.50 party dresses.

"The average person thinks that Park Avenue girls pay big prices for things; but let me tell you that in the last year they're learned, many of them, to shop around in the bargain departments, just like other girls."

The myth about the debs working because they were bored was bound to be exploded sooner or later. They were being criticized for holding down jobs that other women needed badly—thus we get the truth.

Dryest Season Since 1870 Recorded

(International News Service)

OAKDALE, Calif., May 15.—The 1930-31 season has been the driest in Oakdale since 1849 it was revealed today by Edward Zimmerman, manager of a milling company here, who has records of rainfall for each year since that time. The nearest approach to the present lack of rain was recorded in 1870-71 when but .75 inches fell during the similar period, Zimmerman's records reveal, but .63 inches having fallen this season. Below normal snow falls in the high Sierras have added to the danger of a water shortage later in the year, and Oakdale water district officials declared that all regulations for the conservation of water must be strictly enforced.

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15.—Omicron Mu Gamma, music sorority at Westminster College, has pledged Miss Ethel Denniston, New Castle. Pledging ceremonies took place in the college of music building Tuesday evening.

A party for the senior members of the sorority will be given in the college of music next Tuesday. Senior members are: Claire Gross, Ligonier; Helen Conn, Freeport; Kathryn Johnston, Bellefonte; Beulah Thomas, South Connellsville; and Elizabeth Rose, New Wilmington.

The committee in charge of the party includes: Margaret Reese, New Wilmington; Thelma Edwards, North East; and Carrie Shaffer, West Middlesex.

READING ROOMS ARE USED EXTENSIVELY

There was a reading room attendance of 2,550 at the New Castle free public library during the month of April, according to the annual report of Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

It is estimated that 1,654 used the adult reading room and 896 used the juvenile rooms.

Making Plans For County Convention

Special recognition will be given to the Sabbath Schools of Lawrence County who have met their financial apportionment to help carry on the work of the International, State and County Sabbath School work, at the 93rd Convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which is to be held at the Cathedral, morning, afternoon and evening sessions, Thursday, June 11th.

To give an idea of the work done by the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association which receives support from Lawrence County, it might be well to mention that the members of the State staff travelled 162, 221 miles during the past year holding 2,703 meetings, addressing 1,744 audiences, holding 1,105 conferences and 5,327 personal interviews.

It is interesting to note that the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association is older than the State Association, this year's county convention being the 93rd while this year's State Convention will be the 69th.

The Convention sermon will be delivered by Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the First Welsh Congregational church. This sermon will be delivered at the morning session.

Instead of opening with registration at 9:00 a. m. as usual, the time has been changed to 9:30 Daylight Saving time, which splits the difference between the two times. The afternoon session will start at 1:00 Daylight Savings Time and the evening sessions will start at 8:00 Daylight Savings time.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

New Castle and Loyal Little Lawrence were not a bit backward in showing their preference for the Union Cause during the early days of 1861. On April 22, 1861, the ladies of East New Castle unfurled the National Emblem over the court house with their own hands. On the same day, the National colors were thrown to the breeze from St. Mary's church, then in West New Castle. On the 24th of April an immense mass meeting in the interests of the Union was held on the Public Square. Strong resolutions were adopted.

About this time, the Lawrence Guards volunteered for three months. They numbered 167 men and were officered as follows: Captain, Dr. Daniel Leasure; First Lieutenant, Edward O'Brien; Second Lieutenant, J. J. Cook; Third Lieutenant, John S. King. Two companies were subsequently formed from this group.

A number of additional companies were soon after raised in New Castle and the vicinity. Among these were the German Guard composed of Germans; St. Mary's composed of Catholic Citizens; The Rifle Guards commanded by Captain R. B. McComb; and the Silver Grays consisting of elderly veterans of the Mexican War.

The principal feature of the Fourth of July 1861 was a grand military parade, in which many local military organizations took part.

On October 14, 1861 Frederick Seiffert of this city, was accidentally shot and killed in camp, at the city of Washington, D. C., being the first man killed from this section.

New Castle furnished its full share of men for the army during the Civil War and its people were prompt to answer every call of the country for both men and money.

Insurance Tax May Be Raised

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., May 15.—The great insurance companies in Connecticut may be called upon to help the state raise $4,000,000 needed to meet expenses for the next two years. The legislative finance committee has been asked to report favorably on a bill increasing the insurance taxes according to the market value of the companies' stocks. The taxes were reduced several years ago on a sliding scale, with a reduction effective every two years.

Army Takes To Checkers Game

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 15.—The game of checkers has taken the place of poker-playing, "domino" shooting and blackjack at the army barracks at Fort Rosecrans near here.

The game is unlike ordinary checkers. A huge checker board has been marked on a wall. Cardboard discs hung on pegs take the place of checkers.

Police Officials Held for Murder

As an aftermath of the gun battle near Evarts, Ky., in which two deputies, a commissary clerk and a miner were slain when the automobiles in which they were riding were ambushed and fired upon, three police officials of Evarts are under arrest charged with first degree murder. Photo above shows the accused men being escorted to Harlan County jail by State Troopers armed with machine guns. They are, left to right: Police Chief Asa Cusick, City Clerk Joe Cawood and Al Benson, assistant Chief of Police. All are of Evarts.

Give Needy Children Musical Education

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, May 15.—Underprivileged children of St. Louis will have an opportunity to secure a musical education if the plans of a newly organized committee materialize.

The committee is attempting to raise a fund of $20,000 which, leaders say, will provide instruction for at least 400 youngsters who otherwise would be unable to secure any kind of a musical education.

"Some of these children are talented, some are not; but they all love music, and music brings out their finer character traits, as nothing else will do," J. Lionberger Davis, prominent banker and chairman of the committee, said.

"The foundation is also making a very definite contribution to the recreation field in that it cares for the leisure time of children, giving them a wholesome way of occupying their time. In this particular it is giving cooperation to the park and playground association and other agencies caring for the leisure time of children.

Motorless Planes In First Squadron Flight

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 15—The first squadron flight with motorless planes has been achieved by three gliders of the Student Flyers association of Darmstadt, Germany. The three gliders started together and cruised for some time over the Neckar river near Heidelberg. While two gliders landed thereafter, the third, flown by the young student Groenhoff, of Frankfurt, remained in the air and succeeded in reaching the town of Buehl about 95 miles from its starting point. This is just short of the world's record of 100 miles established by the well-known German glider flyer Kronfeld.

SET SIGNALS BEFORE DEATH CLAIMED HIM

(International News Service)

ALNWICK, Eng., May 15.—Pulled up outside Alnwick by signals set at danger, the driver of the Northumberland express fumed for several minutes and getting no reply to his repeated whistles, decided to visit the signal box. There he found Alexander Hornsby, the 52 year-old Alnwick signalman, dead on the floor of his cabin. Hornsby had set the signals at danger before he expired.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15.—Miss Etta Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, Etna, is one of 100 young people to be graduated at the 79th. commencement exercises at Westminster College on June 8. Miss Walker will be a candidate for the bachelor of arts degree. She has majored in English, and plans to teach upon graduation. Miss Walker is a popular member of her class and is an officer in Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority. She was on the committee in charge of the annual dinner-dance of her sorority held recently.

All Chicago Mayors Find Use For Kelly

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., May 15.—Mayors may come and mayors may go, but John Murphy Kelly apparently goes on forever.

Kelly recently celebrated the anniversary of his appointment as private secretary to Mayor William E. Busse 24 years ago. He has remained in the mayor's office ever since.

When Mayor Busse was succeeded by Carter H. Harrison, the latter retained Kelly as his private secretary. So, in turn did Mayor William Hale Thompson, Mayor William E. Dever and then Mayor Thompson again.

Although Mayor Anton J. Cermak appointed another as his private secretary, he is retaining Kelly as chief clerk of the mayor's office.

Work Cheap Fraud In Name Of Charity

(International News Service)

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., May 15—The country has been overrun with rackets but still another one came to light here when 300 people discovered they had been bilked out of a dollar apiece, with no prospect of a refund.

According to police, a young woman and a man, posing as charity workers, went about the city selling tickets at a dolalr each for a musical concert which they said would be presented for charity by a group of musicians.

All went well and tickets were going good until the couple attempted to sell one to a real representative of the musical organization fraudulently represented. The prospect became suspicious, investigated and found 300 persons had purchased the bogus tickets.

Tarentum Man Collects Canes

TARENTUM, Pa., May 15.—W. A. Hutchinson, Tarentum, who started collecting canes in 1896 has an assortment of 175, the first of which he believes was made from the horns of a bull he saw killed in Mexico City.

The collection includes canes made from wood from all parts of the world. Some are relics of historic value while others are made from woods of landmarks. One was made from wood salvaged from the Columbus prison fire last year.

Hutchinson usually spends from 15 to 20 hours in making one cane. He does not place a momentary value on the collection and refuses to sell it.

In 1906, Hutchinson sold a coin collection for $3,000, he said, and the purchaser later valued it at $25,000. It included three of the rare $3 gold pieces of which only 600 were coined.

TELEGRAPH SERVICE ON GERMAN TRAINS

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 15.—After April 15 telegrams will be accepted for transmission within Germany on all fast trains of the German Railroads Company. The rate will be the usual charge per word, with an addition of 20 pfennigs for each telegram. Telegrams to passengers will also be delivered in the trains, instead of being merely called out at the stations, as has heretofore been the custom.

Slump In Parsons Cause Of Alarm

Scarcity Of Clergymen In British Isles Causes Church To Worry

The church is urgently in need of clergymen. Although the population of the British Isles has increased considerably in the last sixteen years, the number of clergymen has fallen. Today there are fifteen thousand priests as compared with twenty thousand in 1914.

Unless there is a revival of interest in the church as a profession, the numbers will continue to dwindle. Five hundred newly ordained men are needed every year to maintain the figure of fifteen thousand. Yet the average number of recruits during the last five years has been only 390.

Leading churchmen have complained that there are not sufficient young priests. The average age of the clergy is fifty-eight, and it is pointed out that only men who have grown up with modern times can hope to understand and interest the younger generation in the church. Young men, however, are no longer eager to enter the church.—From Pearson's Weekly, London.

Photograph Rare, Protected Plant

(International News Service)

EL CENTRO, Cal., May 15.—A white blossoming ocotillo, a rare desert plant was located on the desert west of here by Robert Hays.

The plant was located near the old Butterfield stage route in the desert. Photographs of the plant were taken but no attempts were made to remove the plant which is protected by the California state law.

Ordinary ocotillos have a bright red blossom and members of the party familiar with desert fauna asserted that a white blossom never previously had been seen.

Plan To Measure Waves Of Brain

German Claims To Have Perfected Machine For Recording Mental Impulses

Records of a philosopher's thinking activity, made second by second during the day and night as engineers keep records of the performance of a great electric dynamo in a powerhouse are promised by Prof. Hans Berger, distinguished phychiatrist of the University of Jena in Germany, by means of a machine which he has invented to register the electrical energy set free in the brain in the course of mental activity.

Similar attempts were made some years ago by an Italian physicist, Dr. Ferdinando Cazzamalli using a radio receiver of special design to pick up what were believed to be electric waves from the brain: a real example of a "brain wave." Difficulty was encountered, however, in sorting out from these waves of "brain radio," other impulses generated by the flow of the blood, the beating of the heart, the action of muscles and other vital activities.

These difficulties Professor Berger believes that he has overcome by a special apparatus using electrodes attached to the body to pick up the supposed brain impulses instead of de-ending on accompanying radio waves. There are still difficulties Professor Berger admits in interpreting the electric impulses from the brain, but it is believed that the apparatus already is capable of providing regular continuous records of the intensity of mental activity.

Nothing of the nature of "thought reading' is anticipated, but it is hoped that these new and purely physical records of brain activity may be useful to psychologists in studying both the nature of thought and of the control of the body by the brain.

LONDON — Twenty-four young people in London, endowed with wealth and the spirit of adventure, have formed one of the most remarkable business organizations yet known. These young people own aeroplanes, yachts, fast racing cars and speed boats. They are ready to undertake any mission, however hazardous, providing it is within the law and the compensation is adequate.

They'll Tell the World

While you're comfortably seated in your favorite easy chair at home listening to the radio, these NBC announcers, engineers and U. S. army men will be flying far overhead, describing in detail the coming maneuvers of hundreds of army ships participating in a huge "air raid" over the eastern part of the country. It will be the greatest military air demonstration in history. Pulses should beat faster and pride in country swell at either the sight or sound of the aerial "war."

Last Of Daltons Advises Against Death Penalty

By GILBERT GORDON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 15.—A tall, physically-trim stranger, wearing a business pepper-and-salt suit, stood before the desk of Governor James Rolph, Jr.

"I'm Emmett Dalton—last of the Dalton boys," the visitor introduced himself.

Governor Rolph's memory flashed back to Coffeyville, Kas., 39 years ago when Emmett, Bob and Gratton Dalton staged a bank holdup which took a toll of eight lives. Bob and Gratton were shot dead, while Emmett recovered from twenty bullet wounds and was given a life sentence.

Emmett was then a 22-year old, two-gun outlaw, and was pardoned after serving 14 years. He's 60 now, still tall and husky, and peacefully rounding out a colorful career as a Los Angeles real estate dealer.

"Sit down—let's talk," Governor Rolph invited. "First, what do you think of capital punishment?"

"I'm against it—it's no deterrent to murder. There isn't any such thing as a cold-blooded murder. If I shot you now, I'd be crazy."

The governor then timidly asked the last of the Daltons if he had ever killed anyone.

"If I ever had, I wouldn't tell anyone about it," was the quick answer.

"If you were governor, what would you do for prison reform?" Rolph then asked.

"The greatest curse is the over crowding of prisons. Every man should have a cell for himself. I also believe in the parole—it puts a man on his honor. Severity of sentence makes a man harder—they give up hope—they are like animals in cages."

Dalton brought the subject back to capital punishment.

"Some people contend that the gallows is a crime deterrent. But the Hickman case was followed by an equally revolting crime in the murder of the little Brooks girl in San Diego. These slayers are all crazy. So was Keaton when he shot Motley Flint."

Governor Rolph then asked Dalton his opinion of restoring citizenship to released convicts.

"I'm in favor of it—it gives a man the hope to begin life anew. They can be made something better than tainted animals. I know. I came back. And so can many of the others."

Ohio State Faculty Votes To Establish Optional Training

Ask Board Of Trustees To Make Military Training Course Optional

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—Endorsing the demands of 700 students., the faculty of Ohio State University today had voted to ask the board of trustees to abolish compulsory military training and make the course optional.

The vote was 83 to 79.

The decision was reached after the faculty had first voted, 88 to 67, to adopt a motion by Prof. C. E. Sherman, head of the department of civil engineering, to table student petitions which had been presented by the campus optional drill league.

Unwilling to see the campaign halted, faculty members favoring the petitions called for a one-minute adjournment. Upon reconvening they moved that the question be reconsidered and succeeded in gaining a four-vote margin for a motion that drill be made optional.

The faculty's recommendation will be presented to the university board of trustees at its regular meeting here next Wednesday.

Reputed Ambridge Bootlegger Shot

Joe Christiana, With Four Bullet Wounds In Head, Is Near Death

(International News Service)

AMBRIDGE, Pa., May 15.—With Joe Christiana, reputed bootlegger, near death with four bullet wounds in his head, police and detectives here were working today on the theory that Christiana's shooting was connected with two other unsolved fatal killings here, believed the result of gang warfare.

Christiana, his car riddled with bullets and severely injured himself following the attack in Monaca, drove eight miles to his home before collapsing. He has refused to discuss the shooting, police say. He has served a term for a liquor law violation.

Social Accomplishments—Couples will soon be celebrating their golden divorces.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Discouraged Father Asks For Advice

Dr. Myers Advises Mental Test For Unruly Boy

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"Dear Mr. Myers: I am a farmer. I have been reading your articles on the Parent Problem. I have intended to write you, but have been putting it off. I have a parent proolem which I wish you would answer in the paper, so that perhaps some other fathers with the same problem may be helped, too.

"I have a ten-year-old boy in the fourth grade at school. He frames up all kinds of excuses to keep from going to school; he doesn't get his lessons, his grades are bad, very poor all the time. I've tried to teach him division for months and he knows no more about it now than at first. The teacher says he is just a dummy. He does all kinds of things at school and when the teacher whips him he'll laugh about it; don't seem to realize what the punishment is for. I took him to the doctor and told him the circumstances.

"The doctor examined him and said he is not mentally bright. He has an awful temper, matching his red hair, I guess. I have other children, who do much better in school work than he does, although they are not A pupils. When he does naughty things and I whip him he will get up and 'sass' back at me. He is always doing things to get other people into trouble.

"I try to talk to him kindly but it does no good. He has to be forced to do everything he does. I see other children bright, entirely different to him, and it makes me sad to know mine is like he is. Neither his mother nor I had much education.

* * *

"Not so very long ago we went to visit my wife's relatives, and this lad stole some things from the home and put them into his pockets; we found it out after we got home. It makes me ashamed to go back there. People are afraid to have him around; he has scarcely any friends at school. It seems no one likes him, not even my own folks. He will do things and then lie about it, even though he knows he will be caught. I have him help me plow and feel maybe he can be taught along farm lines. Then I think, well, we have a fool in the neighborhood, an idiot. He gets out and plows, harnesses teams, etc. The older he gets the worse he grows; that is what worries me. No matter what I do he shows no improvement.

"I have told you the plain facts. Now, what would you do?"

* * *

Answer: If I were you I should not bother this boy about school. If the truant officer forces him to go then you would better take him to Indiana university, which is near your home, and ask a psychologist there to give him a mental examination and advise you. Just address a letter, "The Department of Psychology, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.," and ask for an appointment and what the charge will be.

Don't whip him. Encourage him to do the things on the farm he can do well and praise him for his small successes. The chances are he does not try to be stupid, but is very slow to learn.

Perhaps he makes so many failures and is nagged so much by every one that he is driven to do bad things. No one can be good without feeling that some one loves him and cares for him.

Of course I know he must vex you often and that you have many heartaches, but please remember, he is your boy and that no one else in the world has an opportunity to do so much as you can do to help him.

Ready To Dedicate Buildings At Muncy

(International News Service)

MUNCY, Pa., May 15.—Dedication of the Frank Smith and the Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley buildings at the State Industrial Home for Women here will be held May 16, it was announced by officials of the institution.

The new buildings have been named in honor of the president judge of Common Pleas Court Number 5, Philadelphia, and the former state secretary of welfare. Judge Smith was a member of the original legislative commission which selected a site for the home, opened in 1920.

At present, there are accommodations for 125 inmates at the home. The institution, operated on the honor system and without walls or guards, is used as a detention home for incorrigible girls and for both major and minor women lawbreakers.

Education Now Big Business

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 15.—Higher education was termed big business in the newest and most vital phase by Dr. E. H. Lindley, chancellor of the University of Kansas, in addressing 400 professional men here.

He supported his assertion with the citation of statistics to show that educational institutions of the United States have enrolled more students—approximately a million—than do the schools of all other countries.

Annual budgets of many of the larger institutions now exceed $10,000,000, Dr. Lindley said in supporting his idea of the "bigness" of education as a business.

"Big business has found that business itself is so technical it requires university training to conduct it," he said. "The university man has to be a freshman when he starts in business. However, having started, his success will be speeded up by his university background. There is competition for our best men at the University of Kansas. We can't supply the demand."

Mother Disowns Her Freak Calf

SILTCOOS LAKE, Ore., May 15.—A heifer calf with heavy, broad shoulders of a cougar and small ears pointing backward has been disowned by its mother here. The calf was born in the rain and left there, the mother refusing to nurse it. It's face is broad and flat, with three long sharp fangs in the front of the mouth and two on the left. It gives the impression of a cougar's head and shoulders mounted on a calf's body.

Tobacco Workers Will Have Music

(International News Service)

RED LION, Pa., May 15.—Cigars made by contented workers may soon be a slogan of a local tobacco manufacturing company.

Believing efficiency of workers and their peace of mind is greatly increased by music, the factory will install a radio set on each working floor. Daily programs will be heard by all workers. The innovation has won praise from employees.

Power To Remove Traffic Lights Given By Bill

State Can Now Remove Lights Which Do Not Come Up To Requirements

MANY ARE FOUND TO BE UNNECESSARY

PITTSBURGH, May 15—Power and duty of removing automatic signal lights which do not meet state requirements are given to the Department of Highways in the proposed Motor Vehicle Code changes now before the legislature, the Pittsburgh Motor Club pointed out here today. The present code does not give the department specific power to remove signals.

Last year traffic counts were taken at 757 automatic signals located on state highways. A total of 448 had sufficient traffic to justify their operation and 309 were disapproved by the highway department. However, many of these signals have not been removed and continue to cause unnecessary delays to motorists. The state requirements for automatic stop-and-go lights are 500 vehicles on the main highway and 125 vehicles or 250 pedestrians per hour on the intersecting highway.

The Pittsburgh Motor Club has asked the legislature to pass the proposed Motor Code amendment ment which reads as follows:

"The Department of Highways shall have authority over the installation, location, operation and maintenance of all signs, signals and markings on state highways in townships, cities, boroughs and incorporated towns where such highways form connecting links between or continuations of state routes.

"The power and duty of removing altering or adjusting any signs signals or markings which do not conform with requirements is given to the department of Highways.

"The Secretary of Highways and local officials in their own jurisdictions shall have the authority to cause the removal of all colored or flashing light signs, or other lights or signs so located as to interfere with traffic or to be confused with or to obstruct the view or effectiveness of official signs, traffic signals or markings."

Parents-Teachers Have Fine Meeting At Slippery Rock

Other News Notes Of College Town—High School Banquet

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, May 14.—The Parent-Teachers Association met in the demonstration room of the new training school Monday evening with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. B. H. Dimit was in charge of the meeting. The program opened with two selections from the College Quartette accompanied by Mr. Seiter.

A reading by Miss Vera Pizor was well given. A violin solo by Hulda Headland accompanied by her sister, Anor Headland was well received. Dr. Hockenberry was present and talked on the baby clinic and also introduced Miss Riva who has recently been appointed as county nurse in northern Butler county with headquarters in Slippery Rock, who spoke briefly of her plan of work. A fine demonstration of first aid work was put on by a group of boy scouts under the leadership of Charles McDonald and Clyde Double. Mr. M. A. Gibson connected with the boy scouts work spoke on the value of the training received by the boys in this work.

A splendid demonstration of Indian life was put on by pupils of the third grade, under the direction of Miss Nina Salsbury. The officers elected for the coming year was as follows: president, Mrs. George Campbell; vice president, Mrs. Paul Hill; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ray Wilson.

Following the meeting all were invited to inspect the new health room in the high school building where refreshments were served by the social committee.

Much credit is due the president, Mrs. Dimit and her splendid executive committee for the success of the past year.

ATHLETIC BANQUET

The athletic banquet of Slippery Rock high school was held on Tuesday evening in the social room of the Presbyterian church. THREE BRANCHES OF LIBRARY MAKE BIG GAINS LAST MONTH

A gain of 103 percent was made in the May, 1931 book circulation at the Jameson Memorial hospital branch of the New Castle free public library, over the circulation of May, 1930, according to Miss Sterling, librarian.

The South Side branch office of the library made a gain of 29 percent and the East Side branch made a gain of 23 percent. The Mahoningtown branch lost 12 percent.

Too Many Cooks Spoil Chicago's Economic Broth

By WILLIAM J. KOSTIKA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Ill., May 15.—Chicago's metropolitan area, made up of a maze of 1,700 local governments, could save $50,000,000 annually if the numerous and overlaping civic bodies were consolidated, several reports on the waste caused by duplication in governmental organization pointed out recently.

The saving of $50,000,000 to taxpayers was pointed out by an aldermanic subcommittee appointed to study the possibilities of consolidating local municipalities. The committee recommended that the city council request the state legislature to call a constitutional convention to make the necessary amendments to reduce the number of governments.

The committee's report stated the cost of government has increased from $10.10 per capita in 1913 for the United States as a whole to $52.43 in 1926 and expenditures of local governmental agencies in Cook County, in which Chicago is located, jumped from $142,000,000 in 1920 to more than $350,000,000 at the present time.

Robert F. Steadman, formerly of the University of Chicago and now on the faculty of Syracuse University, in a book called "Public Health Organization in the Chicago Region" made the revelation that there were 1,700 separate governments for a population of 5,000,000 in the metropolitan area. These he said, included 1,000 school districts, 326 150 drainage districts.

An analysis of 1930 fiscal records by a local newspaper, made the startling claim that approximately $156,000,000 in public funds was wasted last year because of general duplication of governmental bodies within Cook county. The paper declared that eight of the major tax spending bodies in paying nearly $10,000,000 for engineering services for $85,000,000 worth of improvements were forcing the taxpayers to pay twice as much as they would if the engineering staffs were consolidated into a unit.

Michigan boulevard, the report pointed out as an example, as far north as the famous link bridge was built by and is supervised by the South Park commissioners; the roadway over the bridge itself was laid by and is under the jurisdiction of the city; and Michigan boulevard north of the bridge was built by and is under the supervision of the Lincoln Park commissioners.

During the past month three of the principal governing organizations have been working on budgets for the 1931 fiscal year. All show great increases. The budget of the city of Chicago with a total of $173,000,000 compared to $150,000,000 for 1930 shows an increase of $23,000,000. The budget of the Cook county board faces an increase of more than $6,000,000 while the school board of the city has approved a budget that is $5,000,000 greater than last year.

Shows 20 States Had Repeal Bills

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15.—Bills to repeal or modify state prohibition enforcement laws have been introduced this year in 20 state legislatures, according to a survey of the American Legislators' Association.

In nine of the states, Iowa, Missouri, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma South Dakota, Utah, Vermont and Washington, the measures have been defeated on the floor of one house.

In Indiana, Nebraska and Pennsylvania the repealers were killed in committee. In Illinois, a repeal bill, passed by a substantial margin in the house but by a small majority in the senate, was vetoed by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson.

The Legislators' Association's shows that five states have repealed their laws for dry law enforcement. They are New York (1923), Nevada (1923), Montana (1926), Wisconsin (1929), and Massachusetts (1930). Maryland has never adopted a state enforcement statute.

Horse Car Back On New York Street

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The old horse car came back to life in New York for a day. The oldest horse-drawn car in the country, built in 1862, drew a crowd as it was driven two blocks across 59th Street and ran up against the modern traffic cop's whistle at Park Avenue. It was noted the horsecar made about the same speed as the electric trolley.

Beautiful but Far From Dumb

Beauty is merely one of the attributes of this lovely German girl, Fraulein Gina Falkenberg, of Berlin. In addition to being Germany's woman golf champion, she holds the amateur championships for swimming and hurdling, a record that explodes the "beautiful but dumb" fallacy beloved of our cynics.

Fruit Grading Has Dual Value, Report States

Buying Of Fruits Under State Protection Offers Advantages

HARRISBURG, May 15.—Buying of fruits under state inspection offers advantages to both buyers and sellers, M. E. Knouse, vice president of the Pennsylvania Canners Association, said in a report made public by the Bureau of Markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

"First, the advantage for the buyer: The buyer can figure cost very accurately because he knows exactly what each grade will yield whether he puts it in barrel, basket, box or can, and that every pound of apples that is put in is exactly what he has paid for.

"Secondly; the advantage for the seller: The seller knows that he will be paid for exactly the quality of apples he delivers to the plant, whether he sends his son, hired man, or the transportation company to the plant. It is not a question for the grower of dickering on the value of the load. He knows that he has sold and that he is getting the same price for his fruit that his neighbor is getting, whether he is a large grower or a small grower, as one price list is used and given to every grower."

Knouse's company, as well as all other larger operators in the canning belt of Pennsylvania, purchased practically all of their fruit under this system last fall and found it satisfactory, according to the Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets which furnishes the inspectors to grade the fruit.

While the inspection service was originally confined to apples and tomatoes, it now includes other cannery products such as cherries, grapes for grape juice, corn and beans. The service has met with very satisfactory results in all these products, marketing officials said.

Clendening Finds New Vegetable

Fennel Recommended For Mankind's Dinner Table

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Last year I descanted on broccoli, a vegetable which made its appearance on American tables only within the last few years. The article met with a wide response. A distinguished lawyer in New York wrote me that he had horbored a prejudice against broccoli until my words convinced him he should give it a try; he is now a broccoli addict.

Feeling that one of the great benefactions that can be bestowed on mankind is a new vegetable, I take occasion to continue my work by recommending another, just beginning to be known among epicures. Like broccoli, it has been eaten for many years in Italy. The Italians call it finocchi or finochio. Its English name is fennel.

It is a plant two or four feet in height, but only the blanched shoots are used for edible purposes. They are something like celery in appearance, the top being green and the business end more bulbous than celery.

Fennel may be served at the same part of the meal as celery. The stalks are crisp and have a distinctive flavor of anise.

My personal preference is for braised fennel. The cooking process is similar to braised celery. The stalks are par-boiled, and then put into a skillet with a rich soup stock and a bay leaf, and cooked in a very low oven, very slowly for two or three hours, basting it occasionally with the broth. Take out the bay leaf and drain off most of the stock to serve.

Another delicious dish is finocchi au gratin. Parboil the stalks and put in a baking dish with a cream sauce and bake very slowly. Just before serving, sprinkle it with parmecin cheese and leave it in the oven a few minutes after the cheese has been put on.

The therapeutic qualities of fennel are much more striking than celery or radishes or other 5 per cent vegetables. It has, as they have, roughage and bulk, and has far more taste. Fennel water made from the seeds has long been used in medicine, as a carminative for the relief of flatulence and gas.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Apple Blossom Show At Johnston Farm

One of the prettiest sights in this section of the country at present, is the Johnston apple orchards on the New Castle-New Wilmington road, which are now in full bloom. By turning in the the brick house south of the orchards, a rear view of the orchards can be obtained. This is really more beautiful than that on the New Castle-New Wilmington road. You miss something if you fail to see this orchard.

The Flower Parade

CUT ROSES
Written for Central Press
By DR. KARL F. KELLERMAN
Bureau of Plant Industry
U. S. Department of Agriculture

Cut roses have a definite place in the Flower Parade that no other flower can fill, and no experience gardener leaves such a conspicuous gap.

Oldest and hardiest of the roses suitable for cutting is the Hybrid Remonant, or Hybrid Perpetual. Although it produces well as a type, it is not so continuous a bloomer as some others, horticulturists of the Bureau of Plant Industry point out. Frau Karl Druschki, Countess of Rosebery, Oakmont, Pius IX, Eugene Furst and Baroness Rothschild are good bloomers. General Jacqueminot and Paul Neyron are also satisfactory, but less productive. American Beauty is a poor bloomer out of doors.

Less hardy are the tea roses. As a rule they are weak growers, although they bloom more freely than the Hybrid Perpetuals. The Hybrid Teas are hardy enough over much of the eastern and central United States. They are free bloomers during most of the summer. Radiance, Red Radiance, several kinds of Killarneys, and Gruss an Teplitz are very satisfactory.

The Baby Ramblers make a good continuous show of clustered blooms. Notable among these are Triomphe Orleanais, Baby Rambler, Mme. Cecile Brunner and Marie Pavic.

The modern garden is just as well off without such old-time favorites as moss roses and the old hundred-leaf roses. They bloom only once and their foliage falls easy prey to disease.

RICE LEAVES FOR CONTEST

Pennsylvania Representative In Cello Contest Leaves For Cleveland

Victor Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Rice of 112 Richelieu avenue left for Cleveland, Ohio, on Friday afternoon where he is competing in the National High School Musical contest which is taking place today and tomorrow. Rise is representing Pennsylvania in the cello contest. Professor Joseph A. Replogle accompanied Rice. He is a student of the New Castle high school.

The PARADE of THINKING BUYERS

is following a Straight New Road to* VALUE

Now, just by asking sixteen questions, you can make sure that you get the most that electric refrigeration can give. Here they are, in the Standard Rating Scale. Read each one of these essential points. Decide if you will take an unfavorable answer to any of them. Then see Kelvinator, and ask us the questions. That's the short and straight way to make a lifetime decision with unerring accuracy.

• STANDARD RATING SCALE for Electric Refrigeration

- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)
- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?
- Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frosted" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?
- Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?
- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours.)
- Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?
- Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
- Can the refrigerator top be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being re-arranged?
- Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?
- Has the experience of users over a long period of years proved the refrigerator long-lived and dependable?

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

FEED SMALL FRUIT WELL TO GET GOOD BERRIES

Small fruits, like tree and vine fruits, need proper nutiition. They must make adequate growth if profitable crops are to be harvested.

Unquestionably, vigor plays a very important part in heavy production. Some growers feel that clean cultivation and a light application of stable manure are adequate for rasberries and blackberries. In some sections where the soil is highly fertile this treatment may be sufficient, but under clean cultivation it is doubtful if this treatment will continue to produce heavy crops.

Most plantings will respond to liberal applications of concentrated fertilizer. An application of 150 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia should be applied if possible. Where other nitrogenous fertilizers are applied they should be used in amounts proportionate to their analysis.

To apply a complete or nearly complete fertilizer it is suggested that the nitrogen be applied early in the spring to promote growth, and that superphosphate at the rate of 200 to 250 pounds per acre be applied at the time the cover crop is sown between the rows immediately after harvest.

Commercial fertilizer alone will not maintain production. Organic matter should be given just as prominent a place in the cultural scheme as the commercial fertilizer.

ANNOUNCES FARMERS' FIELD DAY PROGRAM

Farmers' Field Day at State College, June 10 and 11, will offer a wide variety of useful, timely information to farmers and homemakers. Demonstrations, exhibits, and talks will tell the story of successful practices.

On Wednesday evening, June 10, the event will open with a program of entertainment. On the following day there will be full programs in agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, forestry, fruit growing, ornamental horticulture, vegetable gardening and plant breeding, poultry husbandry, and home economics.

PLANT MORE VEGETABLES IF SPACE IS AVAILABLE

Several valuable vegetables not commonly grown are recommended to gardeners who have more space than needed for the ordinary crops.

Broccoli (Italian Green Sprouting) is being used to some extent as a substitute for early cauliflower. It is necessary to harvest the green shoots before the blossom buds open or the stems become tough. Otherwise, the culture is exactly the same as for early cauliflower.

Lima beans require a warm, mellow soil in order to get a good start. Some growers cover the seed with woods soil or composted manure mixed with light loamy soil. Others place a strip of black paper over the seeds until the beans break through the soil. Paraffined paper plant protectors also help, provided ventilation is given by making a small hole in the leeward side.

Kohl rabi may be sown early and plantings made until the middle of July or the first of August. The plants are thinned to stand four inches apart in the row. The thinnings may be transplanted. The "knobs" are harvested when two inches or less in diameter and are eaton raw or cooked much the same as turnips.

Table Queen, Acorn, or Des Moines pumpkin, commonly called squash, is good to eat in summer and can be stored for winter. They can be cut in half and baked, stewed, or made into pies. Another kind of summer pumpkin is called Vegetable Marrow and another, the Cocozelle. These grow on bushes. Straightneck is liked by some who grow a surplus for market. Blue Hubbard has gained popularity as a winter squash.

Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach, not over 10 feet row of each, will provide greens for summer and fall. Soak the seed of New Zealand squash in water before planting. King of Denmark or Long Standing Bloomsdale spinach may be planted at about 3-week intervals until August, if a continuous supply of the dwarf or true spinach is preferred.

PROTECT CHICKS FROM WASTE FEED AND WATER

Danger lurks in the bare areas around water fountains and feed hoppers. Here the greatest amount of contamination is likely to be found.

To prevent pullets from picking up waste feed and water accumulated on these spots, feed and water containers can be placed on frames made of 1 by 4-inch boards covered with hardware cloth. To keep puddles from forming, a hole one foot deep can be dug in the ground and filled with coarse material, such as cinders, broken stone, or gravel.

CHANGE PASTURE AREAS TO PROLONG USEFULNESS

Good grazing depends on adequate root growth. If the grass is pastured too early and too closely throughout the season, the roots are weakened and production greatly reduced.

Grass should have considerable size and substance before livestock are turned on and it should never be pastured into the ground if it can be avoided, particularly late in the fall. Summer silage or supplementary crops for pasture or soiling will save the pasture and help to maintain production.

On the other hand, the grass should not be allowed to get hard nor go to seed. With adequate spring pasture areas are allowed to grow up coarse and are never grazed later. Mowing the pasture once or twice helps to keep down such areas as well as to prevent the growth of large weeds and briars.

Where there are two or more pasture fields, however, if the stock can be confined on one long enough to graze it off evenly and completely and then moved on to another, the first will have a chance to recuperate and come on evenly. Such a system to prevent over grazing of some spots and waste of others as when stock are given access to the entire area at once or where one pasture is used during the day and another at night.

SHEAR WOOLS PROPERLY AND STORE THEM RIGHT

Pennsylvania wool producers will shear approximately 3,250,000 pounds of fleece this year, says W. B. Connell, sheep and woolextension specialist of the Pennsylvania State College. This clip will be taken off in the next six weeks.

To increase the value of this clip, Connell offers a few timely suggestions. "Always have the sheep dry before shearing. Damp wool can cause trouble for either the producer or the purchaser. The shearing floor should be clean. Remove all foreign material from the fleece before rolling.

"Tie each fleece separately, flesh side out, with paper twine. This twine can be obtained from most hardware stores and from local merchants. Sisal twine should not be used.

"After the wools are shorn they should be stored in a dry place. The basement should not be used for this purpose.

"If these few suggestions are followed the wool clip will be more profitable to producer and purchaser," says Connell.

American Duchess

Having obtained a decree of separation from his former duchess in a Vienna court some weeks ago, Archduke Leopold of Austria (lower), whose engagement to Mrs. Alicia Coburn, of New York and Canada, was recently announced, is expected to lead his American fiancee to the altar in about three months at Paris, France. Both are well known in New York.

Old Superstition Shatters Dream Of Young Co-Ed

Miners Will Not Work Underground After Woman Has Entered

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—Dreams of prospecting for gold, bossing diamond miners and prowling around dark, musty mines have been shattered by superstition for a young Ohio State co-ed.

Miss Miriam L. Barker, Cleveland Heights, enrolled in the Ohio State college of mining engineers when she was only 17 years old, with a determined ambition to make these dreams come true.

After a quarter of hard study she discovered that a superstition nearly as old as the history of mining blocks her path to realizing her ambition. Miners, the old saying reveals, will not work underground after a woman has set foot in the mine.

Some miners will wait a year and then try their luck, after a girl has entered a mine, but there are a few who will never enter it again.

Miss Barker says the superstition arose from a number of mine disasters which occurred hundreds of years ago following the inspection of a mine by a woman.

When she first heard this story, Miss Barker decided to go on studying and disguise herself as a man, but she concluded that this would never do. She then decided to do the next best thing and spend her life working in the office of mining engineers.

But she knows this would be too tame. Now the disappointed co-ed is seeking some equally interesting and exciting work.

Members of New Castle Lodge, No. 195, I. O. O. F., and all Odd Fellows of the district will attend the services held Sunday evening in the Epworth M. E. church. It is anticipated that a considerable number of the members of that fraternal organization will be present at the service at which Rev. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of the church, will deliver a special sermon in keeping with the occasion being observed.

Tabulates Facts All Parents Know

(International News Service)

ATHENS, Ga., May 15.—When your young son and heir wants to throw rocks at the chandelier, don't get discouraged.

For there are pust 21,123 other ways he can annoy you.

At least that is the way Dr. Mandel Sheram, director of the child research center, Washington has figured it out.

Dr. Sherman arranged for 32 parents to keep tabulations on their children's annoyances to gain his figures. Each parent carried around a notebook and jotted down every act of their children which annoyed them.

Disobedience was the principal item, but included in the lists were lack of neatness, to neat, slowness, too much alertness and just general "orneriness."

Dr. Sherman said the education of young people for parenthood would solve the problem of unruly children.

LOCAL BOY GETS AN ADVANCEMENT

Word has been received here to the effect that Andrew J. Vargo, who joined the United States Navy July 1, 1929, has been rated as a third class petty officer. He is now stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. In letters sent to his home here, he speaks very highly of the navy.

Free Hotel For San Rafael Hoboes

(International News Service)

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., May 15.—The problem of keeping an eye on the army of hoboes who visit this town during their migrations hasn't been hard to solve.

The traveling gentlemen have their own hotel, the "Stumblebum Inn," on the outskirts of town. As a result of the "Inn" beggars have vanished from the streets of San Rafael.

An old abandoned ranch house, large and spacious, was turned over to the hoboes by its owner and is now headquarters for hundreds of homeless wanderers.

Hugh McCurdy, a police officer, supervises the hotel, but it is kept spic and span without his orders. The guests of "Stumblebum Inn" are particular about their home, and they take meticulous care in keeping it clean.

Wealthy San Rafael families have instructed their grocers and meat dealers to allow Policeman McCurdy credit at thier expense and provisions are thus provided for the daily "sundown mulligan" at which usually a score of men gather about the pot.

Protest Closing Of Harmony Route

WARRENDALE, Pa., May 15.—A meeting to protest the closing of the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle railway, was held here last night with about forty persons present. No report of the meeting could be obtained as newspaper reporters were excluded. The road is now being operated by a receiver.

Yale To Decide To Misogynist Fund

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—With the rejection by Columbia University of a $25,000 bequest for the purpose of checking the modern feminist movement, a refusal which followed those of Harvard and Princeton, there remains only Yale University to decide officially on the question of accepting the money.

The bequest was left by the late Albert E. Pillsbury, lawyer, banker and author of several books whose home was in Boston, Mass. He left the money for "developing sound public opinion and action' against the modernist feminist movement which "tends" to take women out of the home."

The sum was to provide an income "to be applied by a lecturesh.p or in such other manner as the college authorities from time to time deem most effective toward developing sound public opinion on this subject."

Further, he declared that the "feminist movement has already begun to impair the family as the basis of civilization."

Epworth Church Women Have Beautiful Display Of Quilts

Quilts! Quilts! Quilts! Not even at a county fair any place has one seen such a display of quilts as that gathered in the parlors of the Epworth Methodist church on Pearson street. Over two hundred quilts are hung about the walls, over the railings, draped over chairs and stands, and, in fact, every place one looks in the room quilts meet the eye, and they range in age from ones so modern they are not yet completed, to some that are over 150 years old.

The quilting of the grandmothers of many years ago is quite discernible, as the modern woman does not have the time to put the fine work on the quilts as when the woman had nothing to do with their leisure except quilt. The designs of the quilts vary so there are no two quilts alike in the entire collection; there are wedding ring, sunflower, log cabin, pine tree, basket of flowers, eagle and flag, milky way, courthouse steps, and in fact every kind of a patch that could be thought up is here among the collection.

Notable among the quilts were several made by women when they were past 80 years old, some as old as 90 had pieced and put the extra fine quilting into these beautiful coverings for the bed.

Among the old ones was one owned by Mrs. Jennie Forquer, whose grandmoher, Mrs. Sarah Sankey, who was also an aunt of Ira D. Sankey, had made. She had prepared the flax and carded the wool and woven it into this beautiful blue and white counterpane. Mrs. A. B. Williams had a red and white block quilt on display which was over 150 years old; Mrs. Agnes Rhodes loaned one nearly one hundred years old; there was one 75 years old, made by Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds; the Ladies' Aid of East Brook church had one of the friendship quilts displayed, which was made by them in 1902; Mrs. Charles Siegfried had one there made by her mother after she was 80; there was a light blue satin quilted afghan made by Mrs. Coulthard and brought from South Heaton, Durham, England; Mrs. J. G. Clements had one which was made by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, when she was past 75; a beautiful pink and white log cabin quilt was made by Mrs. Martha Hunter, mother of Mrs. George R. McClelland, after she was 80; Mrs. F W. Tyler displayed one containing 1,521 patches.

In addition to these beautiful quilts in the main room there was a small room where the old hand-made counterpanes were displayed. For these the flax had been raised, the wool carded and the spreads woven by the pioneer settlers; there were several over 150 years old; some of them were owned by the George T. Weingartner family, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Beight and Dr. T. M. Shaffer; the designs and colors were just as bright as when they were woven.

There were some modern silk and velvet comforts in this collection, Mrs. C. C. Harry, Mrs. T. M. Shaffer and Mrs. Ella Meachem being among the exhibitors. One Persian silk puff 75 years old came in for a lot of admiration and another made out of an old Persian shawl. One of the modern ones was the product of a man's hand, being made by Harry Boyles, 484 Neshannock avenue, from squares of silk and tied together with small bows of ribbon.

In addition to the quilts, comforts and counterpanes, there were also some rugs, notable being one woven of goat hair and embroidered. This was brought from India by Edith Imhoff, as was a prayer rug of Persian design. A touch of modernity was found in these in a rug displayed woven from silk stockings. There was a linen bed spread, embroidered and put together with hand-made lace by Mrs. S. L. Maxwell's mother. A number of old shawls and scarfs came in for a lot of attention, as did a silk shawl which was woven in Scotland and brought to America in 1836 by Mrs. R. E. Beight's grandmother.

There was thread of linen, made by Mrs. R. A. Stizinger's grandmother when she was 106 years old. There was linen, hand woven, over 90 years old. There was a table cover of hand woven line, and then there was also on display the instruments used in making the flax, carding the wool and shaping candles, which were used as light in the old days.

Horse Training Old Occupation

Czech Professor Asserts Ancient Hittites Devised System Centuries Ago

Horse training by the Hittites must date back to 3000 B. C., declares Professor Berich Hrozny of the Czech University of Prague, who has just completed a translation of a Hettite inscription of the fourteenth century before Christ.

The inscription relates that the Hittites often put the horses to rapid gallops giving them a more substantial diet than during the training gallop as is done nowadays. It may be supposed that this system of training had been completed when the Hittites, about 2000 B. C. invaded Asia in war chariots drawn by horses which until then had been unknown in the Near East.

As their system was undoubtedly the result of many experiments it must date back to about 3000 B. C. One can understand how a people possessing horses so trained were able to vanquish Essyria, Babylonia and Egypt, the greatest military powers of the ancient Near East, declares the professor.

Evangeline Booth To Deliver Address

Will Make Appearance In South Jefferson Street In June

Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation army, is coming to New Castle and on Sunday, June 14, will make a public address in South Jefferson street, it was reported during council session at the city building today.

During the session Ensign Thomson, in charge of the local Salvation army branch was granted permission to have a platform built in South Jefferson street immediately below the Diamond.

A band of 40 pieces will accompany the commander.

Seeks Reduction Of Land Taxation

Attorney Samuel McCracken today appeared in the interest of Leopold Rohrer, Water street.

He said the assessor had taxed the Water street land owned by Rohrer at $12,000, for 1931.

During the past three years it was assessed at $6,000.

The attorney had previously brought the increase to council's attention.

Building Permits

Clyde Gilfillan, East Washington street; storeroom.

Vernon Clark, 405 Fern street; garage.

J. P. McDevitt, 609 Croton avenue; kitchen.

Your destiny is that of a man, and your vows those of a god.—Voltaire.

Refer Request To Plan Commission

Attorney Frank Hover today represented residents of West North street when council met. He presented a petition which asked that the section of West North street between Sankey and Lowry streets be changed from a C to a local business zone. The request was referred to the planning commission.

Papers Filed To Foreclose Mortgage

Heavy Arrearages Shown On North Mill Street Business Property

Thomas H. Hartman has filed preliminary foreclosure proceedings at the prothonotary's office against Ella A. Cain and the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, guardian. The action is based on a mortgage for $15,000 held by Mr. Hartman on the Cain property at the corner of North Mill and Sycamore streets, the property having a frontage of 18 feet on North Mill street and extending back along Sycamore street a distance of 155 feet.

Miss Cain placed the mortgage on the property on November 4th, 1925. Afterwards she became ill and the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company was appointed guardian. There has been no interest, taxes or insurance paid by Miss Cain since the mortgage was placed and the total amount on which execution will be issued, unless paid, is $20,642.28.

Spiritualists To Meet In Pittsburgh

The twenty fourth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Spiritualist Association will be held in the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, Wednesday, May 20, with a banquet at 7 p. m.

The convention opens Thursday morning, May 21, and continues to the 24, and many points of interest and of vital importance to inquiring minds, concerning the spiritual truths, will be brought up.

The sessions are open to the public, with the exception of Friday afternoon. Prominent workers will be John Slater of San Francisco; Rev. H. W. B. Myrick, Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. M. E. Cadwallader.

There will be special music at each session and it is anticipated that a large delegation of local spiritualist church members will attend.

Move Scout Meet Date To May 23

Postpone Tomorrow's Contest Because Of Junior High Exhibition

Postponement of the spring field meet and round-up of Boy Scout troops of the New Castle district, originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon, was announced today by Scout Executive Herbert Horton. The change in plans was necessitated by tomorrow's field meet of the city's junior high schools at Taggart stadium.

The Scout office requests all troops in the New Castle district to note this, and earnestly asks the troops to plan for the contests on Saturday, May 23, at 2:30 p. m., daylight time. The George Washington field will be used.

Medals and other awards will be given for first places in each of the seven events and all troops having entries will add to their points in the deputy trophies contest.

Commissioner Ralph F. Davis will be the chief judge, with deputy commissioners assisting. C. W. Hicks will be clerk of the course.

Eagles To Name State Delegate

Election of an official delegate to represent New Castle Aerie No. 455, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at the annual state convention of Eagle lodges at Connellsville, June 15-18, will head the order of business for the aerie's meeting Monday, May 18, at eight p. m., fast time.

Other routine matters are to be discussed.

Americanism: Requiring certain fitness in a man who would practice law; permitting any moron to make laws if he can get enough votes.

Paraguay Buys U. S. Automobiles

American automobile factories have the trade of one country just about completely sewed up. The last census of cars, trucks and buses taken in Paraguay shows that 98 per cent of them came from the United States.

According to the report of the American trade commissioner, H. H. Tewksbury, there were only 50 motor vehicles in that country ten years ago, while now there are 865 passenger cars and 772 trucks and buses.

The principal factor holding back the development of this market from it's full possibilites is the lack of good hard-surfaced roads. So far there have been only three major projects along this line, one being the granite road from Asuncion to Trinidad and the other two partially completed macadam roads intended to connect Paraguay and Bolivia, but halted after part of the work was done because of a border dispute between the two countries.

News-Romance Is Revived By Pioneer's Death

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 15.—Back to the headlines on newspapers, which chronicle the day's happenings to thousands of readers, lie many romantic tales in the history of journalism. Few are more interesting than the developing of the methods of gathering news.

Fifty-four years ago, on February, 12, 1877, the telephone was first used to report a news event to a newspaper. This invention revolutionized the news gathering methods of newspapers.

With the death of Henry Morrill Batchelder, bank president, and formerly Salem correspondent for a Boston paper, the incident was recalled. Batchelder reported a meeting at Lyceum Hall, in Salem, where Alexander Graham Bell delivered a lecture on his invention of the telephone. The story was about 850 words long, and so clearly was it received, even with the crude mechanism then used, that only three words were mistaken on the Boston end of the line.

Another romantic incident in news gathering was recalled with Batchelder's death. During the great Salem fire on June 25, 1914, all the telephone wires but one into Salem were wrecked. A Boston reporter got the wire connected with his paper and held it all day. Because he would have to give it up if he stopped talking, he recited passages from the Bible, The Face on the Bar Room Floor, Casey at the Bat, and every other poem he knew, and read the entire City directory, broken up frequently by new developments on the fire, which his assistants gathered and brought to him.

Before the days of press organizations which now pound out thousands of words of news daily from far-away points, and relay them through automatic telegraph machines, over telephone wires, various methods of gathering distant news, were used.

A striking example of this is found in the history of a Baltimore paper. It depended on the pony express to bring the President's message from Washington to Baltimore in December, 1838. During the Mexican War, in 1846, the paper obtained first-hand news of the war with special horse-back riders working in relays.

About the same time, the paper trained 500 carrier pigeons to fly with news items between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and these pigeons were continued in active service until more modern methods of communication replaced them.

Invents Talkies To Cheer Sick

(International News Service)

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal. May 15.—A convict who had never seen a talking motion picture and who entered San Quentin long before they were in vogue has presented his fellow inmates with nothing short of a miracle.

He is Edward Carlton, the prison photographer.

Because of him the tubercular patients in the prison hospital can now "see and hear a 100 per cent talkie."

Four weeks, Carlton worked on a home-made apparatus. A makeshift speed regulator, a second-hand amplifier—a weird phonograph arrangement of his own divising. A net work of delicate wires, hours of patient manipulation to synchronize the sound with the speed of the film.

And it worked.

Carlton has added technicolor to his regular programs for the patients. Recently he showed a technicolor talkie, a musical extravaganza of the Great White Way, New York, and Paul Whiteman, stage stars and dancers, Hollywood and Palm Beach, all rolled into one.

Rubies hold high favor for jewelry in the southern resorts.

Government Trees Planted On Plains

(International News Service)

FORT COLLINS, Colo., May 15.—The great western plains will soon be plains no more if tree planting operations conducted by farmers working in conjunction with state and federal governments, continue at the present rate.

More than a million seedlings are being planted this year for windbreaks and shelterbelts throughout eastern Colorado, Wyoming and western Nebraska, according to estimates of state and extension foresters for these districts.

Last year Colorado farmers planted 153,000 seedling trees, Nebraska 860,000 and Wyoming 87,000.

Through co-operation with the federal government state foresters in these states are able to sell seedlings to the farmers at less than actual cost, the loss being assumed by the federal government under the provisions of the Clarke-McNary act.

Ninety-First Division To Tour Battlefield

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 15.—With relatives and friends, members of the ninety-first division, a branch of the United States' forces in the world war, early in August will leave Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento on a pilgrimage to scenes of the great conflict. The tour will include visits to points of scenic and historic interest, in England, Belgium, France and Germany.

The veterans and their associates will leave California by special train to New York to board the steamship Leviathan for Europe. Other members of the famed division in the United States will be privileged to join the tour.

The tour was tentatively scheduled as follows: Party will leave California August 14, other members of the division probably joining the group while enroute to New York August 19 on S. S. Leviathan. Party will disembark August 31 and visit Ypres and Belguim where many of the division's activities took place. They then will journey along the Meuse-Argonne front, visiting Flanders Field and other battle sites of the world war.

The tour also will include visits to the American cemetery at Romagne and other historic cemeteries. A visit will be paid the historic Bayonet Trench where a solid line of soldiers were trapped when the trench walls caved in. Their bayonets undisturbed still project above the ground leaving grotesque proof of the soldier's fate.

The division will return to the United States in September.

Scientist Tests Noise In Railroad Car

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15—Noise tests inside a moving railroad coach to determine how much sound there is to disturb the passengers have just been completed here by Dr. William Braid White, consulting expert for Chicago's recently appointed noise abatement commission.

Using a microphone, an amplifier and a special instrument which permits him to take photographs of sound waves, Dr. White rode in a care of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee railroad between Highwood, Ill., and Kenosha, Wis.

Two trips were made and a comparative study was made as to the value of upholstery in absorbing sound.

Electric Typist Writes Dictation

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 15.—The electric typist has arrived.

Herman N. Tiefenbacher has just taken out a patent on an electric machine which writes down spoken word automatically and without human intervention.

It writes down all languages and all dialects.

The machine writes down everything just as it is spoken, including all mispronunciations and faults of speech. Nor does it care much for spelling.

Therefore, it is necessary for a human typist to rewrite the spoken word into literary language and proper spelling.

It has been decided that nature offers greater dangers to game than to the hunters. But it is pretty well established that the hunters are dangerous for hunters.—The Ann Arbor Daily News.

Give Broadcast To German Jobless

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 15.—Radio free of charge will in the future be supplied to Germany's jobless.

Following an application of the Social Democrats(the Reich Postal authorities, who supervise the broadcasting in Germany, have to allow jobless no longer receiving unemployment doles to listen in gratis.

Predicts Culture For North America

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 15.—The "Iberian culture" of Spain and South America may replace the "mechanistic culture" which finds its greatest development to Count Herman Keyserling, famous German philosopher.

The mechanistic culture, accompanied by an ever growing collectivism not only in Russia but also in America, has produced the greatest material comfort in history, but fails to satisfy the soul, according to the German philosopher.

Therefore, he says, mankind is turning away from the coldly rationalistic intellectualism that deals with the abstract idea of a "humanity," to the purely emotional, personal relationship of family and friends, which may become the basis for the growth of new creative personalities.

Manufacture Cigars In Ohio Penitentiary

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—Ohio penitentiary has a new flourishing industry. It is the manufacturer of cigars.

The new industry, which, incidently, is financed by the state was founded by William Elham, convicted Cuyahoga county murderer. The "factory" was revealed recently when prison officials noticed a number of convicts smoking cigars.

Elham maintains a list of customers and the sale of his wares, it is said, nets him a tidy income.

Young Golfer Gets Rabbit In One

(International News Service)

EATON, Colo., May 15.—Bobby Cooper, 10-year old son of George Cooper, basketball coach at Colorado Teachers' college at Greeley, swings a mean golf club.

In a recent match on the Eaton Country Club course, Bobby and his father were paired against Sig Johnston, Greeley High School coach and Greeley Timothy, Leadville, Colo., coach. Teeing off from the fifth hole, Bobby knocked his ball down the fairway about a hundred yards. The ball bounced once and hit a rabbit, dropping the bunny in its tracks, dead.

CHICAGO, May 15.—If a fox terrier chases cats, is the owner of the dog guilty of disorderly conduct?

Judge Leon Edelman said "No" in answer to this question yesterday when he dismissed such a charge against Mrs. Jennie Middleton preferred by Mrs. Margaret Brown, who complained that "Brownie," Mrs. Middleton's dog, seemed to enjoy chasing her seven cats.

ELLWOOD TEAM HOPES TO WIN CROWN AT PITTSBURGH

ELLWOOD CITY, May 14.—With their eyes on the W. P. I. A. L. crown Todd Lloyd and his Ellwood City high track team will leave for Pittsburgh Saturday morning at 8:00 o'clock to defend their title against competition with 35 other schools. Although ruled a strong favorite nearly in all districts things are not so rosy as they appear. New Castle, Beaver Falls, and New Brighton will do their utmost to dethrone the local team.

Coach Lloyd was taking no chances this week against the team developing over confidence, as he held practice sessions every day except last Monday. Whether rain or shine the team was compelled to go through its rounds. Of course the work was not so heavy as it would be in better weather but nevertheless the boys were not given an opportunity to develop kinks in their muscles.

The best work out of the week was conducted by Lloyd Thursday afternoon on Lincoln field and a short one is scheduled for this afternoon again. The men were put through their paces and timed and then informed what improvement was necessary. All were put through their paces—sprinters, hurdlers, and distance runners.

As a result of this workout Coach Lloyd make his final selection of those to make the trip to Pitt Stadium. Only those who have a chance in scoring will make up this aggregation and are as follows:

100 and 220 yard dash—Welsh and Sheeler.
Hurdles—Strouse, Pander, Kuben.
Weights—Neff.
Pole-vault—Hooker.
Broad Jump—Cavalier.
Quarter-mile—Johnson and Zeigler.
Half-mile—Lincoln and Kennedy.
Mile—Lincoln.

One of Ellwood's favorite races, the shuttle relay is not included in the W. P. I. A. L. Meet. The 220 low hurdles is substituted for this. Also there are no 120 low hurdles race or any dash relays. The trials are scheduled to start at 10:00 a. m. and the finals at 2:00 p. m.

Ellwood will be without the services of last year's point scorers who won the same meet and also the state meet, namely Mike Dunn and Paul MacMurdo who are over age, Kenneth Knight who is not physically fit, and Frank Gross who has graduated. These four athletes copped the W. P. I. A. L. crown with 23½ points last year.

The locals have a well balanced team this year and points should be scored from variable sources. Ellwood will pin its hopes on Ralph Strouse a sophomore, who two weeks ago broke all existing records in the 120 low hurdles in this part of the state, when he was clocked at 13 4-5. He also has a good time in the high hurdles and has remarkably improved this last week. It is hoped that he will lead the way in the 220 low hurdles, a distance he has never run in active competition. Joe Welsh, star sprinter, received some special tutoring in starting by Coach Lloyd this week. Joe lost a close race in the century last Saturday because of a poor start but the 220 yard dash was a different matter after he got started. Sam Neff has never failed to bring in points yet and will be counted upon again in the weight events. Johnson, Zeigler, Lincoln, and Kennedy are the selections for the mile relay if nothing goes wrong. Lloyd and forced to substitute Welsh and Sheeler for the former two last Saturday when they had become ill after a race.

Frisco Airplane Mechanic Builds His Own Monoplane

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—Landing at Bradford field, New Castle, Thursday, from Cleveland, Jack Harper, whose parents reside at Frisco, near Ellwood City, showed airport attendants his own home made plane which he built recently.

The plane, a low-winged monoplane which Harper built for experimental purposes, was piloted by a licensed pilot. Harper told spectators at the field that he expects to build other planes of similar make.

The plane has a landing speed of 20 miles and can average about 85 miles in flight. It employes only three cylinders.

Mrs. E. C. Wright Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—Mrs. E. C. Wright was a charming hostess to the members of her club last night at her home on Foch street when all gathered there for their regular meeting.

The early hours of the evening were pleasantly used around the two tables of bridge at play. Lovely spring flowers were appointedly distributed about the home to brighten the occasion. At the conclusion of the games it was found that Mrs. Earl White was the winner of the club prize.

At an appointed hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Berwick Barton much to the satisfaction of all present.

Mrs. Tilman Snedden invited the members of the club to meet at her home on Foch street in two weeks for their next regular meeting.

Ellwood Class Tours News Plant

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—The journalism class of the Lincoln high school, under Miss Helen McNitt, were the guests of The News at New Castle Thursday afternoon. The class is an innovation in the school this semester and is proving very successful.

All had motored to New Castle where they were escorted through The News plant by Representative Bart Richards. The various functions and mechanism of machinery used in newspaper publications were explained to the members of the class. Great interest in this procedure was shown by the members.

ENTERTAINS GUESTS

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—Mrs. Cora Tonge of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. A. F. N. Thomas were charmingly entertained at an informal luncheon Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Roland Haines of Fourth street. The former has been a house guest of Mrs. Thomas for the past three weeks and has left for Washington this morning. The guest is a sister of Mrs. Thomas.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Tonge, Mrs. Thomas, and Mrs. Thos. Haines and the hostess. A social period was enjoyed after the luncheon hour.

Mothers-Daughters Dine Last Night

Rev. Geo. M. Landis Makes Principal Address At Gathering

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—The dining room of the First Baptist church was crowded last night as 200 people gathered for the annual fathers and sons and mothers and daughters banquet.

Rev. Bert Edw. Williams, pastor of the church, presided as toastmaster on the occasion. A splendid program was prepared which was started with some congregational singing which was then followed by a prayer led by Mrs. T. W. Bouck. A solo by Aught Mosely and a reading by Miss Margaret Schott caught the attention of the audience.

This was followed by a toast to the sons by John Hough to which Paul Roeloff responded. Then a duet selection was rendered by Miss Zelda Wehman and Miss Leona Davis. Following this Mrs. Frank Kleindienst gave the toast to the daughters to which Zelda Wehman responded. The fine crowd was cleverly entertained when Howell Williams performed some magic tricks.

The feature of the evening was an address by Rev. George M. Landis of the First Baptist church of New Castle. His words carried weight and deeply impressed the aggregation. A solo by Garfield Davis and some more congregational singing concluded the program for the evening. The delicious menu was served then and greatly pleased those present.

The arrangements for this successful affair was in charge of the presidents of all the adult classes of the Sunday school.

Class Makes Tour Of Tube Co. Office

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—The students of the Office Practice Class of the local high school were given a real opportunity, Thursday afternoon as they were privileged to see the office system of the National Tube Company of this city. A complete tour of the place was made and notes were jotted down for further reference. Various equipment such as the dictaphone took the fancy of the future office workers.

Pleasant Hill Grange Events

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—A special feature has been arranged for the Pleasant Hill Grange when the Big Beaver Grange will present their play "No Account David" on Wednesday evening, May 20th.

The play is a clever three act comedy which will captivate its audience from the opening curtain. Some very unusual scenes will be presented that cannot but help acquire the sympathy of the people.

TO VISIT SCHOOL

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay Dunn and Mrs. Eric Dunn left this morning for Hollidaysburg to spend the week end with the former's daughter, Jerry, who is attending Holland Hall School for Girls there.

They will also see the field day exhibition presented by the school while there.

Banquet Event Thursday Night

Mothers And Daughters Have Fine Time At U. P. Church

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—About 160 people were present as the men of the United Presbyterian church were the hosts to the Mothers and Daughters of the church at their annual banquet last night in the dining room.

An orchestra composed of Earl Moyer, Agnes Wilson, Don Cloak, William Minteer, Frank Humphrey, Gerald Wright, and accompanist Mrs. Edward Butler furnished the music for the evening.

Mrs. Joe Young was toast mistress for the occasion. Mrs. George Burrows gave the invocation and started the events for the evening. Miss Bessie Burrows gave the toast to the mothers to which Mrs. Frank Potter responded. Mrs. Laverne Bauder gave a toast to the men of the church for their splendid work in making this affair a success.

The next event on the program was a trio selection by Mrs. Lloyd Randolph, Mrs. Will Ketterer, and Mrs. Will Warnock. This was followed by a duet by Ruth Learsch, and Beulah Hertzog. Mrs. O. C. Ullom gave a splendid vocal solo and Miss Charlotte Davidson drew the attention of the audience with a fine reading. Then Stanley and Chester Wilson favored the assemblage with saxophone duet.

The dining room had been decorated in lovely spring flowers and presented a pleasing appearance.

Mrs. Lorin Springer, Mrs. McCormick, and Mrs. Helma Miller were in charge of arrangements that had made the affair a success.

Chewton School Enjoys Picnic

Teachers Are Presented With Gifts Showing Pupils Esteem

CHEWTON, Pa., May 15.—A very enjoyable event was had by the pupils of the Chewton school, Thursday, May 7. The event was the annual picnic at Buttermilk Falls. The day was spent in games, wading and flower gathering.

At noon the children gathered. Some joined in a wiener roast with cake and ice cream. Others enjoyed a regular picnic dinner.

After the close of the picnic festivities two teachers, Miss Hazel McClymonds and J. B. Houk, were presented with beautiful presents by the pupils. The presents showed the esteem in which they were held.

The school closed Tuesday and the harmony which exists between the teachers and pupils was unexcelled by any previous year.

Banquent Event At Wurtemburg

Mothers-Daughters Gather At U. P. Church On Thursday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—The members of the Mary Braeden Circle proved that they know how to arrange matters for a successful banquet as they were the hosts to the mothers and daughters at Wurtemburg U. P. church last night with covers being laid for 72.

The dining room was cleverly decorated in a yellow and green color scheme carried throughout. The arrangements at the tables easily struck the fancy of those presnt.

After a splendid dinner Sara Tindall and Myrtle Gilbert gave a toast to the mothers to which Mrs. Florence Hazen, Mrs. Emma Miller and Mrs. Mae Hazen responded. Following this a clever dialogue was put on by Margaret Parker, Fay Gallaher and Mrs. Neva Koach that won the hearty applause of the audience. Then Mrs. J. E. Caughey and Clara Worcester preceeded to put every one into a merry mood when they led some fine pep songs. A duet number was sung by Miss Frances Mehard and Mrs. Caughey which was followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Ethel Teece. Following the program games and a social time were enjoyed.

Mrs. John McEllwain who was the oldest member present had opened the events of the evening with a prayer, Mrs. Mary Hepler had presided over the program and the decorations were in charge of Miss Frances Mehard and Mrs. Blanche Furniss.

Caps And Gowns Given To Seniors

ELLWOOD CITY May 15—A group of 97 high school students were seen with happy smiling faces Thursday afternoon as a result of being handed out their caps and gowns for the baccalaureate services Sunday. They only have 6 more school days and then will be turned out into the world to seek their fortunes.

A practice session for the services is scheduled for this afternoon in the Lincoln auditorium, when Supt. W. Ray Smith will show them how to act dignified and rule the world on their two days—baccalaureate and commencement.

While there's life there's hope that it will be commuted to ten years.

Delegates Home From Convention

Dibell And Batterby At Knights Of Malta Convention At Brownsville

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—Frank Dibell and Samuel Battersby retruned to this city last night from Brownsville, Pa., where they attended the Knights of Malta Grand Commandry Session, and report that they had a splendid time.

They spent Sunday at Monessen at the home of M. A. Bickett former resident of this city and on Monday proceeded to Brownsville. While there the Grand Commander of Pennsylvania A. E. Lockard of Freeport tendered a banquet to all of the delegates to which Mr. Battersby was invited.

On Tuesday they were the witnesses to one of the grandest parades ever seen. There were 18 commanderies, 6 bands, 3 drum corps, and 3 sisterhoods of the Dames of Malta that were in the line of march. The parade was escorted by two highway patrolmen.

Wednesday evening there was and entertainment presented at the First Christian church and the members of the College of Ancients were given a banquet. All were attired in their uniforms. Following this an election was held and resulted as follows: Grand Commander, William E. Doer of Pittsburgh; Grand Generalissamo, H. C. Lindeluth of Middletown; Grand Captain, George C. Lowry of Homestead; Grand Pielate, Elmer S. Engenfritz of Watsontown; Grand Senior Warden, Matt Langsdale of Pittsburgh; Grand Junior Warden, Elmer Jacobs of Elizabeth, Pa.; Grand First Guard, John Craver of Harrisburg; Grand Second Guard, Frank Palm; Grand Warder, Samuel Battersby of Ellwood City; Grand Standard Bearer, Burtt French of Erie.

The sessions closed at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. It was announced that next years meeting will be held at Hanover, Pa.

The report of this convention will be given at the regular meeting of the local organization next Tuesday evening at the Pythian Hall on Fourth street.

Students Given Typing Lecture

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15. — About 300 typing students of the Lincoln high school received some valuable pointers and a demonstration in typing Thursday afternoon in the gymnasium, as Mr. Proctor of a Typewriter Corporation gave a lecture to the students illustrating various points.

He showed the students how to develop greater speed and type accurately. The students were astonished when the speaker illustrated a method to type on a piece of paper less than one-quarter inch square. He explained that it can be done on any typewriter.

TO ORGANIZE TROOP

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—A committee of L. N. Pflough, Clem Hayes, Chester Douglas, Carl Schiorley, and Rev. Robert Bell were appointed last night at a meeting in the North Sewickley Presbyterian church to complete final arrangements for the organization of a boy scout troop which was started last week by local scout authorities. The committee supervized further registration.

Heavy Traffic In South Street

Nine Thousand Cars Pass Every Day Marquis Reports To Council

Between 9,000 and 11,000 automobiles traverse South street during daylight hours, according to William Marquis, operator of a parking lot who appeared before city council in session at the municipal building today. He said the check was taken recently.

Marquis appeared before council and voluntarily explained a recent disturbance at his lot. During his remarks he laid responsibility to two men who recently complained parking lot attaches had endeavored to prevent them parking on the north side of South street.

He said the cartway of South street is 27 feet wide and no parking should be allowed between Mill and Mercer streets but that if it is, the rule should apply to the north side of the street and not the south side. Parking is now allowed on the north side but not the south side.

Marquis said he did not know who had cut the curb so cars could enter and leave his lot as the work had been done during his absence. He had been asked to visit council to explain the cutting of curb. He did not pay for the work, he maintained. Council was then asked by Marquis for permission to make a driveway, the length of his lot, a privilege, he alleged, others have had.

The parking lot owner said he has been in business 41 years at South street and Apple way and today was the first time he had ever appeared before council. He asked council not to compare him with one of the men he alleged had caused the recent trouble.

Council referred the requests for the driveway and no parking rule on the north side of the street to committee.

Premium Awards To Be Discussed

One of the matters to be discussed at the coming meeting of creditors of the New Castle Fair association to be held at the court house on the evening of May 22, will be the payment of premiums awarded at the last fair. On account of poor receipts the association was unable to meet these premiums. As the individual amounts are small it is believed that a solution can be worked out.

Striking Workers Await Conference

Conference Planned In Cleveland To Settle Mansfield, Ohio, Strike

(International News Service)

MANSFIELD, O., May 15.—Striking workers of the Empire Steel company here were awaiting the results of a conference to be held by officials of the company at Cleveland at which their demands for a rescinding of the 10 per cent wage cut instituted May 1 will be considered.

Spokesmen for the 1,600 striking workers at a mass meeting here last night said that a formal request had been made of the Empire company to establish a 40 cent hourly rate on unskilled labor and revoke the 10 per cent cut in other departments. A previous five per cent wage cut which precipitated the present walkout already has been rescinded by the company.

With transmission of the official request to the company officials, plans for the formation of a workers' union to be affiliated with a national labor organization were held in abeyance.

Margot Chewning Becomes Mother

Daughter Of Senator Couzens Of Michigan, Gives Birth To Boy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Senator James Couzens, the multi-millionaire Republican senator from Michigan, was a grandfather the seventh time today, a son having been born to his youngest daughter, Mrs. Margot Chewning, at Columbia hospital here.

The baby weighed 7 pounds and 9 ounces and physicians said both he and his mother were "doing nicely". The baby will be christened William Jeffries Chewning, 3rd, his father said.

Chewning and Miss Couzens eloped to Baltimore in February, 1930 when the bridegroom was a clerk in a bank here. Now he is an assistant manager at the Hotel Mayflower.

LOCAL WAR VET TO ENTER HOSPITAL

Authorization for treatment in the U. S. Naval hospital at Philadelphia, has been received by Cecil Jones of Edgewood avenue. Mr. Jones expects to leave for the hospital in the course of the next few days. He has been ill for some time. Admittance to the hospital was secured through the interest of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross.

MUCH FOODSTUFF TAKEN BY THIEVES

Mrs. Otis Branscone of 1023 Beckford street, reported to the police today that some time during the night that an unknown person or persons had unlatched the door of the porch of her home and robbed the ice box, taking foodstuff valued at $5. Not satisfied with taking the stuff, the thief or thieves went a short distance and destroyed it.

Suit Brought Over Seats In Theater

American Seating Company Files Claim Against The Patterson Estate

The American Seating Company has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Anna P. Murdock, Catherine Patterson, Minnie McCandless, W. F. Patterson and Rachael F. Patterson to collect $3,823.98.

It is claimed that what is now known as the Victor Theater was leased to Max H. Cransfield and T. B. Connor, or one of them. Max Cransfield bought 426 theater seats from the plaintiff. About May 6, 1930, Max disappeared. His whereabouts are now unknown to plaintiff but he is believed to be in California. After the seats were bought for $3,823.98, possession of the building was given up.

Defendants, by their attorney, Charles M. Christler, converted to their own use the chairs, it is alleged, and afterwards sold them to David Victor, present operator of the theater. The American Seating Company claims that the seats were not a part of the real estate as they were only screwed down, and that Cransfield, to whom they were sold never paid for them and that the defendants had no right to sell them.

School Building Is At Standstill

For the first time in several years there are no new school buildings to be erected in the country districts during the coming year, according to Assistant County Superintendent C. F. Ball. Prospects of a consolidated building in Wayne township went glimmering when the bond issue was defeated. There has been some talk of a new building in Washington township, but nothing definite has been done.

But if a big boy tricks small boys and takes all of their marbles, he is called a bully instead of a financial wizard.

Resolution Deals With Ill Employes

Council Takes Action To Prevent Double Payment Here In Future

Councilman Louis Genkinger during council session today, presented a resolution which deals with the payment of salaries to city employes during illness or injury. The resolution was sent to committee. It was intimated other councilmen might introduce similar resolutions.

The Genkinger resolution reads: Be it resolved by the council of the city of New Castle that hereafter no salaried employe of the city shall be continued on the payroll when he or she has been absent from duty on account of sickness or injury for which he or she is not entitled to workmen's compensation for more than 30 days in any year.

The superintendent of the respective department shall be the final judge and arbiter of all matters of the amount of salary payable to the employe in the department; and if the superintendent of the department is not satisfied that the illness of such employe is in any instance of a nature to justify his or her absence from duty, the superintendent may refuse to approve payment of salary to the said member during his or her absence or any part thereof and—

Be it resolved that, when any salaried employe is injured while on duty so as to incapacitate him or her for service he or she shall be entitled to receive his or her salary for the first 30 days of his or her absence from duty less the amount of workmen's compensation paid him or her during that time; but after 30 days absence from duty, his or her salary shall cease until his or her return to duty.

God sends meat, and the devil sends cooks.—John Taylor.

SLIGHT ACCIDENTS REPORTED TO POLICE

Mrs. Lillian M. Shearer of 448 Croton avenue, reported to the police Thursday that she was enroute west on Mahoning avenue and making a left hand turn onto North Liberty street, when a machine going north on Liberty street, the license number of which she did not secure tried to pass her machine to the left. In trying to avoid this machine, she hit the west curb of North Liberty street with her machine, breaking off the right front wheel of her machine and doing other damage.

Sam Rosen of 436 East Park avenue, reported that he was driving the car of Mrs. Ida Rosen of 25 East Reynolds street, south on South Jefferson street at Terrace avenue, when a machine bearing Pennsylvania license KY556 going west on Terrace avenue, collided with his machine. Some damage was done.

GIVEN CONTRACT RELEASE

NEW YORK, May 15.—Because Norma Talmadge, screen actress, insisted on choosing her own vehicles, Samuel Goldwyn of United Artists has announced her release.

"Because of her prestige, I felt that it was a mark of esteem due her long association with this organization to grant her request for her release," Mr. Goldwyn said in a statement. He explained that for reasons of policy, it was impossible to continue her contract.

Miss Talmadge also issued a statement, saying: "I do not intend to make pictures until I find the story I want to do." She explained she had several offers from producers here and in Europe.

Lad Regains Voice

To make up for eight years of silence Joseph Erolan, Jr., 11, of San Francisco, is going to do a lot of talking now. He recently arrived home from Philadelphia with a brand new voice, after Dr. Louis H. Clerf of Philadelphia had operated on the boy's larynx which had been closed by scar tissue which formed after a siege of diphtheria. Photo shows him phoning his mother to convince her that he really could talk.

HENRY FORD PURCHASER OF ENGLISH ESTATE

Henry Ford is said to have completed arrangements for the purchase of this estate, Boreham House, near Chelmsford, Essex, England. It is not known whether he intends to live in it or convert it to a philanthropic project. A large pool enhances the beauty of the mansion.

Tunneys Meet "Christus"

Slain Crusader

Raymond E. Gilyard (above), first selectman of Seymour, Conn., was shot and killed in the town building by a group of unidentified men who apparently had been lying in ambush for him. Gilyard had been crusading against liquor law violators. Police believe some bootlegging faction is responsible for the cold-blooded murder.

Columbia Test Finds Students Bigger, Better

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Columbia College students of today are bigger physically than those of ten years ago, an investigation by a special committee of the Columbia University Club discloses. The class of 1932 is 2.3 inches taller and seven and one-half pounds heavier on the average than the class of 1922.

A decade ago about one quarter of the freshmen class "flunked out" at the end of the first year; now the percentage has been cut to between seven and eight.

The committee upholds the Thorndike intelligence test, which, it says, is not a fad or a fancy, but which rather is recognized all over the country as a sound system for gauging scholarly capacity.

Through the system of admissions, the committee finds, one half of the Columbia College body of 2,000 is made up of students living more than 100 miles from New York City, and representing practically every state. Formerly the college was a distinctively Knickerbocker institution.

A high percentage of the students complete the course and receive their degree. In normal times some 70 per cent of the freshmen class graduate. The principal causes of depletion are ill-health and finances.

"The Department of Admissions as at present constituted has been in existence some twelve years," the committee reports. "Its work is carefully and accurately organized. The Department can tell one in a moment how many students come from high schools in New York City, and how many from private schools in New York City, how many from high schools and how many from private schools outside of New York City. It can and does analyze the student body from every angle, religious, geographical, scholastic and physical."

City May Grade And Pave Blaine Street

Council Also Takes Action On Euclid Avenue And Ray Street Measures

During council session at the city building today Councilman Treser introduced two ordinances.

One provides for the grading and paving of Blaine street between Park and Moody avenues.

The other calls for a change in the width and fixes the cartway of Euclid avenue between Delaware avenue and Mercer street at 32 feet.

The ordinances were sent to committee and reported out favorably.

ROSE AVENUE SCHOOL WINS SINGING CONTEST

prize, with Miss Elizabeth Mackey directing and Miss Doris Davidson at the piano. Second place, which was known as Honorable Mention went to Arthur McGill school.

In the intermediate grades competition there was no doubt as to where first place went, it going to Lincoln-Garfield School by a wide margin. This chorus was directed by Miss Margaret Sankey, with Miss Lillian Sarver at the piano. It is rather coincidental that Miss Sankey, the winning directoress is a second cousin of the late Ira D. Sankey, the Singing Evangelist of New Castle who was famous the world over.

In this group, second prize or honorable mention was divided by Pollock, Highland and Terrace Avenue Schools.

Pictures and Songs

During the course of the evening, Mrs. William James Caldwell, adjudicator of the original song writing contest announced the winners in this competition. In this, the schools had a list of famous pictures given to them for inspiration and from the idea contained in the pictures, wrote original songs, writing the words and music.

The result of this competition was amazing. Melodies that one can hardly credit to the mind of school youngsters resulted, with accompanying words that were poetically correct. Winners in each grade of the schools were announced by Mrs. Caldwell as follows. The name of the pictures used as an inspiration is carried along with the names of the winners. The winners of the song singing contests were announced by the superintendent, Dr. C. C. Green.

The song singing contest idea was such an unusual success that it would be a pity if it were not incorporated into the regular regiment of the schools here. After Thursday night's display it should be and probably will be. To Miss Gladys Rich, supervisor, it can be given plenty of credit, not alone for the idea, but for the splendid manner in which it was carried out.

Pearson Suggests Credit Plan Here

Would Pass Bond, Create Employment, Hold Back Part Of Pay

S. D. Pearson today appeared before city council and requested solons to give study to his plan which he believes will result in the bond issue being adopted, improvements made by hand and local labor and payment of wages made in such a way that alleviation of distress will be furthered next winter.

In brief Mr. Pearson suggested to council that the bond issue ordinance, now in committee be passed. Enactment of the legislation would increase the city's bond indebtedness $100,000.

He said the $100,000 could be used for improvements to be made by 100 percent hand labor. Only local men would be employed.

Pearson said that a certain wage should be established and suggested that about one third of the wage be held back.

The money held back would serve as a credit for the workers and be paid during December, January and February of next winter.

He said that if the city should do this it would result in the city acting as a guardian against the improvident use of this money.

Hearing By Public Service Commission

Elimination Of Grade Crossings In Edenburg District To Be Taken Up

The public service commission will hold a hearing at the court house on May 21 at 9:30 a. m. on the matter of the proposed grade crossing elimination at Edenburg. The principal project is the elimination of the grade crossing at the north end of the Edenburg covered bridge, by the erection of a viaduct and the building of a new bridge across the Mahoning river.

There are four railroad tracks and an electric railway track north of the bridge, which are at present crossed at grade. It is proposed to build a viaduct over the tracks, which would necessitate the raising of the new bridge to a higher level, with a viaduct on the south side in the direction of Edenburg.

There is also a proposition to eliminate the Pennsylvania grade crossing west of Edenburg on the Hillsville road, and also on the Mt. Jackson road. There is considerable difference of opinion regarding the proposed projects, particularly with reference to the two latter projects, one of the questions involved being the liability of North Beaver and Mahoning townships for a share of the costs.

Expenses of the proposed improvements would have to be borne by the state, county, railroads, electric railway and townships. It is for the purpose of getting the views of interests affected that the meeting is to be held on May 21.

John L. Herbold Funeral Saturday

The first funeral arrangement for John L. Herbold, East Washington street, who died in the Mercy Hospital Thursday, were that the services would be held from the house, but it later developed that the popularity of this man would call for a larger accommodation, therefore the funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m., D. S. T. from the First Christian church with the pastor, Dr. G. S. Bennett officiating.

Heat Of Ocean Affects Land, Tests Show

When Pacific Temperature Drops, California Feels It

By LYLE ABBOTT
International News Service Special Correspondent
(International News Service)

LA JOLLA, Calif., May 15.—When the Pacific Ocean here grows a little cooler, the California housewife uses a little more gas for heating her home.

The relation of water temperature to gas consumption has been proven here at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography where the water temperatures are recorded every hour of the day and night. Scientists have found a similar effect of ocean changes all over the western United States.

It also has been determined that the ocean thermometers open the way for a new style of long distance Dr. George F. McEwen, oceanographer, and Dr. A. F. Gorton, a weather expert who are working at the institute.

Other stations all over the world, recording ocean temperatures and studying the effect of changes in the warmth of the water on vast expanses of land, are needed, before the fullest protection can be given in weather forecasts of temperatures, rainfall, snow and wind.

So sure are the professors that they have hit on a real means of forecasting, they announced recently a program of new investigations preparatory to undertaking world-wide seasonal forecasts.

By studying the surface temperature of the ocean, Dr. McEwen said he could predict very accurately how warm or cold it would be in the air all over southern California.

He said his studies in summer enabled him to make predictions for the following winter and vice versa.

Dr. McEwen and Dr. Gorton have prepared a scientific report filled with statistics which they say proves their point.

CHOOSING WEDDING GOWN IS A POPULAR SPORT

The popular sport of the moment is choosing the wedding gown. Picking just the right gown to show off her beauty is the worry of many a lovely young thing these days. Here are three to choose from: Left, ivory satin with circular skirt and bertha. The veil is caught with triple strand of pearls and has three-yard train. Instead of flowers the bride carries a mother-of-pearl prayer book tied with ribbons and orange blossoms. Center, satin and pearls are combined. Hem, sleeves, girdle and neckline of gown are outlined with pearls and brilliants in Grecian key design, the veil also outlined in the same. Right, flesh tones are used instead of white, the material being chiffon and lace. This bride carries white roses and lilies of the valley.

Hoover To Be Only Speaker At G. O. P. Rally

Will Address Indiana Republicans On June Fifteenth

By EUGENE J. CADOU
International News Service Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 15.—With 15,000 persons expected, one of the largest banquets ever held in the United States will take place here during the visit of President Herbert Hoover on June 15.

President Hoover will be the guest of the Indiana Republican Editorial association. That organization is to hold a big Republican rally in connection with the event, which probably will be held in a huge building at the state fair grounds.

An unusual feature of the occasion will be the fact that no local orator will be afforded the opportunity to delay the president's address. Hoover will be the only speaker and he will be introduced by Paul R. Bausman of Washington, Ind., who already has released to the press his nine-word speech of introduction.

This "address" follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen, the president of the United States!"

Members of the local arrangements committee have received word that the speech of the president probably will be his most important political declaration of this year. It will be the only political address on his tour of the middle west during which he will review the G. A. R. convention parade at Columbus, O., dedicate the memorial to President Harding at Marion, O., and also speak at dedication exercises for a Lincoln memorial at Springfield, Ill.

Nation-wide radio hookups will carry the president's speech to all parts of the United States.

Study To Teach Boys The Mouth Organ

Playground Instructors Prepare For Busy Summer Season

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 15.—An old favorite with boys, the harmonica, is going to receive unusual attention here during the coming summer. In fact, it promises to be the most popular instrument in the city.

Forty-two men and women are taking special courses in preparation for the summer's work for playground instructors have an added duty when the season opens—the teaching of harmonica playing to the youngsters who frequent the public amusement grounds.

The instructors are attending regular classes and are required to put in a certain amount of time practicing. One of the requirements for the completion of the course is that the instructor must be able to play "Home, Sweet Home" in a creditable manner

Boston Sold For $150 Centuries Ago

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 15.—Three hundred years ago, William Blackstone became incensed at his fellow citizens, sold the entire town of Boston for $150, and moved to Providence, R. I.

Today, Boston Common, a small part of the City, containing 48 2-5 acres, which was used in Colonial days, as a cow pasture, is valued at $100,000,000, or approximately $2,000,000 an acre in other words, three square feet of land on Boston Common now cost as much as the entire city three centuries ago.

But the Common is not the most valuable tract of land in Boston. For instance, just across Tremont street—which had its beginning as a cow path—from the Common, land valuations range from $120 to $180 per square foot.

Boston's assessors place a valuation of $47,051,000 on Boston Common, including the old Granery burying ground. Park Commissioner William P. Long, however, pointed out that if anyone wanted to buy the tract of land, it would cost close to $100,000,000. The assessors admitted that the $47,000,000 valuation on the land was a ridiculously low appraisement but stated that their only reason for valuing it at all was because it was a statutory requirement.

Real Problems In Housekeeping Faced By Co-Eds

Learn To Conquer Everyday Problems In Connection With Studies

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Along with the puzzling questions of philosophy, higher mathematics, psychology, zoology, and other subjects generally studied by the college student, girls of New York University now are learning to conquer the common everday problems of housekeeping.

Housekeeping is a science in itself to these girls, who actually live in an apartment—four of them for a few weeks at a time—to meet the problems as they would if they were real housewives.

Children are there, borrowed from neighborhood mothers. Not the least of the girls' tasks is to make the children mind in the most approved manner. Theories are thoroughly tested in this apartment, and when the girls leave it they are quite ready to combat anything in the house-managing and child-rearing line.

These N. Y. U. co-eds, who are students of the home economics course, even must do the shopping as they would if they really owned the home themselves. They must run it on a budget. The home is of the type that would cost about $4,000 a year to maintain.

They have to sew and cook. They have to decorate the apartment themselves, carrying out their own ideas as to what makes attractive rooms and a comfortable home.

And no matter how much may be said these days about the modern girl and her reluctance to stay home, these N. Y. U. home economic students are enthusiastic about the housekeeping course. They like it.

There is more to the course than keeping the house. There is class room instruction and the girls must attend home exhibits and housekeeping institutes.

The purpose of the course, as described by Mrs. Freda J. G. Winning, in charge of the department, is to "teach the students how to live."

"In planning the course we have looked at the home in its fullest sense," she said. "Entertaining on a limited budget and taking advantage of the cultural advantages offered by New York are parts of the course."

Says Beautiful Woman Illusion

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15.—A beautiful woman is an optical illusion, Richard Klein, Detroit hairdresser, told delegates to the eighth annual midwest beauty trade show here recently.

"When you see a woman on the street," he said, "you do not see her as she is, but as she has been arranged by the beauty shop and hairdresesr. The hairdresser furnishes the frame for the picture.'

Generally speaking, according to Klein, a woman with a round face should have a horizontal wave, with most of the hair well above the ears, while a woman with a long face should have a vertical wave, with the hair worn down on the cheeks.

The bob is here to stay, Klein asserted.

"The modern woman is too busy for long hair," he told the delegates. "The necessity of hairpins in long hair and the present mode of small hats makes long hair impractical. The short bob, too, is passe. It is not a hairdress, but merely another hair cut."

Cop's Jiu-Jitsu Subdues Wild Goat Of Siam

Goat Rendered Bon-de-Combat After Eating Book

SEATTLE, May 15.—The art of jiu-jitsu is not only useful in handling stubborn criminals, but it has proved equally potent in subduing wild goats of Siam.

W. Jamadhi of the Royal Bangkok police, obtained a copy of S. J. Jorgenson's book on jiu-jitsu and taught it to his patrolmen. Jorgenson, a Seattle patrolman recently describing the fate of the book and ordering six additional copies. The letter read:

"Kindly Sir: Honoured Bangkok police have found your gentle book of jiu-jitsu much valuable for teaching tricks, but book has gone, due to unfortunate accident for which goat is responisble, him eating same.

"For this we shall enclose sum and beg of you to send us six more copies. Goat is much sick and book is of no use. Honoured Bangkok police have much delight and good humor in putting jiu-jitsu through paces, but goat does not find joy in its pages now since partaking."

Dog And Man Bag Aggressive Wolf

(International News Service)

ROLLA, Ma., May 15.—Oran Spruell, a farmer near here, is the possessor a huge wolf pelt, a souvenir of a fight to the finish he and his hound dog staged with the animal.

Spruell was burning brush on his farm when he heard yelps of distress from his dog, and a moment later it appeared, pursued by the wolf. The animal followed the dog to within a few feet of the farmer and closed in.

The two animals rolled into a ditch, and the farmer, not taking time to get his gun, which was standing by a tree a short distance away, went to the aid of his dog.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Over Twenty Students From Ward To Graduate

Twenty-two students of the New Castle senior high school who will receive their diplomas in the graduation exercises this coming June, are residents of Mahoningtown, according to a survey made here. This is undoubtedly the largest number of Mahoningtown boys and girls to be graduated at the same time.

Of this number, 14 are girls and 8 are boys. The graduation exercises will take place early in June and quite a large class of students will receive their sheepskins.

Girls

Elizabeth Dripps, Helen Emerick, Frances Frost, Hazel Smith, Margaret Wilkison, Virgil Wettich, Frances Hyde, Thelma Bumbaugh, Angeline Custucci, Ethel Pearlie Alexander, Elizabeth Taylor, Helen Woods, Jane Leicht, Frances Amon.

Boys

Choir Has Social At Home Of Pastor

Twenty-five members of the choir of young people which was organized to furnish the music last Sunday at the Mother's Day service in the Mahoning Methodist church, gathered at the home of Rev. and Mrs. David Daye Sleepy, on Newell avenue, for a party in their honor.

It was a delightful affair. The evening hours were spent with singing, chat, listening to the radio music and later they were served delicious refreshments.

MRS. SCHEIDEMANTLE ENTERTAINS CLASS AT HOME THURSDAY NIGHT

Mrs. G. H. Scheldemantle of West Madison avenue, was a charming hostess Thursday evening to fifteen members of the S. C. W. Bible class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church.

The evening hours were spent socially, with games of varied sorts as the interesting diversions. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Scheidemantle, with the assistance of the associate hostesses, Mrs. L. A. More and Mrs. C. W. Thompson.

VISIT PITTSBURGH

Mrs. Jack Wilson of North Cedar street, Mrs. T. N. Hockman, of West Madison street, and Mrs. Logan of North Cedar street, spent a day recently in Pittsburgh.

TRIM HEDGES

An employe of the city was engaged in trimming the hedge around the public park on North Liberty street, Thursday afternoon. The park is fastly becoming one of the most beautiful spots in the seventh ward.

Children walking through the park are being urged to use the walks instead of trampling over the flower beds and hedges.

CLUB TONIGHT

Mrs. Joseph Gilmore, of North Cedar street, will be hostess to the L. S. C. Book club members this evening.

BOOK CIRCULATION

Miss Alice Sterling, the librarian of the New Castle free public library, announced at the board of trustees meeting that circulation of books in the Mahoningtown branch of the public library during the month of April, 1931, was 2,866.

As compared with the circulation during the corresponding month of a year previous, April, 1930, it shows a loss of 12 percent.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS

Several children's books were brought from the central library building to the Mahoningtown branch on Thursday, by the branch librarian, Mrs. Gladys Johnson.

G. I. A. MEETS

Mrs. Paul Kelley, president, presided at the meeting of the Grand International auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at the city building Thursday afternoon.

Business matters of interest were discussed and late in the afternoon the meeting was adjourned to meet again on May 28. Eastern standard time is being observed by the lodge.

MABEL WILSON LODGE

The Mabel Wilson lodge, auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, met Thursday at Malta hall. The attendance was good and there was one out-of-town guest, Mrs. Keifer of Pittsburgh.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Rose Doone, president, plans were made for a trip to Sharon on Monday, June 1, where they will be the guests of a Sharon lodge.

ILLS BANISHED

"Ten Herbs gave me relief from stomach and liver trouble," said Mr. William M. Fowler, R. F. D. 1, Box 160, Butler. "There was a constant soreness across my stomach and bowels. Gas would form and cause a burning sensation in my throat. My liver was in a terrible condition and I was compelled to take laxatives often. Dizzy spells came on me and sleep never seemed to rest me.

I tried Ten Herbs and can now eat anything I want without having any distress afterwards. All soreness has gone from my stomach and I sleep well and feel rested in the morning. My liver and bowels have been regulated and my general condition is much better. I consider Ten Herbs a wonderful medicine and cannot recommend it too highly."

Ten Herbs is sold at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St., New Castle, and by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

Music Festival Of County Highs Tuesday, May 19

Novel Concert Will Be Presented At Union High; Nine Schools Entered

Approximately 250 high school students from all over the county will take part in the first Lawrence County Music Festival which is to be an event of next Tuesday evening, May 19, in the auditorium of the Union high school. The festival will commence at 8:15 daylight saving time.

This is the first attempt the county high schools have ever made to hold anything of this sort, although county musical contests have been features for some years. There will be no competition in this. It will be a varied program of instrumental and vocal music and it is believed that it will be one of the most successful events ever held.

Schools who are entering students are—Bessemer, Mt. Jackson, Shenango, Union, New Wilmington, Enon Valley, Princeton, Wampum and Plaingrove.

College Seniors Hold Reception

Play Host To Campus Groups Last Night At Hillside

(Special to The News.)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15.—The first event of the commencement season, the senior reception, was held last night in the Hillside at Westminster college starting at 8 o'clock.

The entire senior class, some 90 students, was in the receiving line. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. C. B. Robertson, dean of women; Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell and Charles Fulton, president of the junior class.

Following the formal reception and general visitation of faculty members and underclassmen with the seniors, a delightful luncheon was served in the dining room of the Hillside.

Watt Post Auxiliary Takes Big Donation To Soldiers Hospital

At the Initiatory and social meeting held early this week by the Ladies Auxiliary of Earl F. Watt Post, American Legion in the Post Home, Mt. Jackson, many donations of jellies and cigarets were received to be given to the disabled veterans receiving treatment in the government hospital at Aspinwall.

The following morning, the large amount of jellies and cigarets were taken to the home and distributed among the inmates of that institution.

Twenty new members of the auxiliary were initiated at the meeting held in the Post Home and the degree work was put on by Mrs. C. V. Homer and the team of the Greenville Legion Auxiliary. Following the ceremony, a fine lunch was served by the auxiliary of Watt Post. There were many visitors present from New Castle and other points.

Preparations are now being made for the observance of Memorial Day. The next regular meeting of the auxiliary will be held next Monday evening.

Civil War Vet Registers Graves

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 15.—An 87-year-old Civil War veteran has registered personally the graves of all veterans of four United States wars in the Windridge district.

The registration is in connection with the move by country and state organizations to have all such graves properly recorded.

John Meighen, 87, registered graves of veterans of the War of 1812, Spanish-American and World Wars in his district. Meighen was called upon to list the graves of many with whom he had served in the Civil War.

County Track Meet Saturday

Thirty Three Events To Be Held In Annual Class B School Meet

WINNING SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE CUPS

Athletes from the different county high schools will gather at Taggart field on Saturday afternoon to compete in the annual Lawrence county class B high school track and field meet. The carnival will start at 12:30 o'clock (eastern standard time). Thirty-three events have been arranged by the committee in charge.

The committe in charge of the meet is: J. W. Anderson of East Brook, Porter McCandless of Harlansburg and A. L. Winters of Bessemer high. The officials will be from Slippery Rock State Teachers college.

To Award Cups.

Three trophies to be given the winners in the class A, class B and class C events will adorn the trophy case of the winning schools. Medals and ribbons will be awarded the athletes winning in the different events. The schools which will compete on Saturday are the different county high schools.

The different institutions have been preparing for this event for sometime and according to word received today the "cinder pounders" are in great condition for the meet.

The schools will be classified into three groups, class A, class B and class C. The classifications are being made according to the following formula: four times the age plus the heights and inches plus the weight. All athletes totaling over 268 marks, according to the formula, will be classed in class A. Under 268 will be class B. The seventh and eighth grades of the different schools will form the class C division.

Class A Events.

220-yard dash.
440-yard dash.
880-yard dash.
Mile run.
Low hurdles.
Shot put.
Discus throw.
Broad jump.
High jump.
Pole vault.
Mile relay.

Class B Events.

220-yard dash.
440-yard dash.
880-yard dash.
Mile run.
Shot put.
Discus throw.
Broad jump.
High jump.
Pole vault.
Mile relay.

Class C Events.

220-yard dash.
440-yard dash.
880-yard dash.
Shot put.
Discus throw.
Broad jump.
High jump.
Pole vault.
Half mile relay.

Big delegations from the different schools are expected to gather at Taggart field to watch their favorites compete in the meet. The meet annually proves interesting.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Plan New Bout Monday Night

Massachusetts Commission Holds Sam Bruce In Boston

YAROSZ OR FIELDS MAY BATTLE HERE

When fans wend their way into Castle Bowl Monday night they will see two faces in the main bout instead of Sam Bruce and Henry Firpo, through no fault of the Bowl attaches but due rather to a ruling of the Massachusettes boxing commission. As a result Bruce will probably be suspended in Pennsylvania and New York state.

Bruce had contracted to box Johnny Indrisano, May 12 at Boston. Rain fell Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Boston and Promoter Mack put his show back to Monday night, May 18, the same evening on which Bruce was scheduled to meet Henry Firpo here.

Harry McCoy, manager of Bruce telephoned the News late yesterday to Ed Fritz and the latter invoked the aid of Commissioner Harvey Boyle of the state atheletic commission, who ordered Bruce to appear here. However, the Massachusetts boxing commission ordered Bruce to remain and box in Boston.

Bruce, Bowl "In Middle"

The Massachusetts commission, it is reported, ruled that Boston could hold Bruce as the contract stipulated that should rain fall the fight should be held on the next night or the first possible date the club set and Promoter Eddie Mack set the fight for Monday, the same night Bruce was to have fought here.

Commissioner Boyle of the Pennsylvania commission telegraphed Bruce that if he did not report here Monday night he would stand suspended. Harry McCoy, manager Bruce replied to Boyle and also to Matchmaker Fritz stating that he would remain in Boston but would like to fight here one week from Monday night, May 25.

Fritz said today that he had incurred heavy expenses in scheduling the proposed Firpo-Bruce fight and that rather than leave the bowl dark Monday night he would arrange a good substitute main bout and wires have been flung open to some of the best fighters in this section of the country.

They may result in Teddy Yarosz, the unbeaten welterweight battling Larry Madge who walloped Tommy Rios at the Grays armory in Cleveland, Wednesday night, or Ross Fields, the hard hitting Wierton bantamweight battling Luis Carpentero or some other good bantamweight.

The rest of the card will be run off as announced and the first bout Monday night will start at 9 p. m. daylight savings time. Fritz promised today that "although it is a thing we could not help I'll have a fight in there that will make the fans sit up and take notice."

Mushball Notes

The Wesley M. E. team of the Church League mushball will meet the Second U. P. tonight for a practice game at the Scotland Lane Field. The game starts at 6:15 o'clock D. S. T. Wesley will take advantage of this game for a good workout in preparation for the opening game Thursday, May 21, with the Trinity team. Lawrence Gibson is manager of the team.

The Kokomos team of mushball players beat the Alley Boys 12 to 9, in a game played last night at the Red Barn field, off Croton avenue. The game was featured by heavy hitting.

The contracts for the New Castle Mushball league have been passed out to the managers. Howard Reed of the Lockley team was the first manager that turned any contracts into President Walther. Saturday is the closing time for the contracts for the opening game on Monday.

New Castle In W. P. I. A. L. Meet

Local Athletes Leave Early Saturday For Meet At Pittsburgh

On Saturday at Pittsburgh the New Castle high school track team will compete in the annual W. P. I. A. L. track and field carnival. The local cinder pounders leave early Saturday morning for the meet.

The Senior high roster will be composed of Scarazzo who will vie for honors in the 440 Yard dash; James who is carded for the 220 yard dash; Lasky who is entered in the shot put, discus, and high hurdles; Karki who will run the mile grind and the half mile trek; Greensburg who will represent the locals in the 100 yard dash and in the low hurdles; and Kerr who is an entree in the high jump. Rowe and Wainio are ineligible due to the eight semester ruling.

The cream of Western Pennsylvania will be represented in the meet tomorrow. Chances of New Castle taking the meet are dim. In the last meet in which the local team competed last Saturday at Pitt, New Castle surprised by coming through with the winning trophy. In the Geneva meet New Castle took second place.

The Red and Black clad team hopes to keep up its good work in the third meet of the season.

Croton Band To Play At Meet

Klee, Gardner And Bridenbaugh To Help Conduct Track Events

ATHLETES TRAIN AT FAIR GROUNDS

Croton School band, under the directorship of Professor Hoffmeister will furnish the music during the Sunday school track meet, June 12, at Taggart field, according to Rev. Clifford S. Joshua

The band will be augmented by 10 players from Senior high school band. Miss Thomas will have charge of the musical program.

Sunday school team managers who want to enter athletes can communicate with Rubeis by calling at Croton M. E. church between 6:30 p. m. and eight p. m. each evening.

Triangular Meet Next Wednesday

New Castle, Wilkinsburg And Washington To Compete At Taggart Field

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of the Senior high school stated today that on next Wednesday afternoon at Taggart Field the annual triangular track and field meet between New Castle, Wilkinsburg and Washington will be staged. The carnival will get underway at 3:30 o'clock.

Last year the meet was held at Wilkinsburg with New Castle the winner. Like other years this annual affair is predicted to be interesting.

Postpone Wampum Bessemer Game

It was announced today that the Wampum-Bessemer, Lawrence county league game scheduled for last Wednesday and which was postponed due to wet grounds will be played at Bessemer on Monday evening.

Announce Schedule For Mushball Play

The New Castle mushball league class A will shove off next Monday night on the first leg of the season championship. The first half of the season starts on May 18 and ends on Monday, July 6. There will be six teams in the A division.

Through the energetic work of Arnold "Fiz" Fraser and George Oldham of the Shenango Tin Mill, the mushball schedule was completed on Wednesday night. It was a tremendous job, but the boys stuck to their work and got it out on time.

Each team will play each other three times in the first half of the league. Four fields will be utilized by the A division, the Lehigh field, Radiator field, Washington field and Can Works ground.

The managers and players are asked to clip this schedule and keep it with them so that they will know when their team plays. The class B first half schedule will be run on Saturday.

Monday, May 18.

E. S. Service vs Lockley Machine, Lehigh field.
American Can vs Radiator, Radiator field.
Spencers vs Shenango Tin, Washington.

Three South Side Men Leave Early Today To Attend Annual Classic

Among the thousands of spectators at the Louisville Kentucky Derby on Saturday will be three prominent South Side residents of this city. Dr. Z. N. Stutz, David Williams and Paul Rowe left early this morning by automobile for Louisville where they will attend the annual classic.

The local residents will remain in Louisville for several days before returning.

Fast Games In County League

Lawrence County League Hopes To Continue Play Saturday

THREE TEAMS WIN OPENING CONTESTS

Weather permitting, the Lawrence County League hopes to resume play on Saturday afternoon. Four contests are scheduled for tomorrow in the different ball rochards.

The games on Wednesday were called off due to inclement weather. The games scheduled for tomorrow are as follows:

North Highland at Hillsville (3:00)
Scarazzos at Shenango Pottery, (3:00)
Bessemer at Wampum (3:00)
Brent at Universal Sanitary (3:00)

North Highland-Hillsville, McCann and Gilium
Scarazzos-Shenango, Price and Price
Bessemer, Ross and Dunn
Brent-Universals, Hudson and Catele.

The league got away to a good start on last Saturday afternoon. Fans who have not had the opportunity to see any of the teams in action will have a chance to do so on Saturday when the league continues its first half race. With good weather big crowds are anticipated.

Files Injunction To Halt Big Bout

Cleveland Resident Files Court Injunction To Stop Championship Fight

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, May 15.—Petition to enjoin the staging of the forthcoming heavyweight championship bout between Max Schmeling and W. L. "Young" Stribling in Cleveland's new municipal stadium, was filed in the Appellate Court here Thursday by David Fischer, a resident of Cleveland.

The scheduled ring battle was described as "a public nuisance" and an event that will attract a "dangerous" assemblage of persons in the injunction petition, which also alleged the bout was unlawful.

Schmeling and Stribling were named defendants in the suit along with their managers, the city and the boxing commission, and the Madison Square Garden of Ohio, promoters of the fight.

The petition claims that prize-fighting is illegal under the Ohio statutes and that penitentiary sentences can be imposed on persons engaging in or promoting a fight for which prizes are given.

Cleveland will become a "safe harbor" for "gamblers, bunco steerers, race track touts and harlots," should the bout be permitted, the petition alleges.

Tilden Defeats Vincent Richards

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Big Bill Tilden today held the new world's professional indoor tennis championship.

Bill took three sets to Vinnie's one. The scores were 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2.

Grays To Play Welfare Nine

On Saturday night at 5:00 o'clock on the Sampson street field the New Castle Grays will play the Welfare A. C. team of Youngstown.

This is the second of a five game series. In the first game the Grays were defeated, 9-7. Weyman or S. Gray will likely hurl for the Grays.

SMITH-CHURIA STAGE BATTLE

Horton Smith Having Hard Time To Shake Off Argentine Golfer

(International News Service)

SOUTHPORT, Eng., May 15.—Fighting to stave off the steady stroke-cutting pace of the Argentine, Marco Churia, with whom he was tied yesterday for the lead in the Dunlop Southport professional golf tournament, Horton Smith, young golfer of Joplin, Mo., carded a 72 in the third round of the tournament today. Tony Manero, another American, had a 76 for a total of 226.

At the opening of today's play, Joe Kirkwood and Joe Turnesa, Americans, lagged four strokes behind Smith and Churia. Two other Argentines were in line with 158 each.

Everything Set For Big Race At Churchill Downs

Kentucky Derby Tomorrow Will See Vast Throng At Famous Track

TWENTY GRAND AND MATE FAVORITES

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, May 15—Derby Eve found picturesque Louisville today in the throes of an ecstatic fervor such as always grips it just before the runing of the Blue Grass state's historic Kentucky Derby.

A carnival atmosphere has transformed this famous old Southern city into a blaze of colors. Flags and bunting greet the eye on all sides. The hotels are jammed, incoming specials are disgorging trainloads of visitors. Carvans of automobiles are clogging the highways leading into town and, at intervals, airplanes swoop down to landing fields with their human cargoes.

Expect 60,000

Derby gossip fills the air. Everything else has become secondary to the $50,000 derby which will have its fifty seventh running at beautiful Churchill Downs tomorrow afternoon before an enthusiastic throng of upwards of 60,000 spectators.

Something like $1,500,000—maybe $2,000,000—will be wagered at the track tomorrow. This important sum is, of course, below the total of some other year such as, for example, prosperous 1928 when $2,700,000 was poured into the machines in a single afternoon for what is believed to be a world record for betting.

Fourteen horses, or less, will go to the post. Twenty Grand, the Greentree Stable entry, and Mate, owned by A. C. Bostwick, are the joint favorites on the eve of the derby, although the odds may change at any moment. Mate's winning of the Preakness last Saturday has increased his following tremendously.

Close Race Looked For.

A thrilling race is anticipated. Unlike a year ago when Gallant Fox was almost the conceded winner, this year the derby is a contest. In one sense it is almost strictly a battle between the east and the west, for the Blue Grass state is without a home-bred entry to pull for. The east will be chiefly represented by Twenty Grand, Mate, Equipoise, Anchors Aweigh and Surf Board. The west will have fighting for it Pittsburgher, Sweep All, Spanish Play, Up, In The Event Of Mud and Insco. Other possible starters, all conceded to have a chance, are Boys Howdy, Prince D'Armour, Ladder and Don Leon.

Post time for the derby, the fifth race, probably will be at 5 p. m. C. S. T. Each colt will carry 126 pounds over the mile and a quarter journey.

Everything Ready.

Everything was in readiness at the Churchill Downs course for the running of the event. The thoroughbreds are being carefully guarded and groomed at their stables. The Downs is at its best in May and is getting grander as time passes. Finely built stands line the outer rail of the half-mile stretch, with sunken gardens near the clubhouse and flowers and blue grass in the infield. Here and there in the enclosures, where thousands will mill about tomorrow, are the long lines of Mutuel booths for the derby betting.

Fair skies and sunny weather are promised by the weather man for tomorrow, in contrast to the muggy, rainy weather that has prevailed earlier this week. If the weather is ideal, Colonel Matt J. Winn predicts that the number that will witness the spectacle will be close to 70,000.

Heavyweights To Battle Tonight

Philadelphia Battler Favorite To Defeat Lumbering Campolo

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 15.—Another version of the Jack and the beanstalk fable will be enacted at Madison Square Garden tonight when Tommy Loughran, elusive Philadelphian, attempts to put down Victorio Campolo, argentine beanpole, in a bout scheduled to go ten rounds.

Loughran, although lacking a punch and spotting his rangy opponent something like forty-four pounds, figures to outpoint the Gaucho by sidestepping Campolo's wicked rights and piling up points with his unexcelled left hand. Loughran is the favorite at odds of 8 to 5.

Laughran Looks Good

Tommy displayed such class in recent bouts with other bigger men, notably Max Bear and Ernie Schaaf, that he should have no difficulty in evading the wild swings of the rusty South American, who has been idle for eleven months. Campolo has been timing his blows poorly in training camp and will have to improve his marksmanship if he is going to nail the nimble Philadelphian.

JUNIOR HIGH MEET IS OFF

Coach Emmet Gillaspie of the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school announced this morning that the dual meet between the Ben Franklin and George Washington Junior high school track team scheduled for this afternoon has been called off. The meet will be held next Friday afternoon.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor

The Kentucky Derby—a sport classic 56 years old.

That's a long time, 56 years. A long time measured in the life of a man. What were you doing 56 years ago? All right, all right, don't get sore. What was your great uncle doing?

Fifty-six years old, the Derby and it hasn't changed save for two instances. The race is shorter nowadays by a quarter of a mile. And the purses larger. Oh, much larger. You couldn't get one of the 1931 Derby runners to raise his nose out of the oatbag for the purse old Aristides almost broke his neck trying to win back in 1875.

Otherwise, the Derby is the same. The same track, the same speed (usually) and the same thrill (always).

What other great sport classic has remained so unchanged in 56 years? Name one. Of course, you cannot.

* * *

Tom Allen—ever hear of him?—was heavyweight boxing champion or at least he claimed to be. Not one out of 100 Americans of the period knew who Tom Allen was or cared.

Wrestling had just been introduced in these United States and foreign gentlemen of amazing girth twisted and yanked each other's frames before small, puzzled groups. There were no champions as we know them today.

Golf? A few aging business men and some enthusiastic Scotch experts played the game in the British Isles. America knew nothing about it. In Scotland each year, the Scotch experts got together and played a tournament. It was the British open—the only golf meet in existence in those days.

* * *

Football, as we know it, had not yet come into existence 56 years ago. The first Derby was run two years before rush lines, with 15 men to a side, were developed. The first scrimmage did not take place until 1880.

Baseball was in a wild almost Neanderthal state back in 1875. It was that year in which the catcher's glove and mask were invented and first used. The National league, the first real major baseball organization, was not to come into existence until a year later.

In 1875 there were only two tennis courts in all of North America. Both were on Staten Island and were placed there by the Outerbridge family who had become interested in the game across the sea.

There was no bicycle or auto races because there were no bicycles or autos in 1875.

What a dreary world 1875 must have been for those sportively inclined. There was really nothing to do but see the Derby.

Merchants Nose Out Marshalls

The East New Castle Merchants nosed out the Marshalls 7 to 6, in a seven inning game at the East New New Castle Field on Thursday night. It was a pitcher's battle between Gunnett and Henry with the latter more effective in the pinches. Henry fanned nine men. Gunnett allowed but five hits, but was unsteady in the tight places. Samuels, Koski, Costella had extra-base hits.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Boyles A. C. team scored six runs in the sixth inning to defeat the New Castle All Stars on the Washington field on Thursday evening. The score was 14-12.

The score by innings:

Boyles	220 226 0—14
All Stars	200 151 3—12

Argentine "Menace"

Out of the "Argentine" from whence sprang such heavyweight challengers as Luis Firpo and Vittorio Campolo comes a new "menace." He's Jose Jurado, South American links star, who is rapidly rising to prominence in the golfing world.

Cleveland Team Slowly Sinking

Cleveland Indians Have Dropped Six Straight Games — Peckinpaugh Worried

VOSMIK BENCHED FOR FIRST TIME

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 15.—Most folks never will get excited over a loser, but we are all broken out in a rash today about the near tragedy that has snared one of the outstanding figures in baseball.

Some of baseball's biggest dramas are written on the seamy side of the street and far away from the land of milk and honey, where the naughty Athletics and Yankees are swinging their canes, we turn this morning to raise goose flesh up and down our spine by taking a peek at Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians.

Here is a man in the midst of a desperate struggle. Almost in a panic he is battling to keep the Indians up there in the American race. He has made radical and frequent changes in an effort to stem the downward slide of his team but disaster has met his every move.

Vosmik Benched

Yesterday he benched his sensational rookie, Vosmik, who stood the league on end early in the season with an overgrown batting average, but along came Sad Sam Jones of the Senators and made things even more Russian for the Inidans by making them bite the dust again, 5 to 4. The defeat sat Cleveland firmly in the second division with the cellar door yawning below.

And another desperate move proved Peckinpaugh's undoing. The score was 5 to 3 in Washington's favor as Cleveland batted in the ninth inning. With two men out, Sewell doubled and pinch hitter Myatt scored him with a single. Then Peck called on Vosmik to pinch hit. But the thing went awry. Vosmik forced Myatt for the final out.

Except in the sixth inning Rube Walberg had the White Sox powerless and scored his fifth victory as the Athletics won, 5 to 2. Al Simmons poked his sixth homer.

Ruffing In Shape

Charlie Ruffing hurled seven hitless frames for the Yankees and Gehrig smacked two homers to win for New York over St. Louis, 14 to2. Lin Storti, a rookie, singled in the eighth to spoil Ruffing's chances for a no hit victory.

A sixth inning rally won for the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3, from the Tigers. The Ruddy Hose scored four runs in that section, driving Waite Hoyt to the showers with five safeties. Rothrock, Boston second baseman, bagged three hits.

Bad weather again postponed all games in the National League. So many double-headers have been scheduled in the senior circuit that some of yesterday's postponed games will not be played until the middle of August.

FIGHT RESULTS

(International News Service)

AT NEW YORK—Mickey Gordon, New York heavyweight, knocked out Tom Goodwin, New York (1).

GAME SCHEDULED

The Studebakers will play the North Highland team of the County League at the North Highland field on Monday night May 18. The game starts at 6:30 o'clock. Louis Mastrangelo is manager of the Studebaker team.

Shenango Trims N. C. Grays, 9-8

In a fast contest enacted at Centennial field on Thursday evening the Shenango Pottery team of the Lawrence county league nosed out the New Castle Grays. The score was 9-8.

Maslyk and Russo featured for the Shenango team while S. Gray and Richardson were the best for the Grays. The Grays made a strong rally in the fifth inning, scoring five runs.

Mac Smith Pivot Reveals Perfect Style And Form

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

NUMBER 17

If he had the mental game, that is the lack of temperament and more of the machine, he would have won, at one time or other, all the important titles in golf.

Probably the absence of Jones, in the coming National Open, will serve to encourage MacDonald Smith. He has Sarazen to contend with but has beaten the great little Italian many times. Once the pair went 72 extra holes before Smith finally took the match.

Smith is considered a tough luck golfer but nevertheless he has only one style and one swing and the perfection of these is most dependable where the long route and accuracy is used to deal with national and international titles.

You will notice in the illustration the two important points in Macdonald Smith's pivot.

The weight is on the right foot and leg, the main spring to the back swing. The action of the left arm and the left leg are in position to hit against the left side and send the ball far down the fairway.

Westminster Track Team Expects Stiff Competition From Bethany Saturday

MEET SCHEDULED AT NEW WILMINGTON

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15 Although only light workouts in the gymnasium have been possible this week due to the heavy rains, the Westminster College track team is in good shape for the Bethany meet at home Saturday afternoon.

A number of the runners were sent to New Castle on Wednesday and Thursday where they had workouts at Taggert Field through the kind permission of Bill Klee, New Castle high coach. The weight men have had but one workout since last Saturday when Allegheny was defeated 94-41.

Bisons Are Good.

Bethany has in Bruhn, Suedgar, Yocum and Silvis four of the best track performers in the district. The Bisons defeated Wash-Jeff in a dual meet on Monday of this week, and catching Westminster without much practice may force the Titans.

Silvis, Bison sprinter, will give Peresenyi, Hemer and McCall plenty of competition. Bruhn, all-around performer, will be in the high jump, shot put, and javelin. Suedgar, a distance man, will force Smalley, Burry, Burton and Coles in the mile and two mile events. Yocum, entered in the hammer, discus, shot and javelin, will also bear watching.

Rain swamped the Titan track on Wednesday, but good weather yesterday allowed the student managers to drain the water off. With warm weather today and tomorrow, the track should be in good shape for the meet.

Harrison As Starter.

Coach "Pops" Harrison will act as official starter for the meet. Other officials will include Dr. Charles Smyser, C. B. White, Col. Dan McQuiston, Graduate Manager Andy McDonald, and student managers Kenneth Miller, Henry Wettich, Harry Madducks, Thomas Grenfell, and Stanley Freeland.

Westminster entries includes: 100-yard, Captain Peresenyi, Hemer, McCall; 220-yard, Captain Peresenyi, Hemer, McCall; 440-yard, Harper, Pattison; half mile, Burry, Myers, Williams; mile, Coles, Smalley; two mile, Burton, Smalley; low hurdles, Brownlee, Peresenyi; high hurdles, Brownlee, Siljander; pole vault, Patterson, Banks, Yourd; high jump, Clark, Yourd.

Ships Toll Bells At Mount Vernon

Practice Has Been Carried Out For Over Hundred Years

The precedent of ships tolling their bells when they pass the historic shrine of Mount Vernon goes back to the year 1814, according to a statement issued by the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

In August of 1814, during our second war with England, seven British ships steamed up the Potomac river. What was their objective? Was Mount Vernon to be destroyed in retaliation for the English defeat by General Washington?

Judge Bushrod Washington, the nephew to whom George Washington bequeathed his home at Mount Vernon, was entertaining a group of Jurists and their wives at the time. Would they be injured? Would they be taken prisoners?

Watchers Anxious

The ships kept up their steady approach. They were nearing Mount Vernon. They were now opposite Mount Vernon. The occupants of the house were resigned to their fate.

A roar of guns was heard. But the guns were not pointed at the house. The boats kept sailing up the river. The English ships, General Gordon of the Royal Fleet commanding, had fired a salute in respect to our Commander-in-Chief, the first President of the United States.

That incident set the precedent of saluting the home of George Washington whenever a service ship passes Mount Vernon. A bell is tolled and the colors are lowered to half mast. The bugle sounds "taps"; and, while the guard presents arms, the officers and men on board deck stand at attention and salute as the ship passes the hallowed spot. This spot is America's spiritual symbol of Liberty!

Dog Buried In Master's Coffin

Aster and the dog were shot by a poacher in the mountains overlooking Bas Ishl, and the murder aroused the neighborhood. Among the many who took part in the funeral were the mayor of Bas Ischl, the judge, the sheriff, choral societies, the fire brigade and the police.

PRACTICE TONIGHT

Claims His 1868 Gasoline Auto Is Oldest In U. S.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 15.—What is undoubtedly the oldest gasoline motor vehicle in Pennsylvania, and possibly in the United States, has been located through certification of title to the car for Daniel S. Shade, of Fleetwood.

In an affidavit presented for the certification is the information on which Shade makes his claim for unqualified antiquity. This affidavit was made by James F. Hill, of Fleetwood, who claimed to have built the car in 1868.

"I built it for my own amusement," stated Hill, "as I always wanted to do something mechanical. I first used a two-cylinder steam engine built by myself and fired by a boiler heated by two gasoline burners. I had trouble carrying sufficient steam, however, so after a few weeks experimenting I discarded the boiler and engine, replacing them with a single cylinder gasoline engine designed and made by myself.

"It did run the car but had not sufficient power to pull it up hill and when I tried it out on the road or the street I was chased away as a nuisance. Becoming tired of it, I put the car away until 1908, when I designed and built the two-cylinder engine it now has."

The car is of roadster type, powered by a two-cylinder engine of about 7.2 horsepower. It has iron tires. Head and tail lamps are fitted with candles. Because equipment fails to meet requirements of the Pennsylvania motor code, the bureau of motor vehicles declined to issue license tags for the ancient hack.

Experts in the bureau say that the gasoline engine's development has been traced to an exhibit made in Paris in 1878 by two Belgian inventors and if Shade's car was built in 1868 it has a good claim to being the original gasoline motor vehicle.

A Finnish scientist asserts that he has increased garden vegetable, fruit and grain crops 51 per cent by electrifying the soil in which they were grown.

The first cuckoo clock, known as the Black Forest cuckoo clock, was made by Franz Anton Ketterer in Schonwald, Germany, in 1730.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Trend Of Prices In Market Is Downward

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—Steady sagging of United States Steel, American Can, New York Central and other speculative leaders this morning showed that little or no change had come into the market since yesterday's closing reaction. Though the Rails as a group made smaller dips into lower price ground in the first period, the trend of prices was definitely downward, with the usual number of new low price records for the year.

Though Standard Oil of New Jersey's earnings statement for 1930, showing $1.65 a share for the year, was disappointing, it was believed that the directors of the big corporation were unusually severe in marking down inventories and in charge-offs for depreciation, etc. Totals charge-offs and adjustments were about $84,000,000 or twice the amount of net income reported. Having dropped off 1½ points yesterday, the stock was firm around 35 (ex-dividend 50 cents a share) today.

United States Steel made a fractional advance at the start, but was soon forced off by a flood of selling. The stock touched a new low at 103¾, down about 3 points. American Can sold at 104½ and for a time Steel and Can appeared on the tape at the identical price of 105. American Tel and Tel was also under pressure and fell off 2 points to 177½. New York Central's new low was 88¼, down 1½. Missouri Pacific common and preferred displayed the same weakness as in the last two sessions and new losses of a point or so were recorded for Union Pacific, Cheasapeak and Ohio, Erie, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Wabash.

After opening at 42⅛, General Motors fell off under heavy pressure to 40. Copper and Electrical stocks were firm. Call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

Holds Record For Real 'Hard Luck'

MAHONEY CITY, Pa., May 15.—Joseph Janowski's "hard luck" continued today, this time thwarting his attempt to die.

Jankowski is in the Locust Mt. State hospital, suffering from bullet wounds, self-inflicted according to police, and from severe injuries received in a 75-foot fall to the bottom of a mine cavein.

A week ago Jankowski married. Prior to the ceremony he withdrew $2,000 savings from the bank to present to his bride. He changed clothes for the wedding and mislaid the money.

Constant search failed to locate it. Jankowski brooded over the loss and decided to kill himself, police said.

He selected a site on the outskirts of town in a section dotted with caveins.

He fired two bullets into his head and fell. His fall carried him over the bank of a cavein and continued to the bottom of the breach 75 feet below. Ropes were used to bring him back to the surface. At the hospital it was found that he had suffered a fractured skull and a fractured leg in the fall and had at least one bullet in his brain.

To Encourage the Raising of Large Families, President Von Hindenburg Becomes Godfather to Thousands of Children, Gifts for Whom Have Cost Him $70,000.

PRESIDENT HINDENBURG WITH HIS GRANDCHILDREN.

Recalled from retirement and elected to the Presidency of the German Republic, Paul von Hindenburg, wartime Commander-in-Chief of the German Imperial Armies, tackled the problem of his country's depleted manpower in a novel manner. Announcing that he would be godfather to the seventh child born in every German family that could show its fitness to rear it properly, the President has now over 14,000 godchildren. No Government funds being available for the purpose von Hindenburg has paid $70,000 from his own pocket for gifts to the infant citizens of Der Vaterland. America n Woman Describes 11 Years In Jungle Of India

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col. May 15—The greatest need of India is physical improvement, according to Miss May Stevenson, who recently returned to Denver after spending eleven years in that country as a Baptist missionary in an isolated jungle region 50 miles from the nearest railroad.

"Next comes mental enterprise," Miss Stevenson said. "Only one and one-half per cent of Indians can read and write."

Miss Stevenson considers the nationalist movement headed by Gandhi as amazingly strong, but doubts the ability of India to rule herself.

Eight of her eleven years in India were spent among a tribe only sixty years removed from head hunting. She was one of two white women among 35,000 natives.

Leaving Denver in 1918 Miss Stevenson went to the small station of Nimpur, among the Naga tribe. These people she found to be very primitive and timid. Few of them had ever seen a white woman before she arrived.

The Nagas had been under the influence of Christianity fifty-five years and had forsaken bloodthirsty methods, but still retained savage dress and customs.

Working with her colleagues, a man and his wife, also Americans, Miss Stevenson established schools and taught hundreds of natives English and the rudiments of a general grade-school education. The subjects taught, closely paralleled the grade school subjects taught in this country, with an added emphasis on Christianization.

The harmless manners and customs of the people were not interfered with, except to improve their dress and personal cleanliness. The three missionaries traveled about through the fifty-five villages in their district, holding evangelistic services and encouraging Bible study. An average of 850 natives were converted each year.

The jungle which surrounded the isolated mission station proved a never-ending source of interest for the white missionaries. Virulent snakes, tigers, wild elephants, boars and other game haunted its depths.

"The men would erect high fences of logs or trees in the form of a triangle," she said. "The tiger would then be 'beaten out' by noises and shouting and driven down into the enclosure. Penned there, the raging animal would be studded with spears thrown by the men and finally collapse."

WAGNER'S RETURN FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wagner and Philip Wagner of Rhodes Place arrived home last evening from an extended vacation motor trip to various points in the south. They had a most enjoyable time and returned much benefited. They spent some time traveling through Florida, then went to Water Valley, Mississippi, where they spent some time with relatives. Then they visited relatives in Memphis, Tenn. From that point they journeyed toward home, taking in the sights as they came, among other places being visited was Mammoth Cave in Kentucky.

TIME IS MONEY

(International News Service)

PARIS—Time really IS money, meaning the newest fashion in timekeepers in Paris. Of course, they are for the ladies and worth their weight in—platinum. The tiniest of watches is set in a platinum bracelet which goes with a set of platinum rings. It is not more than one-third of an inch long and even less in width. In fact, it is so small that the watchmakers cannot guarantee good time by it, but this doesn't bother the women. They now have a perfect excuse for being late for their appointments.

Americanism:—Condemning the thief prompted by need: forgiving the upper-class thief because it seems a shame to jail such a nice fellow.

WAGNER EXHIBIT

(International News Service)

LEIPZIG—The Municipal Historical museum in the old Rathaus has opened a Siegfried Wagner memorial exhibition, which gives a comprehensive insight into the life and work of Richard Wagner's son. In addition to loan exhibits from the "Wahnfried" villa in Bayreuth, it contains interesting articles from the collections of Breitkpf & Hartel and of a number of private collectors. The exhibition will remain open some months.

ADVISES MORE WORK

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—How to keep their students on the campus now that they have seen New York is a question that has been bothering Yale officials. Yale Daily News asked Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton, what he thought of the question. Dr. Hibben replied that more work might do the trick. He suggested giving the students so much academic toiling that they wouldn't have time to dash away for week-ends.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

It is true that public policy requires that contracts which relieve railroads from their absolute duties shall be held void. But here the matter is entirely different. The right of way of a railroad is its private property. It may permit it to be occupied by others if it wishes, but in that case it may make any kind of contract about it that it chooses. As that contract in no wise relieves the railroad from the discharge of its duty to the public it cannot be held as against public policy and therefore void.

Rescue Cheats Death in Mid-Ocean

A startling view of the burning Swedish tanker "Castor" made from the decks of the S. S. Exporter, as it rushed to the aid of the stricken vessel with three other ships, is shown above. The tanker caught fire in midocean, but due to the courageous efforts of its radio operator, all of the crew of 40 men were saved by rescue ships. Insert shows a close-up of the burning vessel.
